PEACE SPLIT PATCHED UP

SOVIETS RULE BAVARIA; HUNGARY TO SMUTS: NO!

Commune Takes All Property in Munich and Will Govern Industry; Budapest Turns Down Allied Program.

BULLETIN.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1919.]

COPENHAGEN, April 7.—The dreaded general congress of workers and soldiers' councils meets tomorrow, and some idea of the temper in which it will meet can be gathered from the meeting of the councils of great Berlin yesterday.

At this meeting a resolution proposed by the communist minority was adopted which expressed contempt for all those who enlisted voluntarily in the army and called upon all workers to refuse in the future to work side by side with those who took part in "this hangman's work."

While the peace commission is continuing its long labors in Paris and endeavoring to adjust the terms which are to be imposed on the conquered nations the cables are loaded with news of the spread of communism, or bolshevism, or soviet rule, in central Europe.

Soviet Hungary has rejected the program proposed by Gen. Smuts, representative of the allied peace commission. Counter proposals have been offered, in which the Hungarians demand the immediate shipment of food and supplies to Hungary.

Bavaria has turned to a communist government, the move being supported by several members of the old government. All property is declared to belong to the state, and a commission of works will control all manufacture and labor.

German Austria, according to reports reaching the state department at Washington, is threatened with a communistic revolution.

Fears are expressed that, unless peace is signed quickly, the communistic idea will take a hold both in Italy and France.

IN BAVARIA

MUNICH, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—On behalf of the revolutionary central council of Bavaria, Herr Mekisch today addressed the following telegram to all the workmen's councils:

"The workers of Bavaria have overcome their party divisions and united in a mighty bloc against all domination and exploitation. They have taken over in workers', soldiers' and peasants' councils entire public authority.

"The landtag has been dissolved and people's commissions have been appointed. Complete order prevails in public affairs and business and the administration is continuing.

All Belongs to Community.

"Works will be controlled by works councils, which will control workers and direct affairs, jointly with the managers. Everything belongs to the community. Independent socialization is, therefore, out of the question.

"It is the duty of the workers', peasants', and soldiers' councils everywhere to attend to the protection of the soviet republic and its peaceful development. They will take over local authority and control of the administration and are responsible to the working people for all actions and missions.

"Today is a national holiday. Work will be suspended, but the railways and food, water, lighting, and heating services will continue."

Some Indorse, Some Oppose.

A soviet republic was proclaimed in Wurzburg today. The banks, telephone, telegraph, and newspaper offices were occupied by communist troops. A general strike began at 10 o'clock in the morning. The factories and shops, excepting the food shops, were closed.

The soldiers' and workmen's council at Ratisbon today declared itself for a soviet republic. There was only one dissenting vote.

The Bavarian national council of Social Democrats, meeting at Nuremburg, has voted, 42 to 8, against the introduction of a soviet republic.

New Government Leaders.

BERLIN, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Munich Abend Zeitung gives the following provisional list of the people's mandatories in the new soviet government:

Foreign affairs, Dr. Wilhelm Muehlen; minister of the interior, Martin Segitz; minister of justice, Dr. Boebeim, who is a communist; minister of finance, Dr. Jaffe, independent Socialist; minister of commerce, Herr Simon, independent; minister of socialization, Dr. Neurath; minister of worship, Herr Niekisch; minister of agriculture, Herr Steiner; minister of traffic, Herr Freudorfer; minister of military affairs.

Peasants Fight Program.

The Bavarian soviet program met with strong opposition in two quarters—on the part of the bourgeoisie on the one hand and the peasants on the other. The peasants hold the trump card in their control of the supply of foodstuffs, which they have declared they would refuse to deliver in case a soviet government were proclaimed.

The Bavarian minister of the inte-

IN HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, April 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—The Hungarian communist government has refused the terms offered by Gen. Jan Christian Smuts, commissioner for the allied peace council.

After Gen. Smuts had delivered his program the government replied, thanking him for his civility, but declaring that the conditions presented were unacceptable, "except as an order to those who might be inclined to assume the government of the country on such terms.."

Counter Proposals Made.

"Relying on the good will displayed in such an unaccustomed manner by you," the government's reply added, "we beg you to interpret the following proposals to the entente powers:

"First—The soviet government also is disposed to create a neutral zone, but solely on the condition that the frontier thereof is shifted eastward to the Maros line, and that the soviet republic shall administer, without interference, in the territory occupied by the allied troops, thus allowing the soviet republic to be reëstablished in Szegedin and Arad. There shall be free intercourse from the neutral zone both in the direction of Hungary and Roumania and free transit in Transylvania, occupied by Roumania.

Want Blockade Raised.

"Second—We request the complete raising of the blockade and the supplying of the republic with coal and fats.

"Third—We request that the proposed conference should include representatives of the Hungarian soviet republic, Bohemia, Roumania, Serbia, Jugo-Slavia, and German-Austria, and that it meet at the earliest moment possible at Prague or Vienna, so as to proceed simultaneously with the peace conference.

"Fourth—We request the entente powers immediately to cease the barbarous persecutions to which every labor movement in the occupied regions is subjected."

Program of Gen. Smuts.

The program which was offered by Gen. Smuts carried these demands:

The Hungarian government to withdraw all troops west of a line which Gen. Smuts outlined; that Roumanian troops be ordered not to advance beyond their present positions, and that the territory between the line drawn by Gen. Smuts and the Roumanian army be neutral and be occupied by British, French, Italian, and, if possible, American troops.

That the Hungarian government accept the terms of the military convention concluded last Nov. 13 by the Hungarian government with the allied powers; that the aforementioned line of demarcation has no influence on the territorial arrangements in the final peace conditions, and that Gen. Smuts will propose to the peace conference to raise the blockade of Hungary immediately and allow facilities for the

MICHIGAN DRYS CLAIM VICTORY BY 150,000 VOTES

BULLETIN.

Detroit, April 8, 2 a. m.—Returns from the biennial election in Michigan indicate that the entire Republican ticket has been successful, an amendment to the constitution permitting the sale and manufacture of beer and wine has been rejected, and a bond issue of $50,000,000 for construction of a hard road system has carried.

Figures from 461 precincts out of 2,300 on the beer and wine amendment were 68,336 for and 126,054 against.

In Detroit chief interest centered on a proposal to purchase the street railway system. Available returns show the vote to be close, 65 precincts giving 6,793 for and 7,586 against.

Detroit, Mich., April 7.—[Special.]—Grant M. Hudson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, in a statement issued tonight, claimed the drys would win the fight against the constitutional amendment permitting the sale and use of light wine and beer by a majority of approximately 150,000 votes.

"Scattering reports received at this time from different parts of the state indicate clearly that the dry majority will be double that of 1916, when we carried the state by 69,000," Mr. Hudson said.

Wets Lose Ground.

"Some of the places we have heard from include the city of Grand Traverse, dry majority 1,400; Mecosta county, dry by 2,000; Marquette, 700; Ishpeming, 403, and Wexford county, 2,300. Reports from other parts of the state show the same gains."

Indications are that Detroit voted wet by 3 to 1. Nine scattering precincts gave the wets 2,350, drys 825. The vote in the rural districts was heavy for prohibition, eighty-five precincts registering 8,900 for the amendment and 20,115 against it.

Five precincts of twenty in Ingham county, outside the city of Lansing, gave 344 for the amendment and 1,566 against it.

The largest vote ever cast in Michigan was polled today, and in many sections the women outvoted the men. This was the first time women have been privileged to vote, and they made the most of it.

St. Joseph Votes Dry.

St. Joseph, Mich., April 7.—[Special.]——With fifteen out of thirty-three precincts reporting strong leads against the beer and light wine amendment, Berrien county dry leaders at 10 o'clock tonight claimed the county will score a 2,000 dry lead. Benton Harbor went dry by a majority of 706 and St. Joseph gave a 300 dry lead. In the last liquor election St. Joseph went wet and Benton Harbor just went over for the drys.

Wet Issue Up in Ontario.

Toronto, April 7.—The province of Ontario will hold a plebiscite on the repeal of the Ontario temperance act and upon measures permitting the sale of liquors, it was announced in the legislature today by Premier Hearst. The date will be announced later. Questions to be voted on are:

1. Repeal of the Ontario temperance act.
2. Sale of light beer in sealed packages under government control.
3. Sale of light beer over the bar.
4. Restrictive sale of spirituous liquors generally under government control.

CHILD'S SKULL FRACTURED; SEEK GIRL PLAYMATE

Ethel Andus, 9 years old, of 811 Belden avenue, is in the Children's Memorial hospital this morning near death with her skull fractured in three places and the police are seeking a little playmate named Goldie Bein in the hope of clearing the mystery of the child's injuries.

The little girl, who is the ward of Henry Breidt at the Belden avenue address, was left alone last night. Mr. Breidt and his wife returned from the theater about 12 o'clock and found the child was not in the house. As they were searching the premises they heard a scream in the street. Running out, they discovered the girl being led to the house by the little Bein girl.

Ethel was able to explain only that she had fallen down. The other child said "something had hit her," and in the excitement which followed she disappeared without further explanation. There was no explanation of what the children were doing in the street at that time of night. At the hospital, where she was immediately taken, it was said that she had slight chance of recovery.

A

Policeman Who Retired with $100,000 May Be Victim.

The body of Michael Delaney, former Chicago policeman, was found in the lake last night, and his family advanced the theory that he was murdered for his money.

Delaney retired from the force in October, 1910, after twenty-one years of service, during most of which time he stood in Newsboys' alley, "the king of the newsies." He and his wife together claimed a fortune of $100,000 or more at the time. He had saved much and his wife had inherited a fortune.

Delaney left the Plymouth hotel, where he was living, on Feb. 1, ostensibly to make a deposit on the purchase of a house in Lakeside place. He had probably $200 with him, according to William Delaney, one of his three sons.

He never returned. His empty pocketbook and his bank book were found in front of the Bradley hotel at 536 Rush street on Feb. 3.

Empty Pocketbook Found.

"There is no doubt about it," said his sister, Mrs. James Tuttle. "He was murdered. And his body has been in the lake all these weeks. It is dreadful. Were there any marks on the body? Anything to show that he had been beaten or shot?"

Blow on Forehead.

There was a mark on the forehead, directly over the right eye, that might have been made by a weapon. The head was swollen so abnormally, however, that it was difficult for the police to say what caused it.

The body had been in the water "not less than thirty days," according to the undertaker, and probably twice that long. It was in such condition that the authorities were unable to make a minute examination last night.

The mark, beginning right over the eyebrow, slants upward about three or four inches.

Will Make Microscopic Test.

W. A. Duffy, head embalmer at the Western Casket company's rooms, will make a microscopic examination of the wound today, following a cursory examination early this morning which led to the belief that Delaney had been killed and then thrown into the river.

The Chicago avenue police remember the finding of the empty pocketbook and the bankbook. They notified Mrs. Delaney that it was at the station, and she called for it. But, it is declared, because of some controversy she did not take it with her, and it was sent to the city custodian's office. The police had heard rumors, they declared, that there had been discord in the Delaney family, and that Mr. Delaney had absented himself from home on several occasions.

Found by Coast Guard.

The body was taken to the Western Casket company by the police after the men of the coast guard station at the mouth of the river had rescued it.

There was no money in the pockets; nothing but a rosary and a lead pencil.

The identification was made through a retired policeman's star, with the number 183, which was pinned to the vest.

Three Sons in Service.

"My father was 62 years old," said William Delaney. "He was of sound body and sound mind when my mother last saw him. I was away at the time in the naval aviation service. My brothers, Ed and Joe, were also in the service.

"The folks had been living in Winthrop avenue, but when my older brother and I left the house got too big. My younger brother wanted to go into the service, too, but mother and father pleaded with him to stay. He went later. They couldn't keep him.

"They sold the house, and went to live at the Plymouth hotel. They had talked of going to Florida recently, but father didn't want to go.

"'My boys will all be home soon,' he said, 'and we must have a home for them again.'

"That's why he and mother were planning to buy a house in Lakeside place."

Sons Suspect Murder.

"Do you think your father was murdered?" Delaney was asked.

"I can't put faith in any other theory," said the boy. "He was not the kind of man who would take his own life. No, indeed. It might have been an accident, but that would hardly explain

WILSON STAYS IN HIS BED, BUT GAINS STRENGTH

PARIS, April 7.—President Wilson remained in bed most of the day. Steady improvement in his condition, however, is announced by the attending physicians.

Rear Admiral Grayson explained that while the president's condition was improving, he considered it an advisable precaution to hold him to his room and even to his bed for another day.

Apparently the president's cold is in the last stages of the wearing off process. He hopes to be able to resume work on Tuesday.

U. S. AMBASSADOR PAGE RESIGNS POST IN ITALY

BY CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, April 7.—Thomas Nelson Page has sent his resignation as American ambassador to Italy to President Wilson, but as yet no action has been taken in the matter. He assumed the post at Rome in 1913. Now that the war is over he is eager to settle down on his Virginia farm and write several books, which was impossible at the embassy in wartime.

Yankees Coming Home in 120 Steamers Now

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Approximately 120 ships now are engaged in returning American troops from overseas and additional vessels are being fitted out for this service with a view to increasing the homeward movement to 300,000 or more men a month. It was said today that at this rate the last of the expeditionary forces might be out of Europe by late summer.

Albert Back in Brussels After Voyage by Airplane

Prince of Wales Makes a Flight Above London

LONDON, April 7.—The Prince of Wales made a flight in an airplane over London today. The trip lasted an hour.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

PARIS, April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Haller's Polish troops, numbering about 50,000, will begin to move by train from Paris to Poland April 15 at the rate of two trains a day. It probably will require thirty days to complete the transportation.

PARIS, April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Dutch government apparently is ignoring the invitation of the peace conference to send a delegate to Paris to discuss with the conference Belgium's demand for a revision of the treaty of 1839, fixing the boundaries between Holland and Belgium. Holland, asked two weeks ago to send a representative to Paris, has not replied.

BUDAPEST, Tuesday, April 8, 3 a. m.—(By the Associated Press.)—It is possible that Henry Ford of Detroit will be invited to come here and help organize factories along the lines he has followed in his automobile plants in America.

AMSTERDAM, Tuesday, April 8, 3 a. m.—Former German Crown Prince Frederick William is suffering from a broken hand and wrist as a result of a motorcycle accident. He was riding in company with an official of the Dutch ministry of communications and turned a corner too sharply.

BELGRADE, Wednesday, April 2.—(Delayed.)—At the opening of the national assembly today, Stoyan Protitch made a protest against the treatment of Serbia by France, Great Britain, and Italy in failing to recognize the Serbian, Croation, and Slovenian states while, he said, Poland and the Czecho-Slovaks, whose sacrifices could not be remotely compared with those of Serbia, already have been recognized. The premier said he attributed this, and a similar omission on the part of Roumania, to the existence of secret treaties.

"We demand the independent and impartial arbitration of the United States," the premier concluded. This statement was greeted with prolonged cheering.

PARIS, April 7.—The council today heard the report of the reparations committee and accepted a plan to prorate the damages Germany will be required to pay. The total will be about $45,000,000,000, to be fixed after peace is signed by a commission. The initial payment required will be about $5,000,000,000 in cash or securities.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, April 7.—[Midnight.]—It is understood late tonight that the strained situation among the allies regarding the peace terms is much ameliorated.

America, Great Britain, and France are said to be practically agreed on the two principal questions—reparation and the western frontiers of Germany.

The Italians have made no further threat about withdrawing from the conference, which is accepted to mean that Fiume has been promised to Italy and that their aspirations to the Adriatic coast will be granted.

Was Ultimatum Intended?

Earlier in the day there were reports that President Wilson's cable on Sunday to Washington, ordering the United States transport George Washington to proceed to Brest immediately at full speed, meant that the president had fully decided the time has come for action in agreeing upon the peace treaty, and that he would insist that the pact be agreed upon at once.

France May Appeal to World.

It is understood that if the United States should withdraw from the peace conference France would make an appeal to the world setting forth the French position—forty million French against eighty million Germans, and no guarantees or provisions for preventing the Hun hordes again assailing them.

It is believed in certain quarters in Paris that the French could make an appeal for sympathy from the rest of the world fully as strong as that during the war, which rallied nearly every nation roundabout France and Belgium.

However, the fact that the president has indicated that there must be action this week will have the desired effect, it is believed, especially when it is recalled that the George Washington will soon be plowing across the Atlantic at forced draught to be ready to take the American commisison home unless something is done.

Control of Saar Basin.

The Saar basin has been practically disposed of, according to the latest information, the only point remaining undetermined being how France can work the mines if the miners strike. If the coal mines are awarded to France and Germany retains the Saar basin France would have her own way in settling strikes and so might obtain production.

Various solutions have been offered, but none seems practicable so far. If the problem remains unsolved forty-eight hours longer it is probable it will be reserved for a special commission to examine after peace has been signed. In that case the treaty will merely state that France is to receive the coal output from the Saar mines for a certain period of years, or, at any rate, until the Lens coal fields are again producing, which may be ten years hence.

Status of Covenant.

The league of nations new covenant has been handed back by the legal commission which studied it for judicial faults. The league of nations commission probably will meet Wednesday night, when French, Japanese, and American amendments will be offered—for an international war college and staff and for a league of nations from France, for equality of all races from the Japanese, and for the protection of the Monroe doctrine from America.

Cause of the Delay.

There have been no deliberate obstructionist tactics, it is said, by any power, as all the nations desire an early peace equally. The delay has been due to the failure in certain quarters to realize that the world is crumbling while speeches are being made and theories expounded, and by the insistence of some delegations in bringing up minor points instead of leaving the peacemakers to settle the major difficulties and draw up a treaty along broad general lines.

It is practically certain there will be a plenary session Friday for receiving reports already completed. Optimists hint that the peace treaty may be ready then.

FORCE AN AGREEMENT.

PARIS, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Wilson's orders that the United States transport George Washington proceed immediately to a French port have aroused much comment here and are even construed by some officials as preliminary to a determined move to force an agreement at an early date by the peace conference.

As is usual, various rumors were soon in circulation, and before night one report was current that the president had delivered an ultimatum to the effect that he would withdraw from the conference unless an agreement was reached within forty-eight hours.

Makes Position Plain.

It is confidently asserted by those close to the president that he did not contemplate any such action, but the same authorities have no hesitation in declaring that the president has made his position plain on the questions at issue and it is believed his determination to adhere to this stand is fixed.

The summoning of the George Washington will place the president in such a position, it is pointed out, that he cannot be embarrassed by having to wait for the transport should the time come when he might wish, owing to failure of the peace delegates to agree or unwarranted delay in finding a settlement of the peace questions, to withdraw.

Act if Deadlock Comes.

The belief is common that President Wilson will not hestitate to take definite action if a deadlock should be actually reached.

If, howver, the council of four succeeds in reaching an adjustment, and the presence of President Wilson for a longer time is deemed advisable, the George Washington would be available for the transport of troops to the homeland and would then be ready to return at a later date for the presidential party.

The council of four was to have met at 11 o'clock this morning at the "White House," where the president is still confined to bed but able to consult with his colleagues in emergencies.

Lloyd George Ill.

It developed, however, that Premier Lloyd George has been affected in a similar manner as the president, which has confined him also to his bed. A morning session of the council was therefore impossible.

It was then determined to have the council meet at Mr. Lloyd George's residence, so as to be near him, and here the session began at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, with Premier Clemenceau, Premier Orlando, Col. House, and all the financial experts present. Reparations was again the chief issue.

MONROE CREED UP

PARIS, April 7.—[Havas.]—The commission on the league of nations will hold a plenary session tonight, and it is expected that the members will vote on the amendments on the Monroe doctrine and racial discrimination offered by the Americans and Japanese respectively.

Overcome League Difficulty.

LONDON, April 7.—[British wireless service.]—"The difficult of putting the text of the covenant of the league of nations in the peace treaty that Germany is to sign, if Germany is not a party to the covenant, which she, by her signature, accepts," the Paris correspondent of the Westminster Gazette says, "has been cleared up. By a skilful piece of draughtsmanship, the covenant, as it will appear in the treaty, is so worded that while the existence and jurisdiction of the league will be recognized by Germany that country will not be immediately received as a member.

"She will, however, express her full accord in the constitution of such a body, and will agree to abide by its decisions. Germany and the other enemy states will, in a sense, be probationary members.

"States without a stable government are equally ineligible for membershsip. It is learned that numerous neutral powers, who have been consulted, are enthusiastic supporters of the idea, and there is no possible doubt as to their inclusion at an early date."

BRITAIN OPPOSES REDS

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The Earl of Reading, British ambassador, issued from the embassy today a statement denying that Lloyd George had advised recognition of Lenine or Trotzky in Russia.

"With regard to the suggestions which have appeared in some quarters that Mr. Lloyd George had advised the recognition of Lenine or Trotzky, I am in a position to state that these suggestions are unfounded," the ambassador said. "Mr. Lloyd George has never suggested that Lenine and Trotzky should be recognized."

The issuance of the statement by Ambassador Reading is thought to evidence a desire on the part of the British government to clear up any possible misapprehension, and to suggest that the London government is opposed to recognition of the soviet republic.

Yaquis Threaten to Make Attack Against Nogales

Nogales, Ariz., April 7.—Yaqui Indians yesterday crossed the boundary from the state of Sonora, Mexico, into the United States, obtained a large amount of arms and ammunition, and then recrossed into Mexico, headed, it is believed, toward Nogales, Sonora.

This information was brought here today by Mexican officials, who asked Col. E. C. Carnahan, United States commander, for assistance to stand off the Yaquis, who, the Mexicans fear, intend to attack Nogales, Sonora.

As a measure of precaution Col. Carnahan ordered a mounted detachment of the Twenty-fifth infantry to Lochiel, Ariz., though he stated that he believed the affair had been much exaggerated.

IDENTIFIES DEAD WOMAN.

The body of a woman, who died while in a restaurant at 3846 Cottage Grove avenue, has been identified as Mary Gordon. Mrs. Ed Bachhus, 4932 Lake Park avenue, recognized the woman as the one who had been helping her at her home. She has a brother, Michael McKenna, who is a contractor in Cleveland.

DELBRUCK SAYS GERMANY LOST POWER AND HOPE

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

BERLIN, April 6.—"Germany's power is broken forever," said Prof. Hans Delbruck this afternoon. "She never will be a great nation again."

Yet Prof. Delbruck is the man who coined the phrase, "Germany demands more room in the sun," and is the spokesman of the party that finally tried by force of arms to win more room in the sun.

It was Delbruck, too, who said a year before the war, "If England insists on the perpetuation of her ambition to beat the German policy, so let it be. The Armageddon which must then some day ensue will not be of our making."

I asked Delbruck how long it would be before Germany could expect to win back the place held before the war. The professor sat silent a long time, and tears gathered in his eyes. I wish that Poe's raven had been in the room to say "Nevermore," so that the professor would not have to say it, because I could see that was his answer, but that he hated to utter the words. Finally he said that Germany never would regain the place that she held before the war.

Germany Is Splitting Up.

I wanted to ask him about his famous phrase, "more room in the sun," but it would have been too much like rattling a skeleton.

"The German empire is dead," said the professor. "In the future the country can be, at the best, only a loose confederation of states, whose interests will continue to widen. Bavaria practically is gone, and now the other states will follow.

"Prussia and the smaller states of Germany now are as far apart as the poles on many questions. One-third of the country is aggressively Roman Catholic and two-thirds is uncompromisingly Protestant. So great was the diversity of beliefs on such a number of questions that only the mailed fist could hold the country together. The monarchy can never return, and nothing else can take its place. Prussia will soon stand alone."

No Danger of Attack.

I told Prof. Delbruck that before I came to Germany I found great uneasiness in the allied nations over the withdrawing of troops from France too fast and that I thought that America had been warned that if she took her soldiers home too soon Germany might suddenly rise up and strike again.

"Let your boys go home," said the professor. "Let the Canadians and Australians go and thank God that they have happy homes to go to. Germany will not strike again. Germany will never strike again. Our wonderful army is gone and it can never be recreated."

"Yes," said the professor after a pause, "let the boys go home, Americans and English colonials. Germany has been broken on the wheel and France ought to be able to handle us now.

"So your boys want to go home? Yes! Yes! I know. I am an old man now. I am over 70, but I was a soldier in the German army that fought its way into Paris in 1871 and, after it was all over, I remember how much I wanted to go home. Your boys have done well and now they should let them go home."

May Welcome Bolsheviki.

I asked the professor what Germany would do if it regarded the peace terms as too harsh. He said that Germany would do nothing but that the people would welcome the bolsheviki and Russia's borders would move westward towards the Rhine. He said that France had no right to take a foot of German soil.

I reminded the professor that Germany took Alsace-Lorraine away from France.

"We rely on Mr. Wilson's 'fourteen points,'" answered the professor. "A solemn promise was made to Germany that no territory would be taken without the consent of the people of that territory, and we hope that Germany has not been betrayed."

I wanted to ask what difference the loss of territory made to Germany if the nation was so rapidly disintegrating, but there are some things a gentleman won't do or ask.

"The French hate Germany," said the professor. "But it is a hatred founded on fear. Now that they need no longer fear us I hope they will stop hating us. The world need no longer dread what it called the German menace. Germany now is one of the weaker nations, and our only hope is in the league of nations that will protect the weak against the strong."

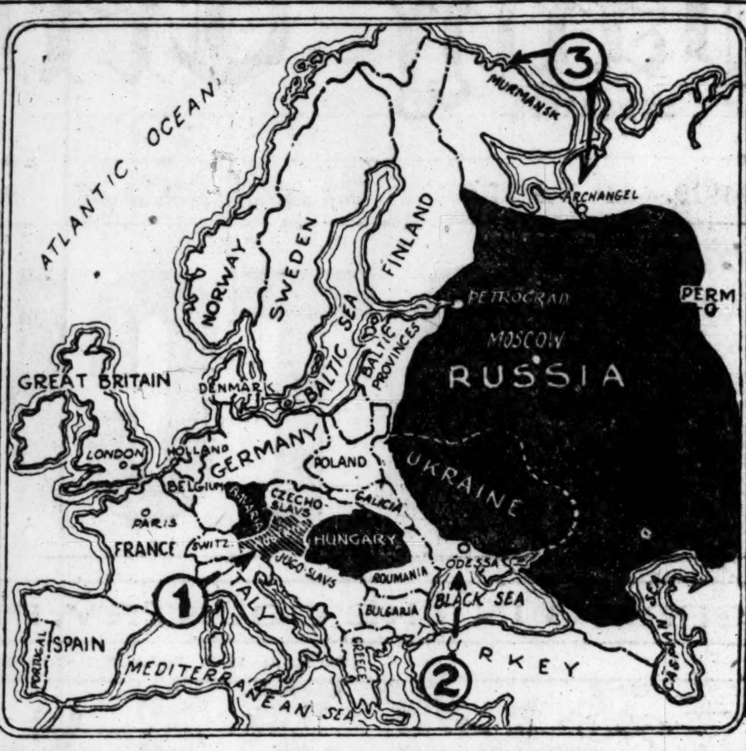
THE SPREAD OF BOLSHEVISM IN EUROPE



The solid black portions of the map indicate the approximate territory of Europe that has come under the sway of bolshevism. This includes the greater part of European Russia, the Ukraine, Hungary, and Bavaria.

1—German Austria is reported to be on the verge of a soviet upheaval, connecting Bavaria and Hungary and bringing the Red frontier into the heart of western Europe.

2—The advance of the Lenine-Trotzky forces to Odessa has put the allied forces defending the Black sea port in a tight place and the early evacuation of the city is imminent. It is expected these troops will be sent to the Dniester river front to reënforce the Roumanians in Bessarabia.

3—On the north Russian front below Archangel the American and allied forces are holding their own against the bolsheviki. In the fighting Friday the Reds lost 700 dead and wounded, in addition to 108 prisoners. The allies sustained no casualties. American and British reinforcements are being rushed to Archangel.

rior, Herr Unterleitener, strongly attacked his own cabinet in a speech, declaring that, now the soviet system was being introduced, they would have no Noskes, but would join with their brethren in Russia and Hungary and would expect their brethren in France, England, Italy, and the United States to join them.

Then, Unterleitener added, the Noskes and Scheidemanns would be thrown away like the Emperor Williams and King Ludwigs.

The dispatches announce that several prominent persons have been arrested in Augsburg and held as hostages.

Assembly Is Delayed.

The news of the situation in Bavaria is being followed with keen interest in Württemberg, and it is considered significant that the meeting of the Württemberg national assembly has been indefinitely postponed.

The students of Munich university on Saturday declared the senate deposed and its administration transferred to a council of students and professors.

The Munich Neueste Nachrichten, a copy of which has been received here, contains an appeal to the whole of Germany from the revolutionary council in favor of a soviet government and declining all collaboration with "the despicable government of Ebert, Scheidemann, Noske, and Erzberger."

Serious disorders and fighting are reported to have taken place at Muelhemouler Saturday, following a meeting which had demanded the disarming of the police and government troops. A company of soldiers killed three persons and wounded two others. Brisk fighting ensued until a second company of soldiers arrived. One hundred and fifty persons were arrested, of whom fifty-five will be court martialed.

Government at Nuremburg.

LONDON, April 7.—Premier Hoffmann of Bavaria, according to a dispatch from Berlin, has announced that the government of Bavaria has been transferred from Munich to Nuremburg, and has not retired. He adds:

"The government of the free state of Bavaria is and remains the sole repository of the highest authority of Bavaria, and alone is entitled to issue legal ordinances and give orders."

This announcement was signed by Premier Hoffmann at Nuremburg under date of April 7.

Action Late at Night.

The formation of a soviet republic in Bavaria was decided upon in Munich at 1 o'clock in the morning, according to the Berlin Tageblatt, as quoted in a Berlin special via Copenhagen. The wording makes it uncertain whether Sunday or Monday morning is meant.

The Tageblatt also reports that the central council will first exercise a dictatorship and then after a brief period will appoint people's commissioners.

GERMANS WANT MORE FOOD AND LOAN FOR PAYING

PARIS, April 7.—At the conference of the allied and German financial experts at Pont Sainte Maxence Sunday, the Germans demanded fresh consignments of food, and announced that it would be impossible to continue payments in gold, says a Havas dispatch.

In order to increase their gold reserves they proposed to issue large loans in neutral countries, explaining that Germany's lack of freedom for commerce prevents the defraying of the cost of food.

UPHOLDS $500 FINE AGAINST JUDGE LINDSEY

Denver, Colo., April 7.—The fine of $500 imposed by Judge John A. Perry of the District court of Denver against Judge Ben B. Lindsey of the Juvenile court for contempt of court in October, 1915, was today affirmed by a decision of the state Supreme court.

The case grew out of the refusal of Judge Lindsey to tell a jury in the case of Mrs. Bertha Wright, charged with the murder of her husband, John A. Wright, what Neal, the 12 year old son of the couple, had told him concerning the crime. Judge Lindsey based his refusal on the grounds that Neal was a ward of his court and anything he told him was of a confidential nature.

Upon his refusal Judge Perry held him in contempt of court and assessed a fine of $500. An appeal was taken by Judge Lindsey and the case has since been pending in the Supreme court.

NEBRASKA SNOW HALTS TRAINS; WIRES GO DOWN

Lincoln, Neb., April 7.—Dispatches from Chadron, Seneca, and Alliance say northwestern Nebraska is covered with from ten inches to a foot of snow and the storm is working eastward.

At Seneca the weight of the snow carried down telegraph wires, the damage being so extended that work trains were started out on the Burlington road to repair them. Trains on the Northwestern railroad are delayed and there is a tieup at Lusk, Wyo. Wires are down in the vicinity of Chadron.

There was a heavy fall of snow in southwestern Nebraska, extending as far east as McCook. Near Madison a heavy wind did some damage to farm buildings. A schoolhouse was blown from its foundation.

Flirtation Costs Guest at Elks Club Hotel $415

A little flirtation with two strange women whom he and an unnamed friend met at the Rienza café in North Clark street last night cost Edward Toomey, a guest at the Elks Club hotel, $415, he later told the police at the detective bureau. According to Toomey, he and his friend went to the café and there met and danced with the two women. After several drinks they started toward the loop. A block from the café one of the women left the cab and a short time later Toomey missed his money.

TELLS PROBLEM OF FINANCING GERMANS FACE

Von Gwinner Claims Peril Exists for the Whole World.

BY GEORGE RENWICK.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

[Copyright: 1919.]

BERLIN, April 6.—[Delayed.]—"Europe is ruined. We are ruined first and most of all, unless we all come together and find ways and means to put the continent politically and financially in order against bolshevism. We must all of us come back to our senses, otherwise all Europe will be swallowed up in the welter of bolshevist madness. We must not go on the lines of 'beggar my neighbor,' but on the policy of 'help my neighbor.' Let us make peace on conditions which will allow all to live. Unless that is done quickly the world will have to be rebuilt on its ruins."

Defends German Financiers.

"Had the German financial world," I asked him, "any idea that the war was coming? It has often stated that German financiers exercised a certain influence in 1911 during the Agadir crisis, and again in 1914."

"That is an old story," Von Gwinner replied. "I see that in a recent speech by Sir Edward Holden, chairman and managing director of the London City and Midland bank, he declared that there was no war in 1911 because the German financiers told the kaiser that the empire's finances were not strong enough to stand the strain of war. Now, no such statement was ever made by German financiers to the kaiser.

"Sir Edward goes on to say that on July 5, 1914, the kaiser called together at Potsdam the leaders of commerce, shipping and finance, and questioned them as to the state of their preparedness for war. He adds that the first two groups said they were ready, but the financiers asked for a fortnight in which to make the necessary arrangements. No such meeting ever took place."

Puts Blame on Diplomats.

"Whom do you blame, then?" I asked.

"I blame our clumsy diplomacy, our Jagows and Zimmermanns and Bethmanns," was the reply. "And our public press are untrained. They are of mushroom growth and young."

Von Gwinner and Suedekum, the Prussian finance minister, are as one in painting the financial position in the darkest colors.

"And what about the question of indemnity?"

"Germany," was Von Gwinner's reply, "can give what she has—labor—and what her soil produces. We can help in restoring what has to be rebuilt in France and Belgium if our people have food and are at work. I take it, we can set to work at once in this respect.

"We took metals, goods, machinery, etc., from the occupied regions. Where, for example, we took a machine, let us put one back, a better one, if possible. It will be a heavy item, but we shall have to suffer as the vanquished party."

Would Hear Hungary's View.

Gen. Smuts also suggested that he would propose to the peace conference that before it finally determined the political frontiers of Hungary it should invite the Hungarian government to send representatives to Paris. These representatives would formulate their standpoint on the frontiers and the questions arising from them in a special conference with representatives of the Czecho-Slovaks, Jugo-Slavs, Roumanians, and German-Austrians. A representative of the allied powers would be chairman of the special conference.

SOVIET IS UPSET?

VIENNA, April 7.—[By Havas.]—The Hungarian communist government in Budapest has been overthrown, according to rumors current in official circles, the newspapers say.

Bela Kun, the foreign minister, is reported to have been assassinated.

The reports do not say whether the attempted revolution in Budapest was organized by the Socialists or the bourgeois parties.

Not Confirmed in Basel.

BASEL, April 7.—[By Havas.]—No confirmation has been received here of the reports of a counter revolution in Hungary and the assassination of the foreign minister, Bela Kun. The Frankfort Nachrichten says, however, that changes in the Hungarian cabinet are imminent.

Paris Doubts the Report.

PARIS, April 7.—Peace conference circles had received no confirmation this afternoon of rumors that the Hungarian soviet government had been overthrown and Bela Kun assassinated. There was an inclination to doubt the accuracy of the reports. Soviet elections had been planned for Hungary today and a general holiday had been proclaimed.

The Hungarian cabinet has been reconstructed, according to advices received here on Saturday, with M. Garbai as premier; Bela Kun, minister of foreign affairs and war; M. Boehn, minister of war under M. Kun; M. Kunfi, minister of education; and M. Varga, minister of social protection.

LABOR PARTY DEMANDS HELP FOR BOLSHEVIKI

Sympathy for the bolshevist government of Russia and a demand that American troops be withdrawn immediately from Russia were expressed in resolutions adopted last night by the Cook county convention of the Labor party held at 175 West Washington street.

The resolutions set forth that "workers of America have been assisting workers of associate nations in subjugating the workers of Russia in behalf of the billionaires of the entente," with the result that they "are sending hundreds of thousands of working men and women to hideous death by starvation," speak of "widespread unemployment in America, and then demand:

1. Immediate withdrawal of "workingmen soldiers of the United States being used to throttle the soviet republic of Russia."
2. The immediate lifting of all blockades.
3. That the United States compel the "immediate production for export trade on the widest possible scale to the end that every unemployed man and woman in the nation shall be employed, and that in cases where such employment is not possible the government compel compensation by employers of all workmen."

Millionaire Goes to Jail, Fined $5,000, for Hoarding

Los Angeles, Cal., April 7.—Hulett Merritt of Pasadena, reputed a millionaire, was sentenced today in the United States district court to serve five months in jail and pay a fine of $5,000, following his conviction of hoarding sugar in violation of war food restrictions. Merritt gave notice of appeal.

REBELLION COULD HAVE BEEN STOPPED, GERMAN COUNT SAYS

BERLIN, Saturday, April 5.—[By the Associated Press.]—While admitting there was a difference of opinion among German generals as to the practicability of fighting to maintain the imperial régime in November, Count Schulenberg, commander of a guards regiment, maintains in an article on the abdication of Emperor William, published in the Freiheit, that there were enough loyal troops to have marched on Aix-La-Chapelle and Cologne and put down the revolution.

The count says that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and Gen. Groener, Prussian war minister, would not assume the responsibility for such a move, however, arguing that things had gone too far and that only the abdication of former Emperor William could save the situation. The emperor, he says, was emphatic in declaring he did not desire a civil war and that he would not call upon the army to engage in such a conflict.

Internal conditions becoming worse, William at length agreed to Count Schulenberg's advice to abdicate as emperor, but not as king of Prussia. Field Marshal von Hindenburg indorsed the course, but in the opinion of Gen. Groener it was too late, although it might have saved the situation two weeks earlier.

MINISTERS FIND LIQUOR SOLD IN FIVE MILE ZONE

Charges that the law against selling liquor within the five mile zone around the Great Lakes naval station was being violated were declared to be true by the public policy committee of the Methodist ministers' meeting, which made a report yesterday.

The report charged that the board of supervisors of Lake county granted licenses to sell liquor just outside the five mile zone notwithstanding protests by former Commandant Moffatt.

"The military authorities," the report reads, "have called the attention of the civil authorities to the violation of the law, have cited specific cases of violation, and urged enforcement of the law, yet no prosecution of the offenders has resulted and conditions have not been corrected by the civil authorities.

"Beyond question the responsibility for the violations of the civil law within the five mile zone rests with the civil and not the military authorities within and near this five mile zone.

"We therefore call upon the civil authorities to coöperate with the naval and military officers in immediately and effectively enforcing the law.

"We commend the spirit and efforts of the commandant of the station and his subordinates."

The resolutions were ordered sent to Gov. Lowden, the sheriff, and state's attorney.

BRITISH FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN TO START APRIL 16

Expect Journey to Take 20 Hours; U. S. to Use Bomb Guides.

LONDON, April 7.—[By the Associated Press.]—The airplane of the Shortt brothers, one of the entries for the $50,000 race across the Atlantic, will start from Ireland for Newfoundland, on April 16, weather permitting. The airplane is expected to make the journey in twenty hours.

Smoke Flares to Guide Flyers.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Flame and smoke flares developed during the war and improved recently by chemical experts of the army will be factors in the trans-Atlantic flight to be undertaken next month by naval seaplanes. By dropping these flares at intervals, the aviators will be able to determine the drifting of their planes in the cross winds and make the corrections necessary to keep them on their course.

Commander J. H. Towers, in charge of preparations for the flight, explained today that the flares would be in the shape of bombs which, upon striking the water, would give off flame and smoke, the one visible for long distances at night and the other by day.

The flares would remain very stationary on the water and thereby indicate the angle at which the machines were being driven from a straight line.

This is only one of the many details which officers in charge of the plans for the flight have had to work out. Special devices have been necessary in each case and this in a measure accounts for the length of time consumed in making ready for the start. Numerous experiments with the planes themselves also have been necessary.

Machines Not Yet Completed.

None of the three of the N. C. type thus far completed is ready for the start, and officers said today that consequently they had not even undertaken to select a tentative date for leaving Rockaway Beach, L. I., on the 1,200 mile flight to the "jumping off" place in Newfoundland. At least one stop will be made between those two points.

The destroyer Barney, which is cruising along the north Atlantic coast to select a possible landing place for the machines, as well as a suitable starting point for the overseas voyage, now is en route to Newfoundland from Halifax. On the first attempt to reach the former place the vessel was held up by ice floes.

BLUECOAT RULES SPLIT MEETINGS OF CLUB WOMEN

Mrs. Severin's 'Athletes' Divide Session to Quiet Row.

BY LUCY CALHOUN.

Mounted Policeman George Baier, No. 481 of the Chicago force, has had many experiences, but last night's, he says, was the liveliest. He presided over a meeting of the Illinois Woman's Athletic club, a meeting so lively that it finally split into two meetings, one held on the seventeenth floor of the Stevens building and the other on the nineteenth, a meeting where parliamentary law was as nothing, and if the chairman had had a gavel it could not have been heard over the hubbub of angry and excited voices.

The trouble started when, some weeks ago, it was learned that Mrs. William Severin, president and founder of the club, was also its paid fiscal agent with a contract by which she claimed 40 per cent of the membership fees collected. Last night's meeting was called as a business meeting preliminary to the annual one which is to be held Saturday night in the rooms of the Political Equality league, 1102 Stevens building, where the by-laws are to be revised.

Unexpected Throng.

Mrs. Severin had expected only a few members to attend the meeting, it was stated, but word got about that there was to be some excitement and before 8 o'clock the rooms were crowded.

Mrs. Severin then felt called upon to explain her position. In a long speech she outlined her position and with tears in her voice urged her sister club women to hear her side of the fracas.

"What has a lawyer to do with a woman's club?" she asked, and then things began to happen.

A lawyer, small and neat, pushed his way through the crowd of women and proceeded to tell the women what he had to do with it.

"I am M. C. Koebel, an attorney in room 422 Ashland block," he said. "I represent 50 per cent of the members of this club. This is an open meeting and I should like to speak for them."

"No, no; he's not a member. He has no right to speak," called some of Mrs. Severin's adherents.

"Let him! We want to hear the other side," called other women.

Mrs. Severin Protests.

"He can't speak and interrupt our meeting," said Mrs. Severin. "He's not a member."

"Neither are you a member," shouted the lawyer, "and you put 40 per cent of the membership fees in your pocket."

"Show him this is an athletic club. We won't be insulted," said a powerful woman and the lawyer was hustled to the door. Meanwhile Mrs. L. S. Nelson had run for a policeman and Policeman Baier made his appearance. He at once took charge of the situation, the chairlady, Mrs. Severin, having retreated to an inner sanctum.

"Ladies," shouted the arm of the law, waving his arm to still the crowd. "I think you'd better separate. There seem to be some of you who want to hear this gentleman talk. Why not take a vote and those who wish go with him to the nineteenth floor; the rest stay here."

The Meeting Devides.

"Good," said the clubwomen approvingly, and the meeting split. There were no arrests.

On the nineteenth floor Mr. Koebel mounted a chair and told the women of what he called the "one woman" corporation, into which they had put their money. He urged them to look into the matter carefully and to revise the by-laws. After much heckling and many interruptions this group finally reached a decision to meet again in the lawyer's rooms in the Ashland block Friday night and go over the by-laws which none of them had ever seen before.

In the meantime the women downstairs were holding a meeting and electing a number of committees to take charge of Saturday's election.

Committees Named.

The nominating committee chosen consisted of Mrs. L. S. Nelson, Mrs. Perry Holmes, Mrs. E. M. Crisp, Mrs. Lillian B. Perrinat, and Miss Clair Gleason.

A committee to revise the by-laws was also appointed. It consisted of Miss Charlotte White, Miss Mary Foote, and Mrs. Astold R. Sawyer. The resolutions committee is composed of Miss E. E. Kelly, Miss Alma Chaville, Mrs. E. M. Visgerd, Mrs. W. F. B. Fradsham, and Mrs. Jane Horn. Benjamin Levering, attorney for the club, will be present at Saturday's meeting, when an auditing of the books by the Commonwealth company will be shown. The voting will take place from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. The annual meeting is at 8 p. m.

BOLSHEVIK LOSS 808, ALLIES 0, IN ARCTIC FIGHT

Cossack Trial Bares Theft of Big Sum from Russians.

ARCHANGEL, April 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—Delayed.—The Russian official report on the fighting in the Sred Mekhrenga sector Friday shows that the bolsheviki lost 700 dead and wounded, in addition to the 108 prisoners taken by the allied forces. The allies sustained no casualties.

The bolsheviki today resumed the bombardment of the British and American positions on the Dvina and Vaga rivers.

Allied patrols Saturday and today picked up a number of bolshevik wounded near the scene of Friday's fighting at Sred Mekhrenga. They also picked up a number of machine guns.

Four Million Rubles Stolen.

The theft of 4,000,000 bolshevik rubles by a band of Circassian Cossack officers whose activities also included the arrest of the American consul at Archangel and the kidnaping of the north Russian government was explained at the trial of the officers today before the supreme judicial authority of northern Russia.

The officers, among whom were Capt. Bers and Col. Melia, were convicted and sentenced to imprisonment and deprivation of their rank and decorations. Because of their military valor the court recommended that they be pardoned.

Cossacks Stay in Archangel.

Last July when an allied landing at Archangel seemed imminent Capt. Bers and the other Cossacks were aligned with the bolsheviki. As the allied transports approached the city the bulk of the bolshevik force fled, but Bers and the Cossacks remained.

Capt. Bers seized the safe containing the bolshevik war fund of 4,000,000 rubles. Then, with Col. Potapoff, the Cossacks arrested the American consul, Felix Cole; the British and French consuls, and the French military mission, the Cossacks holding them and the money as hostages.

When the allied landing and the local counter revolution broke out the consuls were released, but the Cossacks kept the 4,000,000 rubles as a prize of war.

Kidnap North Russia Chief.

At the trial it was revealed that the money furnished the financial sinews for the attempted coup against the north Russian government early in September when, under the direction of Col. Tchaplin the Cossacks kidnaped President Tschaikovsky and other members of the provisional government.

It was largely through the initiative of American Ambassador Francis that the attempted coup was frustrated.

From some source the defendants were able to restore all of the 4,000,000 rubles they had taken and they have handed the money over to the present government.

LENINE BLAMES UKRAINE.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Refusal of Ukrainian peasants to deliver wheat to the bolsheviki together with the disorganization of the railway system in Russia was blamed by Premier Lenine in a recent speech in Petrograd for the desperate food situation.

Swedish press reports transmitted to the state department today giving a summary of Lenine's speech, quote the bolshevik premier as saying he had implored the Ukrainian soviet to send 50,000,000 pounds of wheat to avert famine in Petrograd and Moscow. Communist forces in the Ukraine were too insufficiently organized to take the wheat forcibly from the peasants.

He declared the peasants were mere playthings in the hands of the opponents of the soviet government and that these enemies were trying to starve the bolsheviki.

Veteran of U. S. Service, He Seeks Citizenship and Job

What have you to offer Sidney Novotny? Seven years ago Novotny, who is 24 years of age and lives at 3300 West Twenty-third street, came to the United States from Bohemia. Yesterday he appeared in the naturalization office wearing khaki and stripes which signified that he had been overseas with the first 50,000 and wounded. The discharged soldier stated he had been over the top eight times in the Marne, Champagne, and Verdun fighting. His left arm was partially paralyzed from a wound received at Chateau Thierry. Novotny, who speaks English well, applied for first papers. Out of a job since he returned to Chicago eight weeks ago, he is in the market for employment.

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS TAKEN BY REDS TOWARD MOSCOW

ARCHANGEL, Sunday, April 6.—[By the Associated Press]—M. V. Arnold of New London, O., and B. R. Ryall of Bloomfield, N. J., Y. M. C. A. workers who have been missing for several days, and three American soldiers captured by the Bolsheviki on the Bolshie Ozerki sector are being taken to Moscow, according to information received in Archangel today from Obozerskaya.

They are apparently being well treated.

The Rev. Father Roach, a chaplain with the British forces who was captured near Bolshie Ozerki on March 31, was released by the Bolsheviki and yesterday made his way through the American lines on the Vologda front. The chaplain brought a letter from Ryall that he, Arnold and the soldiers were being taken to Moscow. The soldiers are Sergt. Glenn W. Leitzell of Mifflinburg, Pa.; Mechanic Jens C. Laursen of Marlette, Mich., and Private Freeman Hogan of 462 Trumbull avenue, Detroit, Mich.

The advices brought by Father Roach was the first direct word regarding the safety of any Americans captured by the bolsheviki. The American Red Cross at Archangel is endeavoring to obtain information regarding the prisoners.

Hines and Brotherhood Chiefs Discuss Rail Wages

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Wage advances to be given members of the four leading trainmen's and enginemen's brotherhoods were discussed finally today between Director General Hines and the chiefs of the brotherhoods, and the order probably will be issued within a few days.

The order will readjust wages so as to restore most of the differentials between various classes of employés existing before Jan. 1, 1915. A few rates will be lowered, it was said, but the general level will be raised.

It was reported that the brotherhoods' application for time and a half pay for overtime had not been granted. Neither the brotherhood chiefs nor Director General Hines would comment on this point.

EX-GOB SEIZED AFTER GUN FIGHT WITH POLICEMEN

Edward Balla, 1504 South Harving avenue, recently discharged from the navy, while suffering apparently from the effects of some drug or intoxicants, last night attempted to commit two robberies, but fled each time without getting any money, and was captured after a revolver chase in which a dozen or more shots were exchanged. He will be questioned this morning if he is able to talk coherently.

Shortly after midnight Balla drew a revolver and ordered John Marosco, 2128 South Wabash avenue, to put up his hands in front of a restaurant at 2126 South Wabash avenue. Marosco fled into the cafe and Balla ran north to Twenty-first street and turning east entered the Yellow Cab company's garage. There he attempted a second holdup, but becoming frightened fired a shot and fled. The shot attracted Policeman Thomas Mangan and he gave chase. Balla fled east, followed by the patrolman, who had been joined by Policeman Michael Morley and Detective Sergeants Beitenhoffer and Berg.

The former sailor is said to have fired three shots at Policeman Mangan, who was leading in the chase. About a dozen shots were fired at him by the police before he sought refuge under a stairway at Indiana avenue and Twenty-first street. There he surrendered.

Baker Sails for France; Pershing's Son Goes, Too

New York, April 7.—Secretary of War Baker, Hugh C. Wallace of Tacoma, Wash., the new United States ambassador to France, fifteen members of the house military affairs committee, and Warren Pershing, the 9 year old son of Gen. Pershing, accompanied by his guardian, Sergt. Welz, were passengers aboard the steamship Leviathan, which sailed from here at noon today for France.

Secretary Baker said he hoped to surprise Gen. Pershing by presenting his son, adding that the lad had been living with his aunts, Miss Mary Pershing and Mrs. D. M. Butler, at Lincoln, Neb.

"This is a big boat, it doesn't rock, I am not going to be sick, and there's moving pictures on board," was the boy's general answer to scores of questions put to him by newspaper correspondents.

PADEREWSKI IN PART REASSURED AS TO DANZIG

PARIS, April 7.—[By The Associated Press.]—After conferences today with Premier Clemenceau, Foreign Minister Pichon and Col. House, Jan Ignace Paderewski, premier of Poland, told the Associated Press that he was somewhat reassured about Marshal Foch's agreement concerning the moving of troops through Danzig.

"Our information throughout Poland," said M. Paderewski, "was based largely on the German version of the arrangement, consequently the Poles regarded it as a surrender to the German terms. As the matter has been explained to me today by the entente officials it looks very different.

"I appreciate the necessity of getting troops from France to Poland as rapidly as possible and I see that we have been misled."

As to whether he felt that the principle of the right to land Polish troops at Danzig had been maintained, Paderewski said:

"We are uncertain still and not satisfied with the status of negotiations concerning Danzig. If Poland is not given Danzig the war is lost."

"FORT SHERIDAN RECALL" IS OUT; TO AID SOLDIERS

"The Fort Sheridan Recall," the newspaper written and edited and published by army men, price 5 cents per copy, makes its appearance today.

The paper, as it says itself, went to its own birthday party last night at the home of Mrs. Frederick D. Countiss, 1550 North State Parkway, chairman of the Recall committee.

There was an auction of the first issue off the presses. It brought $1,000, and Julius Schwill got the paper. It will be turned over to the Chicago Historical society. Charles W. Folds was the auctioneer. He tried a new system. You paid what you bid whether you got the paper or not.

Emil C. Wetten presided at the party. Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and Col. R. R. McCormick, one of the publishers of THE TRIBUNE, were the speakers.

The first issue of the Recall is a twelve page, seven column affair, well written, well edited. It opens a campaign for 30,000 subscriptions in Chicago, and J. Ogden Armour is described as the first Chicago subscriber.

The profits of the paper will be devoted to "soldier betterment and morale work under military supervision."

BAKER ORDERS ANSELL TO DRAW MILITARY CODE

Directs Crowder Rival to Draft Bill on Reforms.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—Lieut. Col. Ansell, former acting judge advocate general and one of the leaders in the controversy over courts martial procedure, has been directed by Secretary Baker to prepare and submit a bill which in his opinion would correct deficiencies in the existing military justice system.

The secretary's order under date of April 5, was made public today by the war department.

Secretary Baker's Order.

The secretary's order which is in the form of a regular departmental communication, signed by the adjutant general through whom it was transmitted, follows:

"The secretary of war acknowledges the receipt through military channels of the first paragraph of the indorsement made by Lieut. Col. Ansell under the date of April 2, dealing with the subject of proposed changes in the system of military justice. The suggestions made by Lieut. Col. Ansell are entirely appropriate in form and substance and merit earnest consideration, which they will receive. With many of the suggestions the secretary of war finds himself in hearty concurrence, if in fact, existing statute law is defective in the particular suggested by the proposed changes.

Must Prepare Draft.

In order that the subject may be fully considered and the views of Lieut. Col. Ansell adequately studied, it is directed that Lieut. Col. Ansell prepare and submit to the secretary of war at the earliest possible date a draft of such a bill as in his opinion would be adapted to carry into effect the ideas expressed in the first paragraph of his endorsement.

"With regard to the second paragraph of the indorsement, which calls for this memorandum, the secretary of war declines to receive officially the communication herewith returned. The communication in question already has been published and there is, therefore, no point in seeking to use the secretary of war as a medium of publicity.

Bars Personal Comment.

"The resort to personal comment in connection with this subject matter was not begun by Gen. Crowder. It plainly would have been more fitting and appropriate if never begun by anybody. It has certainly been carried far enough by everybody.

"The secretary of war assumes. Lieut. Col. Ansell's earnest desire to concentrate public attention and official attention upon the improvement of the system of military justice, and is quite sure that a single minded and unbiased consideration of that subject can best be assured by the abatement of further personal discussion and unanimity of effort to work out the best results for the system which we all desire to improve."

'AIR' BUG AMONG SENATORS MAKES LEADERS WORRY

That Two Majority for G. O. P. May Tailspin Almost Any Day.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Senatorial aviators have become so numerous among statesmen whiling away the hours in Washington until congress reconvenes that leaders have become apprehensive of casualties and are demanding the adoption of a "pairing" system in arranging flights.

In other words, Republican leaders want an understanding that every time a Republican senator is taken up one or more Democratic senators must be taken up, too. They want the risk to be made bi-partisan.

Margin of Control but Two.

The Republican margin of control in the senate is only two votes. A casualty or two among the Republican senatorial aviators, followed by the appointment of a Democratic successor, as might happen in several cases, would upset their control and place the machinery back in the hands of the Democrats despite the results of the last election. Hence the solicitude of the Republican shepherds for their flocks and their demand for a pairing system.

It is an every day sight nowadays to see senators soaring in planes over Washington. Half a dozen or so "go up" nearly every morning from Bolling field. Hardly a senator remaining in Washington for President Wilson to call an extra session has escaped the flying craze.

Nearly All Have "Craze."

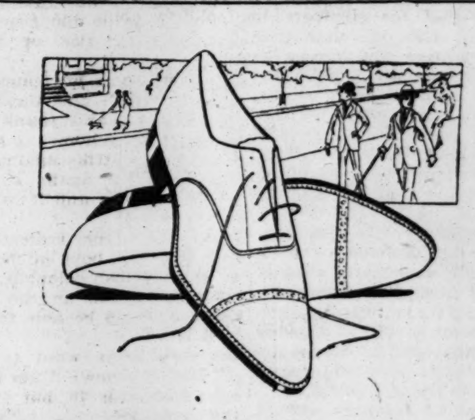
Among the more prominent of the senatorial aces are Senator Henderson of Nevada, Senator Jones of Washington, Senator McNary of Oregon, Senator Pittman of Nevada, Senator King of Utah, Senator Sterling of South Dakota, and Senator New of Indiana.

All of these senators are aeronautical enthusiasts and some of them are said to actually cherish ambitions of becoming licensed pilots. Whether any of them have yet reached a stage of enthusiasm where they intend giving up lawmaking for flying cannot be stated.

Senator Henderson is the "Eddie Rickenbacher" of the senatorial squadron. He has not only made noted flights, but has actually piloted a machine from Washington to New York and return.

GEN. WOOD TO ADDRESS PHYSICIANS.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood will be the guest of honor and principal speaker at a banquet of the Physicians Club of Chicago at a reception, dinner, and ball in the Auditorium hotel Saturday night.



Men's Oxfords of Supreme Quality

The STORE for MEN

NO man can afford to spend days, months and even years selecting leathers, style, linings and findings. We can. It is our business. If we knew how to make better Oxfords we would do so.

Here are a few reasons why our Low Shoes excel: From each hide only two pair of these Oxfords are made, because only the prime of leather is chosen. The soles, which are overweight, are of the best oak-tanned leather to insure longer service; the linings are the best, while other details show how carefully our exacting specifications are carried out.

These Oxfords represent the most successful combination of good looks and real service-giving stamina that we have seen in footwear.

33D DIVISION TURNS IN ARMS FOR START HOME

Prairie Unit Gets Ready to Follow Rainbow Back to U. S.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

COBLENZ, April 6.—[Delayed.]—The third army headquarters today ordered the Thirty-third division to begin turning in equipment of which it must rid itself before it can be pronounced ready for embarkation.

In other words, the Prairie division, as it was known when as the Illinois National guard it occupied Camp Logan, was told to get ready to go home.

It is comfortably situated now at Diekirch and other picturesque communities across the border of Luxembourg, and the unexpected instructions to prepare to move are said to have brought loud and prolonged cheers.

No Move Into Germany.

There have been unofficial reports that the Illinois unit would advance into Germany with the withdrawal of the more forward divisions, and there was no grumbling. But present indications are the whole organization may be on the Atlantic before the first of May, and that is a thousand fold better than either staying in Luxembourg or coming up into Deutschland.

The dates of the Prairie division's movements cannot be given with complete accuracy at this time, but they will follow the Thirty-second to Brest. The movement of the old Michigan-Wisconsin outfit has been brought forward to April 16, which means that all the Thirty-third may be at Brest on April 26 to 28.

Use Same Trains.

An announcement today discloses that the trains now bearing the Forty-second to seaboard will bring back the Sixth and return to Brest. They then must go back to Luxembourg for the Illinoisians.

The Sixth probably will go into part of the Seventh corps which are now occupied by the Eighth, Ninth, and Ninetieth divisions, which will follow the Thirty-third homeward. The Fourth division will move north along the Rhine into the territory now occupied by the Forty-second and the Sixth will finally take over the Fourth's area. It also is believed that the Seventh division will come up into this area soon.

To boil all this news down, the indications are that the American expeditionary force soon will resolve itself into two big units, the army of occupation and the service of supply.

Battle Streamers Unfurled.

Since 3 o'clock this morning the trains of the Rainbow division have left on schedule time for Brest. As the different regimental headquarters embarked there were revealed for the first time the recently authorized streamers of regimental colors, long white ribbons bearing the names of battles in which the unit has participated.

As the Ohio infantry, the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth, started away an inspection of its streamers showed these battles: "Luneville, Baccarate, Eperance-Louvain, Champagne-Marne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Epshey et Pannes, Meuse-Argonne, Meuse-Argonne," the last battle repeated because the division was in the line twice.

The movement of infantry out of this area is almost completed. Tomorrow (Monday) and early Tuesday morning the artillery, beginning with the One Hundred and Forty-ninth, under Col. H. J. Reilly, will begin filling up the long trains. Already the movement of their guns up the Rhine to Rotterdam has begun, whence it will be shipped to the United States. Only a part of their heavy equipment will return from France.

Camp Grant Men Among Arrivals at Newport News

Newport News, Va., April 7.—[Special.]—Camp Grant detachments of the Three Hundred and Twenty-ninth and Three Hundred and Thirtieth machine gun battalions arrived tonight on the battleships Virginia and Rhode Island, twelve days out from Brest. Among the 2,000 or more officers and men on the two ships are Chicagoans.

the finding of the empty pocketbook two days later, would it? He had no reason to disappear.

"I am going to ask the coroner to make a thorough investigation. The autopsy may give some valuable clews. Nothing will be left undone to clear up my father's death.

"The autopsy will show whether he was drowned or whether he was first killed and then thrown into the river. They can tell it by the condition of the lungs. There may be marks the undertaker or the police haven't seen. I understand they have examined only his head, so far."

His Jump Into Fame.

Delaney's jump into fame came in October, 1910, when he retired from the police force. The old Inter Ocean carried the story as follows:

"A Chicago policeman, who saved a snug fortune, and his heiress wife, who recently inherited another, will start in a few days to see what the rest of the world looks like.

"Michael Delaney—Mike, as the Chicago newsies know him—resigned from the force yesterday (Oct. 26, 1910) to spend the balance of his days in travel and ease.

"Mike and Mrs. Delaney footed up the total of the family wealth and discovered between them they had about $100,000. They also bethought of the fact that about all he knows of foreign travel is what he has gleaned from the papers which come tumbling out of the presses in news alley, between Madison and Washington streets.

"'We have plenty of money to live comfortably,' said Policeman Delaney at his home, 6121 Winthrop avenue. 'Our four children are well provided for and will be for the rest of my life.

21 Years on Force.

"'I have served twenty-one years on the force and that's about enough. So I have decided to settle down and take things easy for a while and then travel about a little.

"'I have lived all my life in Chicago and spent eighteen years with the newsboys; for a time at the Inter Ocean and later in "news alley."'

"For the winter the Delaneys will very likely go to Bermuda and then find their way to Ireland, where Mike's ancestors lived.

"Gloom settled over 'news alley' when it became known that Mike had quit the force. In his many years of service among the 'newsies' the policeman has formed thousands of friendships.

"He has been a judge and jury for all the petty disputes of the street."

'HA HA' LETTERS READ IN SHARKEY DIVORCE BATTLE

Wife Charges Cruelty; Husband Alleges Straying Love.

The "Ha Ha" letters started the marital difficulties of William and Anna Sharkey, and now they are both in court fighting tooth and nail for divorce, separate maintenance, reputations, and money.

William Sharkey is a manager of a tailoring company in the loop. Mrs. Sharkey conducts a restaurant at 1256 North Clark street and a rooming establishment at 1162 North La Salle street. They were married Feb. 26, 1900, and separated four years ago. Mrs. Sharkey filed suit for a divorce charging cruelty, and her husband answered with charges of infidelity.

"He was cruel most all of the time," testified Mrs. Sharkey yesterday in Judge John J. Sullivan's court. "He used the most profane language in my daughter's presence, and of course I objected——"

Mrs. Sharkey related in detail fifteen acts of cruelty attributed to her husband.

Husband Submits Letters.

Then Sharkey's attorney stepped forward with a batch of letters.

"Do you know a soldier by the name of Anthony McDonough?" he asked.

"I object," said Attorney Arthur H. Fink of the firm of Huebsch & Fink. But the court ruled against the objection.

The letters were introduced into the evidence with the following surrounding facts: They were from Anthony McDonough. They were addressed to Mrs. Le Motte, 1318 North La Salle street, and sealed in an inclosed envelope bearing the wards, "Ha ha."

"And this one here," suggested the attorney, "this was written by you to Private Gene Piggott, McDonough's bunkie, wasn't it?. It was also sealed in an envelope and marked 'Ha ha,' wasn't it? And by these 'ha ha's' you meant that you were fooling everybody, didn't you?"

Mrs. Sharkey denied the charge, but the attorney asserted that such was the fact—and that nobody was fooled.

Excerpts from Letter.

The letters from McDonough were all addressed to "My dear little sweetheart." They read in part:

"I can hardly wait until I see you. The hours are passing too slowly. . . . When I come home again you'll have to take a vacation to love me."

A letter alleged to be from Mrs. Sharkey, which her husband says he found in her pocket book, reads:

"Dear Sweetheart: I have lost all my love for my husband and am going to get a divorce if I have to move to Reno, but he is fighting hard. I wonder what he sees in me. . . . Dear boy, I have loved more since I have known you than I ever did in my whole life before."

Daughter to Testify.

Miss Hazel Sharkey, 17 year old daughter, will testify today that her father beat his wife and that he used violent language in the child's presence.

Sharkey contends that his wife went to a roadhouse adjacent to the House That Jack Built with a large party.

"We were out motoring and got caught in the rain," said Mrs. Sharkey, "so we stopped in and danced until the storm ceased."

The hearing will be continued this morning.

HOLD 2 GIRLS AND MAN FOR $10,000 ROBBERY 'PLOT'

Three figures in the military and social entanglement which led to the robbery of Mrs. May Simpson of diamonds worth $10,000 were booked on charges of conspiracy to defraud at the detective bureau last night.

They are Thomas F. Burke, former member of the "Teddy" Webb auto bandit crew; Miss Dorothy Cramer, and Miss Sadie Beckman, both of 4311 Greenwood avenue. The police are still seeking two men accused as accomplices in the operations of the "cabaret bandits," Charles Brayton and Edward Sandler of 213 East Forty-eighth street, both out on bond under burglary charges.

While the trio were attempting to obtain liberty on bonds of $1,500 all vehemently denied participation in the robbery. The two girls declared they knew nothing of the plans for the "framed" robbery until after it was committed. Burke admitted he knew of the plans, bnt denied he was the robber.

Meanwhile Mrs. Simpson, wealthy and elderly widow, living at 4223 South Michigan avenue, was still searching for her gems.

HITCHCOCK AND LENROOT DEBATE WORLD LEAGUE

"This One or War," Says Nebraskan; "America First," Answer.

New York, April 7.—Acceptance of the league of nations covenant as a "great compromise of nations willing to unite to end war" and its rejection unless it meets the requirements "of that somewhat old fashioned idea of America first" were the pleas of the two United States senators who participated in a joint discussion of the league before the Economic club here tonight.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was the advocate of the covenant in virtually its present form. Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin advocated the "America first" idea.

Opening the discussion, Senator Hitchcock declared that persons who objected to the present league plan should be placed in the same class with those who believe in no league.

This League or Return to War.

"It's this league or a return of war," he declared.

The covenant in its present form, he asserted, was a "great compromise by the fourteen allied nations," arrived at after long discussion by all the parties and a compromise in which each nation yielded points which it preferred to include.

"It is not just what we want," he said. "It is not what England wanted, or France, or Japan. It is a compromise.

"If the nations ratify it, it will become a fact. If it is rejected that ends for the present and probably indefinitely any chance for securing the reform. It means that despair would spread over Europe. The nations would go to work preparing for war. And it means something else—it means the growth of Socialism, bolshevism, and anarchy."

He predicted that a specific exclusion would be made in the new covenant of domestic matters, such as immigration, but declared that even if it were not excluded and if Japan, raising the question, were given a unanimous vote by the executive council there would be nothing to prevent America from "just not admitting the Japanese." America, he asserted, would only be pledged "not to go to war with Japan."

Senator Lenroot confined his address to the original draft of the covenant, explaining that he wished to show how well grounded was the action of the thirty-seven senators who signed the round robin against the original covenant and adding that a second reason was the fact that "we don't know what the new form will be."

Answering Senator Hitchcock's assertion that it was necessary to accept the covenant unamended or to reject it altogether Senator Lenroot asserted it was "peculiar that neutrals can be asked to suggest amendments, but that neither the senate nor the people of the United States have been asked to suggest changes."

For America First.

Asserting that he still adhered to the "in some quarters old fashioned idea of America first," because he believed that under that policy America could be "of the best service to the world," Senator Lenroot cited clauses of the covenant, which he maintained were opposed to an "America first" policy, offering suggestions for amendments.

Article III., he declared, should be amended to provide changes in the representation on the league's executive council, because "we must look to the time when Germany will be entitled to a place."

He declared article X., called "the corner stone" of the covenant, and guaranteeing the territorial integrity of all states in the league, "would make the world as safe for despotism where it exists as for democracy." If article X. had been in force in 1776, he said, "there would be no United States today."

270 ARMY MEN HELD IN PARIS TO "SNAP" WILSONIAN POSES?

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—President Wilson will return to America the most "mugged" man in history.

Information reached the senate today that no les sthan 270 enlisted men in the photographic section of the American army are being held under orders in Paris. They want to come home and get their discharges, it was stated. The work in their regular line of duty could be performed better at home, it is said. But they are kept in Paris, so the story runs, because many of them are necessary to do the photographing of the president and the peace delegation.

This information came to Senator Poindexter of Washington in a letter from one of the enlisted photographers.

One enlisted man was detailed to accompany the president to England and Italy. He returned with no less than 460 negatives, showing the president in a multiplicity of poses, receiving the plaudits of the admiring populace. Approximately 1,700 prints were made, 900 enlargements were prepared, and 700 picture postcards were produced, according to the letter.

YEOMANETTE IS FIRST WOMAN TO RIDE NAVY PLANE

Miss Marthe Ballot, at Great Lakes, Takes 20 Minute Flight.

A rough sea was running, mates, when Miss Marthe Ballot, yeowoman, second class, gathered her unnautical skirts about her and stepped into the passenger's place in Ensign Ray Applegate's seaplane at the Great Lakes naval training station yesterday. But in accordance with the traditions of the service—and as befitted the first of her sex ever to ride in navy aircraft—Miss Ballot surveyed the array of struts and wires which hemmed her in with complete nonchalance.

Nor was the effect wasted, for roundabout stood fifteen other yeomanettes and a considerable proportion of the Fifteenth (aviation) regiment's personnel. All of the yeomanettes, moreover, would gladly haxe exchanged a brand new dolman for Miss Ballot's opportunity—which spoke well of the generosity of the cheer that arose as Ensign Applegate opened the throttle and he and his fair passenger taxied east over the lake.

Flight Lasts Twenty Minutes.

A moment later the pontoons left the water and the plane climbed upward through a treacherous air. The flight lasted twenty minutes—it would have lasted longer, save that the air proved too full of pockets for Miss Ballot's complete safety.

"How did I like it?" she repeated as she stood on the beach and watched the mechanics draw her erstwhile conveyance into its hangar. "Well, if I must tell the whole truth and nothing but, I felt something like a third officer standing his first watch. But, say, if I ever get a pension I'm going to buy myself a plane, all painted pink, and go sailing for the rest of my life."

In Service One Year.

Miss Ballot has been at the station about two months. She entered service in New York a year ago.

In order that favoritism could not be charged in the selection of the first woman to ride in a navy plane, Lieutenant Commander E. E. Wilson, executive officer of the Fifteenth regiment, placed all the names of the yeomanettes in a hat. Miss Ballot's was the first to emerge.

LET DEBS SHOW RESPECT FOR LAW—PALMER

Attorney General Replies to Pleas for Clemency.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—So long as he continues to defy the law, Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist leader convicted of obstruction of the war, will receive no clemency if President Wilson takes the advice of his new Quaker attorney general, A. Mitchell Palmer.

In a vigorous statement tonight Mr. Palmer served notice upon Debs, his Socialist and any possible union labor sympathizers, and upon bolsheviki at home and abroad who threaten to aid him, that the government will deal resolutely with the "general strike" Debs threatens to call or any other interference with the mandate of the court sending the Socialist to prison.

Clemency Urged.

The attorney general's statement was issued "in reply to several communications to him urging that he recommend the exercise of executive clemency in the case of Eugene V. Debs." In reality it was more than this, for it was the advice the attorney general cabled to President Wilson in response to an inquiry concerning the propriety of granting a respite or other form of clemency to Debs.

Mr. Tumulty, the secretary to the president, appears to have become alarmed by Debs' threats of calling a strike and plunging the nation into chaos if the government sent him to the penitentiary. The White House communicated this alarm to Paris and the inquiry from the president was the result.

Calls for Only One Answer.

After reviewing the case against Debs and Debs' conduct and utterances before and after conviction, Attorney General Palmer sums up the situation thus:

"In this situation my duty is clear. Respect for the law and our institutions is the basis upon which every application for executive clemency must rest. Open defiance of the law and threat of force to obstruct its orderly administration call for only one answer. The law must be respected and obeyed. To make sure of that, it must be enforced. I would be doing a grievous wrong to the country and striking a blow at law enforcement if I adopted any course which would interfere with the normal administration of justice in this case."

The attorney general says that Debs has filed no plea for clemency, in the absence of which he would not consider making any recommendations to the president.

For Plain Violation.

"Debs was convicted," says Mr. Palmer, "not because of his political or economic views but because he plainly violated the law of the land. On June 18, 1918, during the most critical period of the war, Debs made a public speech at Canton, O., in which he urged that wage earners refrain from giving any aid to the American nation in the war, asserting that the war was brought on and conducted solely in the interest of capitalists, told his audience that they needed to know that 'they were fit for something better than slavery and cannon fodder,' held up to admiration as martyrs to the cause of labor a number of persons who had been convicted for violating the draft act, and urged wage earners to stand together as a class to prevent the success of our country in the war. In his address to the jury Debs said: 'I have been accused of obstructing the war. I admit it, gentlemen. I abhor war. I would oppose the war if I stood alone.'"

Trial Was Fair.

Debs, says the attorney general, was given a fair trial by jury. The charge of the trial judge was eminently fair, and on appeal to the Supreme court of the United States that court, by a unanimous decision, affirmed the judgment of conviction.

"Both prior and subsequent to the delivery of the speech mentioned Debs had on numerous occasions publicly urged wage earners to adhere to the so-called St. Louis program of the anti-war faction of the Socialist party adopted in April, 1917," said Mr. Palmer. "This document asserted that participation of the United States in the war against Germany could not be justified, branded the declaration of war by the American government as a crime against the people of the United States, declared that in all modern history there had been no war more unjustifiable, and urged 'continuous active and public opposition to the war.'

Still Practically Defies Law.

"Following the action of the Supreme court the defendant has indulged in violent public criticism of the American courts of justice and practically defied the power of the government to administer the law against him. In a public speech at Cleveland March 12 he said: 'With every drop in my veins I despise their law and I defy them.' A few days ago he declared that if an attempt is made to imprison him he will have a general strike called in support of his attitude."

There's "Girl Stealer" Abroad in Edgewater

Edgewater is all excited about it and the residents are traveling in pairs.

It seems Miss Alexandria Mann, 1820 Berwyn avenue, 26 years old, was on her way home with her mother, 70, a little after 8 p. m., recently, when she was seized and dragged toward a big, black car, despite her screams and those of her mother.

Then a dog came and snapped at the legs of the captor and freed her. Before she could focus her eyes on the number plate of the machine, it was a block away.

The would-be kidnaper was "handsome and well dressed," her mother and a couple who were running to her rescue assert.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.

THE Earl of Reading, British ambassador, issued a formal denial today of reports that Lloyd George had urged or suggested recognition of Lenine or Trotzky in Russia. In some quarters here it is regarded as significant that the statement did not say or intimate that the British premier had never suggested recognition of the soviet republic in Russia if Lenine and Trotzky were eliminated.

THE state department has reported that Hungary is experiencing "complete socialism of industry." The reports say that a division of house furniture is being carried out, that divorce restrictions are eliminated, and that religious instruction in schools has been banished for history of the revolution and purposes of communism.

PRESIDENT WILSON is to come back from Europe, the most photographed man in the world, according to information reaching senators here, showing that 270 enlisted men in the American photographic section of the army, who want to come home, are being held in Paris to see that the president escapes with no pose in the peace making process unrecorded for posterity.

"UNCLE" JOE CANNON, just back from Illinois, says the sentimentalists of his constituency favored a league of nations, but that when he talked to them about the possibility of their sons being called upon to fight Balkan rows, "why, hell, they are just naturally against it."

BITUMINOUS coal operators take exception to the statement by Director General of Railroad Hines that they have made "abnormal profits." The operators also insist that they did not initiate the plan of fixing a scale of prices by coal districts, but that it was the suggestion of the industrial board. Anthracite operators defend the announced increase, effective May 1, as justified under the cost figures of the fuel administration.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE REDFIELD defended the steel rail prices approved by the industrial board as being as low as possible under cost figures of the federal trade commission. He said that out of five companies producing rails only one will make a profit, two breaking even, and two actually losing money. He declared that the industrial board will refuse to be an instrument for reducing wages.

CHINA, according to a memorial forwarded to the Paris peace conference by forty-six chambers of commerce in that country, faces permanent ruin unless the treaty powers permit her to exercise the same right of fiscal autonomy as enjoyed by other nations.

PRAIRIE MURDER VICTIM NAMED AS WIFE SLAYER

A national gang of crooks and criminals—holdup men, pickpockets, burglars, safeblowers, and thieves—are in the midst of a feud in Chicago which has resulted in the death of several nationally known criminals recently, according to Edward J. Fleming, secretary to State's Attorney Hoyne.

Information to this effect, Fleming declared, was given him by a "stool pigeon" who walked into the state's attorney's office yesterday to clear up the mystery of the identity of a criminal known to the police here as "St. Louis Shorty Harry," whose body was found in a prairie ditch near Peterson and Spaulding avenues, where it had been dragged after the man was murdered.

"St. Louis Shorty Harry," Fleming's informant told him, is Thomas Wolfert, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years in St. Louis several years ago for the murder of his wife. Wolfert was paroled in St. Louis not long ago and came at once to Chicago to follow up his career of crime here. He was shot through the head and chest by feudist crooks."

LANDIS TO TAKE UP AFFAIRS OF OIL COMPANY

The tangled financial affairs of the Black Diamond Oil company, a bankrupted concern "organized by act of congress and approved by the president," are to be investigated by Federal Judge Landis. The jurist yesterday set April 17 as the date when he will start a search for disappeared assets of the company.

As a first step the judge yesterday issued an order to serve processes on fifteen persons besides Jacob Goldman, the state court receiver, among them being D. S. Fletcher and H. B. Moulton of Washington, John Shellito of New York, and D. C. Cameron and the Rev. H. C. Chambers of Chicago.

Action against the Globe Securities Investment company, of which Arthur L. Barry is head and which acted as fiscal agent for the American Truck and Trailer company, was started in the state courts yesterday by Assistant Attorney General Raymond S. Pruitt.

As an eleventh hour attempt to forestall action, Barry, through his attorneys, made application to Secretary of State L. L. Emmerson for the issuance of an Illinois charter to the company.

Storm Loss $250,000 in Omaha; 60 Houses Down

Omaha, Neb., April 7.—Though sixty houses were demolished in one of the most fashionable residence sections of the city by last night's tornado, not a single death has resulted from the score or more serious injuries to persons in the direct path of the storm. Property loss tonight is estimated at $250,000.

TREAT 'EM ROUGH BOYS WELCOMED BY HOME CITY

Tank Corps Officers Say Chicago Breeds Their Soldiers.

Chicago is the original stamping ground of the "treat 'em rough" boys. It furnished most of the men who looked on the war from the front seat, in a little steel cage.

This is the opinion of Maj. John R. Cummings and Capt. H. H. Le Clerque of the tank corps, officers with the 500 men from the corps who paraded the loop yesterday, had dinner at the Hotel La Salle, and left for Camp Grant and demobilization. From 60 to 65 per cent of the men with them, they estimated, are Chicago boys. The others are all from the middle west—principally Wisconsin, Illinois, and Minnesota.

Hold Back Emotion.

The 500 arrived at Grand Central station a little after 10 in the morning and fell into the midst of an hilarious, joyous throng of welcoming relatives and friends. But they held back. They suppressed their emotions.

One bronzed chap stood for a few minutes with his arm resting about a woman's waist, his free hand on the head of a toddler of four. In the five minutes he had with them there was not a word exchanged. There were three gold service stripes on his sleeve.

After a brief rest in the Khaki and Blue club in Grant Park, the men formed for the parade to dinner. Headed by gray and blue striped "whippets," the line wended its way through loop streets to the Hotel La Salle.

Are Given Treat.

For an hour the men were the guests of the War Camp Community service. They dined. They sang. They watched entertainers from the Chicago theaters who had volunteered their services. Then they had the rest of the afternoon—about an hour and a half—to themselves.

They left at 3:30 for Camp Grant.

The units in the contingent, which has spent the two weeks since it landed at Camp Meade, Md., are the Three Hundred and Second, Three Hundred and Third, Three Hundred and Thirtieth, and Three Hundred and Thirty-fourth combat units of the Three Hundred and Fourth, Three Hundred and Fifth, and Three Hundred and Sixth brigades.

2,700 AMERICAN "TOMMIES" WIN GOTHAM'S HEART

Mauretania Brings Men of British and U. S. Armies Home.

BY C. V. JULIAN.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Two thousand seven hundred repatriated American citizens who have been fighting under the flag of Britain arrived home today on the liner Mauretania, to receive one of the most riotous welcomes yet extended to returning troops. One hundred of them were from Chicago, while seventy-five were from other parts of Illinois.

One thousand and eighty doughboys, most of them of a detachment of the Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh infantry, shared the thrill of the homecoming demonstration with the Yanks who wore the uniform of England.

In honor of the Yanks who fought for Britain, the English authorities here had a kiltie band in full regalia meet the ship at the pier, for among the Americans on board were many who wore the plaids of the "Ladies from Hell."

Wait All Day on Pier.

All day the kiltie band waited upon the pier for the arrival of the Mauretania, held fog bound just outside the harbor. With them waited a doughboy band.

It was just as the sun was setting that the plaintive tones of the bagpipes seemed to bring the giant ship out of the mist to its pier. A man in kilts climbed high on a pile of scantlings, shook a flagstaff, and the Stars and Stripes fluttered in the breeze. Another joined him and the banner of Great Britain flew beside the flag of America. Beside them appeared the Red Cross banner.

"Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

Cheer on cheer was loosed from the crowded decks of the transport as the doughboy band blared forth that typically Yankee air.

Go to Camp Mills Today.

The repatriated Americans were not taken off the ship tonight, and at 9 o'clock, more than two hours after the ship had docked, they were still cheering and singing and the heroic kiltie band was still upon the pier. Tomorrow the Yanks who fought for Britain will go to Camp Mills, there to be discharged.

Among them is Lieut. M. J. Arlott of Englewood, Chicago, and his wife, who are on their way to live with T. S. Kennan at 109 East Fifty-third street, Chicago, until they can reëstablish their home.

When England went to war in 1914 Arlott tried to enlist in Canada. Refused there, he cabled London, offering his services. The reply came that he would be accepted if he would pay his own expenses to England. He sailed less than a month after war was declared and served a year in Palestine and three in France.

Jewish Legionnaires Back.

The first contingent of the Jewish legion, recruited in America to fight in Palestine, returned on the Mauretania.

Among the legionnaires who returned today was Private Harry Panzick of 1122 West Fourteenth street, Chicago. He fought under Gen. Allenby and was cited for bravery.

Other Chicago members of the Jewish legion who returned were Lance Corporal Samuel Misskin, 1357 South Springfield avenue; Private Abe Sher, 1950 West Washington street, and Private Charles Ruchnick, 1820 West Taylor street.

Private Leo Genty, 1727 Lunt avenue, returned wearing the military cross. He won it when he stopped a team running away with a wagon loaded with high explosives.

MAURETANIA DOCKS WITH 1,080 YANKS AND 2,700 OTHERS

NEW YORK, April 7.—[Special.]—The Cunard liner Mauretania, with 1,080 doughboys on board, docked here this evening. The vessel also carried 2,700 American citizens who have been serving in the British army. An abstract of the personnel of the American troops on board follows:

MAURETANIA—Seven officers and 826 men of the Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh infantry detachment, divided among Camps Funston, Gordon, Lee, Devens, Wadsworth, Sherman, and 179 to Dodge; four officers and 197 men of the Twelfth aero construction company; nineteen casual officers, twenty-two sick and wounded; three casual enlisted men and two casual civilians. Total on board 1,080.

Private Thomas F. Wright, 26 South Saginaw street, wears the British star of 1914, which means that he fought at Mons. He was wounded in the first battle of the Somme.

Gunner Louis Brouillard, 46 years old, quit his job as chef in an Evanston hotel, told the British authorities he was 32 years old, and got into the uniform of the royal field artillery.

"I was at Hamel on July 4," Brouillard said. "The One Hundred and Eighth engineers were there with us, you know, and fifteen of them borrowed Australian uniforms that day and went over the top with the Anzacs.

"That night, regardless of everything, those Chicago birds celebrated the Fourth of July with a whopping fire. When they did that I installed myself in my favorite dugout—eighteen feet deep. Pretty soon I heard a blast and went out. Fritz had seen the fire and had dropped a big shell right in the middle of it. Only one man was wounded."

Sergt. John H. Morrill of the Clarendon Beach hotel gave up a good job to enter the Royal Horse artillery two years ago. He was gassed.

Other Chicagoans Return.

Other Chicagoans who had been fighting for Britain and returned today included:

Capt. T. McL. Jasper, Privates James Marshall, 444 South Clark street; W. C. Phelps, Oak Park; W. J. Shaler, 2648 Jackson boulevard; Alexander Duncan, D. M. Kelley, 3340 West Polk street; Frank Hallman, 834 North Austin avenue, Oak Park; Thomas Dowling, 2943 Arthington street; John Keenan, 247 Ogden avenue.

Private Harry Kennedy, 640 North Cicero avenue, fought three years in France and Flanders. He was wounded at Ypres and Arras.

Maj. H. A. Burne, who returned in command of the repatriated Yanks, is an Australian, but before the war he had been employed for three years by a Chicago engraving company.

REEVES FREED; MAKES BONFIRE OF HIS ALIBIS

Melville A. Reeves, followed and trailed and hunted by the police for more than six years, went to the lake front yesterday afternoon and built himself a little bonfire of several thousand street car transfers—transfers enough to fill two suitcases. Reeves had been saving the transfers for nearly five years. Each one represented an alibi; each one would show where he was at any day in those years and at what hour he was there.

"The police picked me up for so many things I didn't do," he said, "that I had to have the proof with me all the time. I never threw away a transfer. If I did I might find myself in jail again—'on suspicion.' But I don't need the transfers any more. I'm free."

The troubles of the Reeves' began six years ago when he was arrested for the robbery of the safe of T. J. Hyman, secretary of the Illinois Steel company, from which jewelry owned by his daughter, Mrs. Jessie Porter, was taken. The name "skyscraper burglar" was fastened on Reeves. His wife was acquitted at the first trial, and when the second trial was called yesterday the case was dismissed, with leave to reinstate.

CITY HALL NOT WORRYING AS TO NEXT PRESIDENT

Faherty Suggests It Pay Attention to City Problems.

A wireless last night from the Villa Lundin at Fox Lake, where Mayor Thompson spent his week end rest-up preparatory to his launching the big fight on the Municipal Voters' league, conveys the intelligence that the city hall folks are not going to worry about presidential politics for some time.

The "Mighty Mike Faherty," as the mayor called him in his recent campaign speeches, president of the board of local improvements, laid down the law to the hall crowd yesterday.

"What's the use of fussing about who's going to be president or governor or ward committeeman or anything else?" he asked. "This administration has been reëlected and charged with putting Chicago on the map as it should be put there. There are so many great big things to be done for this town in the next four years that I haven't any time to worry about somebody's political boom. If the legislature will just fix it so I can get that $100,000,000 bond issue you won't know this town in four years.

Wants to Do "Big Things."

Asked if that went for the mayor, too, he said:

"The mayor will do all the talking for himself. I am just thinking of my job and what's before us. Most of this politics is all bunk anyway. I want to work on big plans for Chicago's growth. But my guess is you will see this administration working hand in hand on all sides to do big and permanent things for Chicago."

However, the Fox Lake conference, according to the wireless, probably took up the question of state and national politics during the rest periods, but all agreed, it is rumored, that such things should be forgotten for the present and everything speeded up in the effort to put through the improvement program in Chicago.

Borah and Harding.

Meanwhile some of the city hall leaders are talking rather enthusiastically of United States Senator Borah of Idaho as a possible presidential candidate who might appeal to Republicans who derive their inspiration from the hall.

His speech Saturday night pleased the Sinn Feiners very much, as well as the Home Rulers, of whom there are quite a few in the city hall entourage.

United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio also is receiving honorable mention from some of the mayor's cabinet members.

Others feel that whoever is nominated for president on the Republican ticket will be elected, as well as the Illinois state, senatorial, and congressional tickets, and that it is not worth while to make a fight for any one, but go along with the program for Chicago improvements.

May Let Lowden Alone.

While the hall is not feeling kindly toward Gov. Lowden, some of the wheel horses insist that the main thing is to see the Republican party victorious in the nation, and that if Lowden can put it over they are willing to let him have a "favorite son" delegation from Illinois, though it might cost them a bit of a pang to heap coals upon the governor's head.

But the mayor is still the national committeeman for Illinois and probably will seek reëlection to that post. In that event it would be up to him to do all in his power for the national ticket. If Lowden should receive the nomination, even with the Illinois delegation divided, the mayor then would have to go out and make a fight for him after the convention.

Accordingly the wireless news is that the hall will not become entangled in national politics for the present but will first devote its attention to the M. V. L. and the organization of the new council.

No Cabinet Changes.

What the conference did on the question of the mayor's new cabinet was not divulged. It was stated, however, that no one will be forced out of his present position. What changes may come, it was stated, will be a shifting around to new positions and any vacancies that may result from voluntary resignations.

If the school board slate that the mayor will submit to the new council goes through then Smoke Inspector W. H. Reid probably will be tendered the head of the public works department. Charles R. Francis, now holding down this place, is slated to return to his former job as attorney for the school board.

A. H. Miller, who lost out with the "solid six" and got the chief clerkship in the comptroller's office, probably will return as secretary of the school board if the Thompson slate goes through.

Capt. Percy B. Coffin, who was business manager of the school board under the "solid six" and who went back to his job as president of the civil service commission when the Supreme court ousted the hall appointees, is slated to return to the school board job.

It was rumored yesterday that the Thompson people might land the chief clerkship of the sanitary district board. John McGillen, a Sullivan man, now holds the job.

May Shake Up Police.

There was also gossip in the hall that there might be a shakeup in the police department, but the real inside dope is that Chief Garrity can stay as long as he wants to. So far as the mayor is concerned—and he is the only one who can name a successor—the chief is ace high. If Garrity gets out it will be because he wants to retire and not because he will be asked to quit. He is absolutely solid with the mayor. The mayor and Mr. Lundin will return to Chicago today.

To Cut Precincts Number.

Redistricting of the city's voting precincts began yesterday at the election commissioners' offices. Chief Clerk James F. Sullivan said the work would take about six months, but unless a special election was held this fall to name delegates to the constitutional convention he would be in shipshape for next year's elections with a saving to the city of about $250,000.

He plans to cut the polling precincts from 2,215, the present number, to 2,000. The redistricting is undertaken under the new law which provides a maximum precinct of 600 voters instead of 400. The last general apportionment was in 1915, when 2,106 precincts were carved out. Since then additions have been made from year to year until the total has reached 2,215. This can now be cut something over 200 precincts, it is thought by the officials, by careful analysis of the registration.

The saving to the taxpayers would be represented by the saving in rent and salaries of judges and clerks.

EXHIBIT OPENING POSTPONED.

The opening of the All-American exposition, which had been set for May 3 at the Coliseum, has been postponed. It was stated yesterday by members of the executive committee that because many workers would be engaged in Liberty loan activities, it was thought best to set the date forward to the latter part of May or early in June.

The SENATOR TALKS

It was quite a nutty session the Republican county committee held yesterday at the La Salle. The party supernumeraries met to talk over a few bills now hanging between the chloroform bottle and the calendar at Springfield, but noboby, not even Homer Galpin, could give an intelligent idea of what the bills contained. So they appointed a committee to find out and let it go at that temporarily.

"It doesn't seem right for us to indorse bills we don't know anything about," said Niels Juul. "They might contain surprise packages."

Juul was right. The Spitzbergen Glee club had the real hunch—more than one surprise was in the poke. The inside stuff began to trickle out later in the grillroom.

"What about this fifty ward bill?" asks a Deneen member.

"A good idea," says I. "Fifty wards; fifty aldermen instead of seventy; better work at the hall and more of it for the money. And with a Republican legislature doing the carving you Republicans surely have no worry over the reapportionment."

"Where d'ye get that noise?" says the Deneenites. "The Brundage men fixed up the ward boundaries in that bill and they've tried to put Roy West in a pocket."

"Well," says I, "they probably remember what Roy did in 1905, when the bosses loaded down the Chicago charter. Reciprocity is a Republican doctrine, isn't it? You remember that wild night at Springfield in 1905, when all the regulars descended upon the statehouse the last night of the session to fix up the ward boundaries so that every bird would have plenty of Republican votes in his ward. Roy, as I recall it, put up an awful howl and made them stick a few extra blocks on the side of his ward because they were filled with Deneen votes. It stuck out a thumb. Other bosses loaded down the apportionment, too, and when they got through the plat of the wards looked like one of these puzzle maps. It was a factor in the defeat of the charter. Now you men are yelling because Roy gets a dose of his own medicine."

"They've put too many Democratic votes in my ward, too," says the Deneen man. "Have I got a right to yell?"

"Why croak?" says I. "Adopt the new motto: 'Don't be a knocker; be an ostrich.'"

"What's this bill on primary law reforms which Homer was trying to explain?" says a country district member. "I couldn't make head or tail of it."

"You haven't anything on anybody else," says I. "Nobody seems to know what it means, that's why they appointed a committee to get the inside dope. This bill proposes to remove from direct primaries a few statutory offices, such as sanitary trustees, clerk of the Criminal court, assessors, and members of the board of review. Nominations for these jobs are to be made by the old style conventions. The conventions will consist of precinct committeemen. It looks as if the idea is to give the precinct committeemen something to do—at present they cut no ice. It looks like an opening wallop at direct primaries. Why don't you come out in the open and try to repeal the whole primary act?"

"Nothing doing," says a west sider. "All the politicians are for direct primaries. It makes things easier for us. And we don't have any responsibility. Let the people rule, or, what amounts to the same thing, let the people think they rule."

"Coming back to cases," says I. "This bill also lets the precinct committeemen pick the ward committeemen instead of electing them directly at the primaries. It's a return to the old stuff. But the real meat in the coco is that it provides for the election of delegates to the national conventions by congressional conventions instead of by direct vote at the polls. See how it works—the precinct committeemen in a county compose the county committee; the county committee picks delegates to the congressional conventions, and these in turn elect the national delegates. Brings up the prestige of the precinct wallopers a notch or two. It links up the water carriers of the party with any favorite son candidacy. Look it over. Is it a benefit or a detriment to a favorite son? It might give the politicians a little more stuff for trading purposes. But I don't know, it might——"

"What about slates?" asks a north sider.

"I've got one," says a Deneen bird. "Our fellows are talking of this: Lowden for president or vice president, and if he fails to land either then run him for governor; Deneen for senator, Brundage for attorney general, Fred Sterling for treasurer. How does it strike you?"

"Why hit the pipe so early?" says I. "It sounds plausible, but why rush the season so hard? The early slate catches the cracks."

RATE OF INTEREST ON VICTORY BONDS STILL IN DOUBT

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7.—The 5 per cent interest rate borne by the war finance corporation's new one year bonds, approved by the treasury, is not to be taken as an index of the rate on Victory Liberty loan notes, it was stated authoritatively today.

The treasury believes, it was explained, that securities, which are not direct obligations of the government must bear from ½ to ¾ per cent higher interest than government notes or bonds and that consequently there can be slight relationship between the rates of the war finance corporation bonds and of the Victory notes.

Suggestions that the Victory issue should bear at least 5 per cent are reaching the treasury persistently from banking and other commercial interests, but apparently the proposals are not looked on favorably. Rates of 4½ or even 4¼, as carried by the last two issues of bonds, have been discussed by treasury officials much more than the higher rate.

Secretary Glass is known to believe that 5 per cent is entirely too high for government notes partially tax exempt.

The rate and other terms of the loan will be determined within the next week or ten days and announced only a few days before April 21, when the selling campaign opens.

'WOMEN OF PEP' SLOGAN WINS 'V' LOAN HONOR

BY LUCY CALHOUN.

Miss Lillian Farnam, a small gray haired woman, has been a public school teacher in West Pullman for a number of years. She was hearing a spelling lesson yesterday morning when word came that she had won the slogan prize in the women's Victory loan contests—the prize to be a beautiful white silk banner with a large V for Victory, worked out in gold and green laurel leaves.

Everybody said Miss Farnam must have a holiday and go down to the big Victory loan luncheon and meeting at the Blackstone hotel. So the principal granted the holiday, and the spelling teacher transferred the spelling book to an assistant, put on her bonnet, and hurried away to the meeting.

It was a wonderful meeting, she said. The big crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel was crowded with women, splendid women who had worked hard in all the other loans and who were even more determined to make a success of this one. There weren't enough chairs for everybody, not even in the gallery.

Prominent Women Present.

The young girls that they call the special service squad were all there—Miss Peggy Hambleton, Miss Kathryn Simmons, Miss Mary Cooke, Miss Lucretia Green, Miss Henrietta Wurts, Miss Dorothy Wilsey, that pretty little Mrs. Mark Walton, and dozens of others wearing their new Victory sailors decorated with the colors of the day. Then there was Mrs. Joseph Coleman, who had just accepted the chairmanship of the Twenty-first ward organization, and who was already getting her forces together; Mrs. Howard T. Willson, who has charge of all the state for the women; Miss Grace Dixon, who has charge of five states in the Seventh federal reserve district, and Mrs. George Bass of the national committee, to say nothing of Mrs. Jacob Baur herself, ablest of she generals, who presided at the meeting as the chairman of the Chicago women's organization and who presented the banner to Miss Farnam for her club, the Roseland Woman's club, of which she is the president.

A Slogan of Pep.

Every woman's club in the city had been asked to contest for it and the Roselanders, a club of business and professional women, who have to hold all their meetings at night, won the prize with Miss Farnam's contribution:

"Women of pep
Get in step.
Go over the top
Before we stop."

It was a proud moment when the flag was presented and everybody cheered. The slogan will be used on all the campaign literature of the women's organization for the Victory loan.

Urges Enthusiasm.

Mrs. Bass told the women at the meeting that, although they must not look for 5 per cent on the Victory loan, it was quite possible that they might get 4¾. Miss Grace Dixon took enthusiasm as the keynote for her speech, urging the women to enter the present campaign with even more zeal than they had displayed in preceding ones.

Maj. Reed Landis described to the audience how it felt to have the roof of a hospital fall down on you and to be rescued by a woman nurse.

"SHOCK FORCES" FOR VICTORY LOAN FILL CARTRIDGE BELTS

CHICAGO Victory Liberty loan "shock forces"—those who will lay the oral barrage—are going to "treat 'em rough." So if you don't wish to be called a "quitter," a defender of cowardice, or something else that hurts, you had better not let one of the 250 loan speakers who prepared for "zero hour" last night know you don't intend to buy a bond.

"It's not all over over there," warned Capt. Paul Perigold of the French army, who was one of the principal speakers at a dinner of the loan speakers at the Hotel La Salle. "Right now Germany is trying through bolshevism to start a more dangerous state of affairs than existed while the German empire stood."

Lieut. Col. Noble B. Judah Jr., who served with the Rainbow division, told of the remarkable spirit which existed among the American troops.

"It was always get your man," he said. "The American boys did not understand trench war. But they did know how to go after their man. I never saw an American soldier lying dead on the battlefield whose head was turned from the enemy, unless he had turned and died while trying to save himself."

Mrs. George Patterson, who served as a nurse with a French medical unit and was awarded the croix de guerre, spoke from the woman's viewpoint.

DOCTOR'S SLAYER STABS SELF TO DEATH IN PRISON

Charles Ganaro, a maniac who shot and killed Dr. Joseph S. Gentile of the Columbus hospital Dec. 15, put "finis" to the tragedy by stabbing himself mortally in the hospital of the penitentiary at Joliet.

He thus made good a threat which he made when he was sent to Joliet and which Warden Murphy had been guarding against. A careful watch, the warden said, had been kept over him for weeks.

About 9 o'clock Sunday night Ganaro broke a window in the hospital and with a large sliver of glass stabbed himself repeatedly.

Ganaro shot Dr. Gentile while the latter was attending him professionally at 720 Aberdeen street. The physician was writing out a prescription when Ganaro suddenly drew a revolver and fired three shots, the third taking effect in the abdomen. The doctor died the next day.

CONVOY SYSTEM BEAT U-BOATS, SIMS DECLARES

Rear Admiral Is Greeted Wildly on Arrival in New York.

New York, April 7.—The convoy system, which many naval men had termed impracticable, overcame the German submarine menace and figured tremendously in the winning of the war, Rear Admiral William S. Sims, commander in chief of the American navy's forces in European waters, declared today on his arrival here aboard the British liner Mauretania.

Depth charges and listening devices, he said, contributed materially to success in maintaining practically unbroken the trans-Atlantic "bridge" of transports and supply ships essential to the allied victory, as did the "magnificent work" of the merchant seamen, who "took their cargoes across, convoy or no convoy."

Joint Plan Worked Out.

But it was the convoying scheme, worked out to a fine detail by the combined fleets of the associated powers, the officer asserted, which made possible the transportation and supplying of the great American force whose appearance in battle with the allies turned the tide against the German invaders on the western front.

Germany was winning the war, Rear Admiral Sims stated, when he arrived in England the day after the United States became a belligerent.

A vice admiral while he was abroad, under a temporary ranking, Sims returned in the uniform of a rear admiral—his rank before the war.

Greeted by Hylan.

From his family the returning commander turned to Rear Admiral D. H Burrage, who extended the formal welcome of the navy. To this was added, by Mayor Hylan, that of the city of New York.

The Mauretania entered the harbor in midafternoon, delayed since early morning by a fog which shrouded the coastal waters for many miles. A great fleet of airplanes, a flotilla of destroyers, and smaller naval craft escorted the liner. In a din of salutes from the harbor forts, whistles from welcoming vessels, and cheers of the officers' soldier shipmates, the big vessel lay to off quarantine while the trans-shipment took place.

The admiral declared the relations between his forces and the British had been ideal.

"We were a minority in the allied fleet," he continued, "but we had the satisfaction of knowing that in quality we ranked, ship for ship, with the best of them."

To England Incognito.

How Rear Admiral Sims, accompanied by one aid, proceeded incognito into England under navy department orders issued him two weeks before the United States entered the war, was told the Associated Press by the admiral here tonight.

On March 24 or 25, 1917, the admiral said, while he was president of the Naval War college at Newport, he was ordered to report "without delay" to the secretary of the navy at Washington. There he was received in secret conference with Secretary Daniels and Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations.

He was told that it "looked as though we shall go to war," and it was briefly explained that he was to go at once "to see the people on the other side."

In Civilian Clothes.

Commander J. V. Babcock of New Hampton, Ia., aid to Admiral Sims at Newport, was chosen to accompany him, and both officers immediately donned civilian clothes and assumed the names of "Richardson and Robertson." They sailed from New York March 31, 1917, on the steamship New York.

Entering Liverpool harbor on April 9 the steamer struck a mine and a hole was blown in one of its forward compartments, but the admiral and his aid were "not especially disturbed."

At Liverpool they went ashore unnoticed, but found a special train waiting Admiral Hope of the British admiralty.

They arrived in London on April 10 and went at once to the admiralty offices, where Admiral Sims went into conference with Admiral Jellicoe.

On April 13 at a luncheon in London the United States ambassador made the formal announcement that Admiral Sims had arrived and then the admiral and hi said reappeared in navy uniforms.

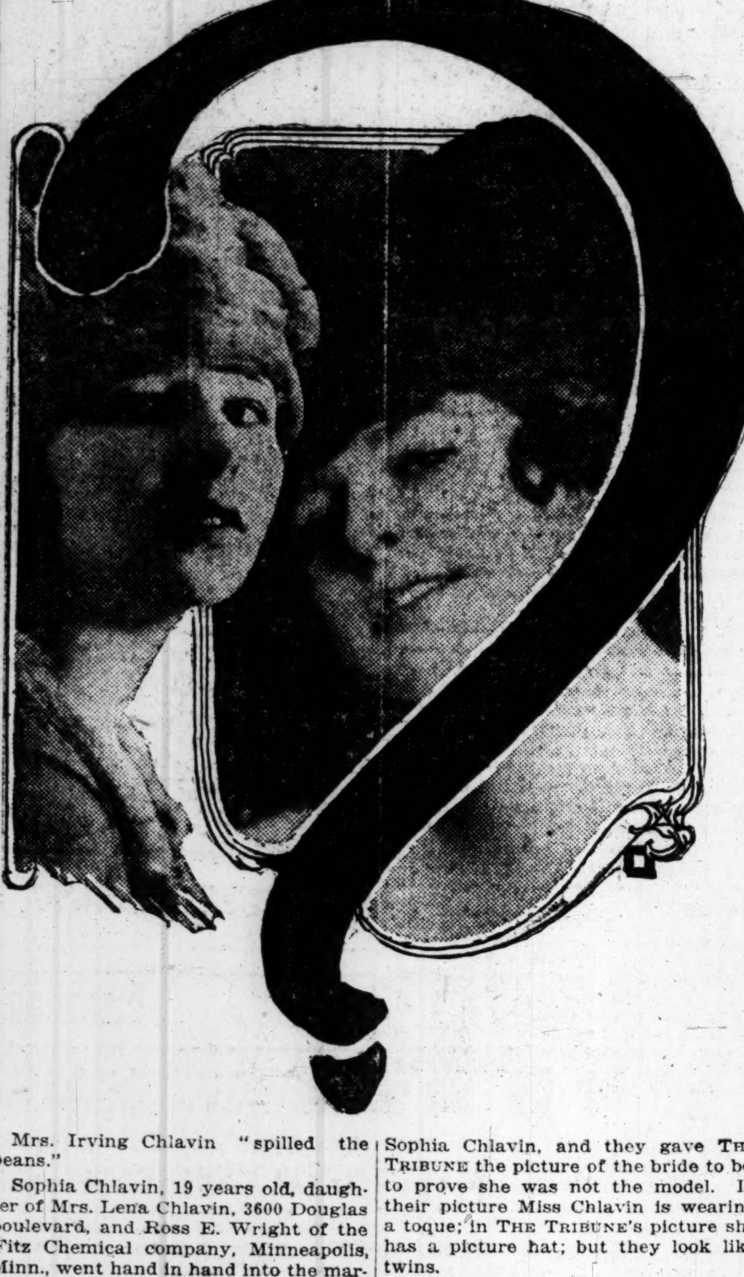
Sophia Chlavin to Wed; Says Photo of "Toque Girl" Is Hers; Other Her "Cousin's."



Mrs. Irving Chlavin "spilled the beans."

Sophia Chlavin, 19 years old, daughter of Mrs. Lena Chlavin, 3600 Douglas boulevard, and Ross E. Wright of the Fitz Chemical company, Minneapolis, Minn., went hand in hand into the marriage license office yesterday and got the official permission to wed. The ceremony will be performed today at Temple Judea.

In THE TRIBUNE files there was a picture of Miss Sophia Chlavin, a model, a beautiful young girl. But Miss Chlavin's relatives said this was not this Sophia Chlavin, but another Sophia Chlavin, and they gave THE TRIBUNE the picture of the bride to be, to prove she was not the model. In their picture Miss Chlavin is wearing a toque; in THE TRIBUNE's picture she has a picture hat; but they look like twins.

"The other Sophia Chlavin is a cousin," Mr. Wright said. "Same name; but most assuredly not the same girl."

Mrs. Irving Chlavin, who lives at 2636 Potomac avenue, however, declares there is only one Sophia, and she has no cousin, and Sophia was a model —and there you are.

County Commissioners Go to Urge New Taxes

A delegation of county commissioners, under the leadership of Frank J. Wilson, will leave for Springfield today to ask passage of two tax bills pending before the legislature.

One provides for a special tax to cover mothers' pension claims. This, if passed, will relieve the drain on the county corporate funds and save approximately $350,000 for other uses, the commissioners contend.

Another will give a 10 cent increase in county taxes. Estimates made at a meeting of the legislative committee yesterday indicated that $995,000 in additional revenue will be needed.

SAN FRANCISCO MAYOR URGES U. S. AID FOR SOLDIERS

Mayor James Rolph Jr. of San Francisco would like congress to convene at once to help the nation solve the problems of reconstruction. He said so yesterday when he paused for a few hours in Chicago en route from New York to his home.

"Soldiers' jobs and business difficulties incident to transferring the country from a war to a peace basis," he stated, "merit consideration by congress, which could render constructive aid if it would."

Mayor Rolph was accompanied by Mrs. Rolph and Powder River, a black cat. The latter had joined the family in New York, where the mayor had spent a strenuous week welcoming the Three Hundred and Seventy-third infantry and the Three Hundred and Forty-seventh field artillery, both of the Ninety-first division, composed principally of California men. While the mayor was addressing the men at Camp Merritt, where they are held pending demobilization, Powder River mounted the platform.

"That's good luck!" cried one of the returned heroes.

"Then I'll keep it with me," the mayor responded; and he did.

GOOD OF WORLD ENGLAND'S AIM —GALSWORTHY

Novelist Explains British Reason for Favoring World League.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"It was an unfair statement Senator Borah made Saturday night when he said 'this league of nations might be called a league to protect the territorial integrity of the British empire,'" said John Galsworthy yesterday afternoon.

"It is the sort of statement which a man who had lived in Europe during the last four years could not make.

"Those four years have taught us, all of us, English, French, Belgian, every one of us that there is something higher and greater than our own nationality. The sum of human misery has been too near us.

"We have learned to feel that something must be done to try and lessen it. These British diplomats whom Senator Borah thinks so selfish have learned it.

"Into the world over there, at all events, the iron has entered. We think it inconceivable that the greed of any one nation could come before the ideal for all nations.

England Wants League.

"England wants what France wants and what you want—a future in which a repetition of these last four years would be impossible. She wants that first of all. Naturally, she wants to protect her power. So does France. So does the United States. But what England wants first is what your president wants—a league that will do the whole world some good."

"What about Ireland?" I asked.

"There you have me. The solution of the Irish question seems so simple to Americans. There is one solution which would be simple, for England to leave Ireland, lock, stock, and barrell. The next ten years in Ireland would be very interesting," he said, with a whimsical twinkle in his eye and a half wry smile.

Irish in Civil War.

"It would take just about that length of time for their civil war to run its course, and at the end of that time—peace, perfect peace. You see you don't understand how absolutely uncompromising the two factions in Ireland are. The Ulsterites and the Nationalists, or whatever they should now be called, are—well, the two poles.

"We have a political problem here that won't come right," I said. "We elected the wrong mayor four years ago, and we've just gone and elected him again. What do you do in England when you elect the wrong mayor?

"Well it's almost an impossibility to elect the wrong mayor over there because his chief duties are to make a good after dinner speech and to say the proper thing when he is interviewed by the press, and he always does both. All mayors are alike in England. Don't take me seriously."

And then because literature is the life of this greatest of English novelists and this one the least of American reviewers, we talked about English and American novelists and poets and essayists.

"Through literature, through the common language," he said, "England and America should grow into a complete understanding of each other. So called propaganda does little good.

He will give a lecture tonight at Orchestra hall on "The Briton and America." The entire proceeds from all of his lectures go to war relief or reconstruction funds. Tonight they will go to the fund for relief in Armenia and the near east. Tomorrow night he will give the William Vaughn Moody lecture at the University of Chicago.

ISN'T CHICAGO DIRTY?

Mr. Galsworthy startled an interviewer yesterday afternoon by exclaiming about Chicago smoke. "Isn't it awful here in Chicago? We ought to stop smoke. It's dirty. It keeps us from being cheerful. Dirt reacts mentally. All physical conditions affect the mentality, it is asserted nowadays. Do you sometimes have clear days here? It is worse in England. Your city is spread out more than ours are—on the prairie. That will help."

T. ATKINS GOES TO BLIGHTY FOR POSING AS YANK

Comes to Chicago to See Woman Who Made His Sweater; Robs.

Sewed in the hem of the khaki sweater jacket was a card which read, "Made by Mrs. Egan, 1423 East Forty-fifth place, Chicago."

Corporal Sidney James Wyles of the Durham light infantry, enlisted from Glasgow, had just been brought in from the bloody battlefield and dropped off at a busy American hospital in France. This was in October, 1918. His left eye had been shot out, he was unconscious, and his uniform was torn to shreds.

The good Samaritans of the hospital tended to his wounds, threw away his tattered clothes, and gave him a new outfit—and the sweater.

When Corporal Wyles "came to" he found he was listed as one of the "American wounded." He made no complaint about that, and even less when the order came to send a batch of the "movable cases" back to America on the transport Orizaba. Corporal Wyles landed at New York on Jan. 28 and became a patient at the Greenhut hospital. And a week later saw him take "French leave" from that institution.

Heads for Mrs. Egan's Home.

With him Corporal Wyles took his sweater. With $240 in his pocket and Mrs. Egan's card as his "destination tag," he headed for Chicago and Forty-seventh place. It was a big surprise party when he arrived, but he was a war hero and she invited him in. For six weeks he stayed as a roomer. Then he disappeared.

"He didn't pay me the rent for the room, but the worst part is that he took a watch and chain belonging to a roomer, borrowed $40 from him, and also took cuff buttons and gloves from another one," Mrs. Egan told Maj. H. H. Brunt, acting British provost marshal in Chicago.

The major notified the immigration authorities of Corporal Wyles' unusual adventure. They started a hunt for him and located him on a farm near Medford, Wis. Yesterday Wyles was in the Cook county jail awaiting deportation back to England, where he will face trial as a deserter. His punishment, however, will probably be light in view of his record on the battlefield.

Decides to Pose as Yank.

"I am the last of my family, so I figured I might just as well be in America as over in England," Wyles said.

"When I got shot last October and awakened to consciousness in an American hospital with my eye gone, wearing American things and every one thinking I belonged to the Yank army, I just kept still. So they put me on the Orizaba as a stretcher case and over I came.

"I found the card in the sweater they gave me in the American hospital, and, not having any other place to go, I thought I would drop in and see Mrs. Egan. I thought I was staying at her home as her guest."

MISTRESS OF SEA AND AIR.

There was a time when the United States had a place on the seas. It has passed. We have an opportunity to take a commanding place in the air. It is passing.

But not in England. No water goes stagnant for want of a British ship to stir it up; no air pockets are going unpenetrated if British air service can help it. We probably shall urge in vain for some salvaging of our deplorable aircraft program and some hopeful energy in its maintenance; but we cannot refrain from a note of admiration mixed with envy when we observe the rugged initiative of the British, who, despite war losses, proceed vigorously to keep their house in good order.

We are taking some sentences from the statement of Maj. Gen. Seely, undersecretary for air, who has just asked the house of commons for $325,000,000 for the support of aircraft. "Had the war gone on we should have asked for $1,000,000,000," said Gen. Seely, and by that gentle suggestion sending home the tremendous importance of airplanes in peace and conflict.

"We started [the war] with six squadrons," said Gen. Seely, "and we finished with about 200. We were spending then about $5,000,000, while at the time of the armistice we were spending about $1,000,000,000. At the first we could build few airplanes and very few engines, but when the armistice was signed we were building 4,000 airplanes a month, or nearly 50,000 a year."

How oddly these figures contrast with our own miserable flounderings about! It will be observed that England in the beginning of the war was no better off than we were in the similar crisis. But did our air fleet expand from six squadrons to about 200? And did we achieve an air construction of 50,000 a year? No; we talked about these large and mouth filling figures and sent photographs about the country and filled the newspapers with limitless buncombe, but we didn't have the planes; a mere oversight, perhaps.

It may be argued that England had four years in which to bring about the expansion of its air fleet. But, on the other hand, was there anything in British or French or Italian aircraft production kept a secret from our American designers? On the contrary, every design and pattern and document and record in the possession of these allies, and produced at the expense of infinite study and enormous sacrifice of life in the field, was placed at the disposal of Baker's war department. And he chose rather to fiddle with things he knew not of than accept the proved and demonstrated propositions of the battlefield.

"—but he would be a rash man," said Gen. Seely, in the course of his report, "who said there was no risk of this country being attacked in the future [cries of 'Hear, hear!'], and I am sure that all members who consider the subject will see that the power of aerial attack is so great and so swift, and the preparations for it can be made so secretly, that we should be gravely to blame—anxiously as we look forward to a more peaceful world, certain as we are that we shall secure a just and lasting peace—if we neglected the defense of what I may call our air as we protect our surrounding seas."

He who scoffs at the future of aircraft would have ridiculed the telegraph, steam transportation, and high power gunnery. It will be too late when the thing happens. The war has taught England that the worst crime against humanity is the unpreparedness which results in the useless destruction of men and materials. The bravest cave man could not stand against a rifle. This war has shown that the mightiest army is helpless against the eyes that peer out of the sky.

We do not suppose the present administration, its head in the clouds of temporary security, will reinforce the prospects of peace with useful precautions; we can only point dumbly at England fortifying "her seas" and "her air."

TAKIN' 'EM OFF.

They begin to scratch a little at this time of year and each moist irritation becomes an imp of spring prodding the wavering citizen to desert his firm ideals of health and take 'em off.

But takin' 'em off when the first (and last) bock beer signs appear and the diligent householder is seen struggling heatedly with the storm windows and the summer screens is a confession of weakness. Keepin' 'em on requires courage. Keepin' 'em on during the equinox approaches the ruggedness of the man who used yellow soap on his teeth; it's good for the character.

Yesterday the gardeners were bringing out the green benches in Lincoln park; but keep 'em on. Park benches in their season become the indolent couches of potential Haroun-al-Raschids, sniffing the cool lake breezes and scorning the hot dust storms that originate on the Clark street pavements. But ere this reaches you the snow may once more be swishing under the cast iron legs of those same benches; wherefore, keep 'em on.

Ye lightsome helmet of straw and the suffocating furs that keep women cool in tropic swelter are with us anon; but don't take 'em off. Spring flowers are bowing in the gentlest of zephyrs and the moving man pauses between piano and dining room table third flight up, goods delivered in the rear, where the janitor has left the garbage can on the bottom step, to slake his thirst from the 10 cent growler that now holds a quarter's worth; but keep 'em on.

The thoughtful citizen breathes deeply of spring air in the morning and greets the sun with a broad smile; but he fares forth with an umbrella, gum shoes, and a raincoat, for who knows but the sleeve of Jupiter Pluvius, whence issues coy vernal showers, also contains a buffet of snow for the unwary. Jupiter is a droll wag; hence keep 'em on.

The suburban roads bloom with new painted signs telling of chickens and fish; but spring chickens can be immortal in cold storage and so also fish; wherefore, be not unduly romantic, but rather keep steadfast and reflect that while cold storage spring poultry may be immortal, you, if you take 'em off, are suddenly not.

The first buds, the first blades of grass, the first barefoot boy, the first in swimming, and the first open air peanut venders are irrevocable signs of spring. Youth begins to sigh like a furnace and the elders sigh for garden sass from the salad patch. Certainly they begin to itch and irritate and plead, but spring is historically a falsifier; so don't be led astray—keep 'em on.

FOR OUR OWN SECURITY.

The League of Nations which the United States is about to join is the old entente, with Russia withdrawn and Italy added. Its controlling body, the council, will be composed of Great Britain and France, which have an alliance; Japan, which has an alliance with Great Britain; Italy, which withdrew from the central alliance to make war on Austria, and the United States, which never has been committed to alliances.

These five powers may nominate the other four members of the council from time to time. The appointing power controls. The appointing power is in the hands of the British-French and the British-Japanese alliance.

The man power of Europe is east of the Rhine. This power is now inchoate, with Russia under Lenine, Hungary a communist republic, Bavaria evolving into a communist republic, Prussia still threatened by the Spartacans, and no country east of the Rhine assured against social revolution.

None of these great masses of people could make international agreements if they wanted to because the permanent authority which could commit a nation does not exist. These people are fluid at this time and they may remain fluid for many years.

Agreements come out of established order which has within it a guaranty of its continuance. We cannot rely upon the permanence of an agreement unless we can rely upon the permanence of the government making the agreement. For this reason we cannot rely upon eastern Europe. Atlantic Europe is afraid of central and eastern Europe—probably more afraid of it now than it was ten years ago.

The league of nations was intended, in the vision of idealists, to eliminate armed strife. It can have no such promise now because it will be only an alliance of a few powers already in opposition, fundamental opposition, to a great and active part of the world, a part of the world in ferment.

Disarmament, then, is a futile dream. The nations of the league must be strong, and the stronger the individual unit in the league the safer that unit will be.

We cannot reconcile ourselves to a scheme which will project the United States into the troubles of Europe unless such troubles inherently are our troubles, and we do not believe that the United States should join a league or enter into an alliance unless it reserves to itself the things necessary for its own security.

We do believe that the United States should prepare itself to stand in its own strength for its own safety. The United States can be safe if it will develop the school of nationalization and citizenship known as universal service, if it will take its young men, train them, and return them to civil life. The league of nations will make no nation safe. It may make a weak nation a great deal of trouble.

We must have an army for our own purposes. Why not have a simple one and a good one under universal service and get both security and citizenship by-products?

MAKE IT FIVE PER CENT.

A committee of Chicago bankers and business men have left for Washington to discuss the coming bond campaign. They will urge, we understand, that the interest rate on the new issue be fixed at 5 per cent, and Secretary Glass may rest assured that they will express the business and financial judgment of the middle west.

THE TRIBUNE already has called attention to the scandal and injustice involved in the depreciation of preceding war issues and has asked for practical measures to bring these pledges of the government back to the price which the people paid for them. The final war issue should be protected from the same discreditable fate. Men and women of small means have answered previous appeals and in hundreds of thousands of cases have purchased war bonds at sharp personal sacrifice. Their reward has been to find these pledges of the richest and strongest government in the world deteriorate in their hands almost over night.

This experience has been demoralizing and we think unnecessary. The buyers of the new issue should be safeguarded. Uncle Sam can afford to pay a sufficient rate for his borrowings, and citizens who patriotically respond to his appeal while many selfish men hold back should not be penalized for their public spirit.

We think the new issue should pay 5 per cent as a matter both of justice and good policy.

Editorial of the Day

THE DEATHLESS SPIRIT.

[From the Atlanta Constitution.]

"I'm not dead—I'm damned if I'll die!" was what Robert Graves—captain of the Royal Welsh Fusiliers—called out on the battlefield when he heard the stretcher bearers say: "They've got him!"

And he lived to write a stirring poem about it, and the incident furnished a theme for other singers, who pointed the moral of that utterance on the never-give-up line.

He was but one of many brave fighters whose grit is not the least part of their glory—men to whom we owe victory because they could smile in the face of death and held on with that unyielding spirit.

History cannot take note of all the seemingly little things that helped to make the world war battles great—battles that were crowded with heroes.

Here is another story of heroism and devotion which came to light through the Red Cross:

Just before the armistice there were two brothers in an American command and one watched the other go over the top and saw him fall.

In spite of stern protest, the brother who was not in the charge crawled, under fire, to the fallen one, and bore him back, where it was found that he was dead.

"I told you," said the captain, "it was useless—taking a risk like that."

"No," was the reply. "I have been abundantly rewarded! He had life enough left to clasp his arms around my neck and whisper: 'Tom, I knew you'd come!'"

In that, as in a thousand other instances, shines the spirit of love and devotion our home boys kept pure and high from first to last.

Do what thou wilt. Long known to fame
That ancient motto of Thélème.
To this our abbey hither bring,
Wisdom or wit, thine offering,
Or low or lofty be thine aim.

Here is no virtue in a name,
But all are free to play the game.
Here, welcome as the flow'rs of Spring,
Do what thou wilt.

Each in these halls a place may claim,
And is, if sad, alone to blame.
Kick up thy heels and dance and sing—
To any wild conceit give wing—
Be fool or sage, 'tis all the same—
Do what thou wilt.

TAKING bolshevism by and large, considering the happenings recorded in Russian newspapers and the reports given to the British commons in the white paper, the Trib asseverates that bolshevism is hell. But we should be careful not to condemn it hastily; we should "wait to hear from Raymond Robins," and to comprehend, with Dr. Fitch of Amherst, that the Russians are "merely seeking light and a fuller life." Hell, we should also remember, is paved with good intentions.

IT is not recorded by Dante, or other explorer of hell, that any denizen of the place found his discomfort mitigated by rapt contemplation of the pavement. Sympathetic interest in hell seems to be confined to those on the outside. Personally we don't care for it. But those who like it may go there and be damned to them.

A MOCKING ECHO.

(From "The Amethyst Ring.")

"General," said M. Lerond, "I am most interested in what you say. The success of our friends would be well received in France, and who knows if they might not be the means of stirring up a Royalist and clerical movement in this country?"

"Pardon me," said the General. "I make no prophecy regarding the future. As I have said before, the success of a campaign depends upon circumstances impossible to foresee. All I can do is to take into consideration the quality of the conflicting elements, and from this point of view the advantage is certainly with Spain, although her fleet does not include a sufficiency of naval units."

"Certain symptoms," said the Duke, "would point to the fact that the Americans have already begun to repent of their temerity. I have heard it positively stated that they are panic-stricken. They live in daily dread of seeing the Spanish ironclads appear on their coasts. The inhabitants of Boston, New York, and Philadelphia are fleeing inland en masse; in fact, a general panic exists." . . .

A servant entered, bringing the letters.

"Perhaps there will be some news of the war," said the Duke, opening a paper.

And in dead silence he read the following:

"Commodore Dewey has destroyed the Spanish fleet in the port of Manila. The Americans have not lost a man."

BERNARD SHAW'S reason for not visiting the United States would have been amusing ten years ago. Now it produces that ho-hum feeling.

[The Political News, of Detroit.]

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, head of the Methodist Temperance and Moral Board says that the cigarettes supplied American soldiers abroad were so full of dope that men on the firing line unable to smoke for an hour became "so shaken that they could not hold their guns and had to be taken out." One of his friends, a minister in the Y. M. C. A. work in France, was compelled to hold lighted cigarettes in his mouth to give the soldiers as they came from the battle line, unnerved because they had no "dope sticks." There can be no question that tobacco in any form, whether cigarette, pipe, or cigar, or the more disgusting "chew," is the deadly foe of the human organism, and deserves to be outlawed by a stiff prohibition law.

Public bathing ought also to be abolished and people prevented by law from indecent exposure of their persons, whether at Palm Beach, Florida, or Belle Isle, Detroit. If people need to wash, let them do it in private.

PITTSBURGH BEFORE THE MIRROR.

THE man who studied the vital statistics reports of fifteen years ago came away with a bad opinion of Pittsburgh. Then came the famous Pittsburgh survey, and a great many citizens of that city were made very unhappy. The facts disclosed by the survey were set forth graphically, statistically, by epigram and otherwise, and the volume of material gathered and its striking presentation caused it to be widely quoted to the discomfiture of many friends of Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh is now reaping the reward of its travail. Whereas they formerly had a fearfully high typhoid rate they now have a fairly good standing among cities seeking to control this disease. While they have not reached the high level attained by some they have come up in ten years about as far as any city.

Just before we entered the great war Drs. Frankel and Dublin made a health survey of Pittsburgh which gives that city a very good rating. The surveyors called at the homes of 127,737 people, estimated to be about one-fifth of the entire population. They inquired as to whether anybody in the household was away from work on account of sickness. In case a sick person was found, his age and nationality and the nature of his illness were recorded, also such information as to length of illness, whether he had seen a physician, whether he was in bed or walking around or in a hospital or attending a dispensary. The answer given as to the nature of the disabling illness was, of course, the version of the sick man and in some instances was inaccurate.

The sickness disability rate was found to be 1.6 per cent.

This is the lowest percentage of sickness found in a half dozen or more surveys, some of which covered rural populations and some city populations, some northern communities, and some southern. In Pittsburgh as elsewhere the men had a lower sickness rate than the women, although in Pittsburgh as elsewhere the death rate of the women is lower than that of the men.

Of those sick, 11.3 per cent were cared for in hospitals. This compares with 18 per cent in Boston, 14.4 per cent in Trenton, 10.7 per cent in Rochester, 2.6 per cent in West Virginia, and a like percentage in North Carolina.

There was an average of 7.1 hospital beds for each 1,000 population available in Pittsburgh. This compares with 9.8 per 1,000 for Boston and 5 per 1,000 for the country at large.

An unduly large percentage of the disability in Pittsburgh was due to accidents and injuries. Health departments have not yet begun campaigning against accidents, although in Pennsylvania the state department of labor is active in this direction.

ULCERATED TOOTH.

Miss H. R. writes: "I had an ulcerated tooth, which caused an abscess. This abscess formed into a hard lump. I went to the doctor, and he pulled the tooth out while the abscess was there, but that did not do any good. The lump remained, and I went back to the doctor. He told me to put hot poultices of antiphlogistine on and keep them on for twenty-four hours. I did so, and the abscess burst, discharging the pus. It burst on the outside of my face. The abscess is well, but there is a small, hard lump on my face. Will you let me know how to get rid of the lump? I am 15 years old."

REPLY.

Massage it twice a day. Begin with gentle massage and slowly increase the force used. Grease your finger tips before massage. If this does not cause the lump to grow less in size within a month, see your dentist and have an X-ray picture made if he thinks one necessary.

BABY ILLS.

J. L. R. writes: "What should be done to regulate a baby's bowels? They move only once in twenty-four hours and then only when castoria or a suppository is used. She has not wanted to take water until lately. She takes from four to eight ounces daily. She is broken out about her head with small boils. What shall we do to rid her of them, and are they caused from constipation? Can we give her orange juice and oatmeal water? Will they regulate her bowels and how much can we give her? She is four months old and weighs a few ounces over 14 pounds."

REPLY.

Give her orange juice and after that other fruit juices. Begin with two teaspoonfuls a day and increase it daily. Prune juice and apple juice are almost as good. Two months from now she can be taking oatmeal water in her milk and that will help. Do not overfeed her. She is growing rather too rapidly. The eruption is another sign that you are pushing a little too hard.

GOOD START.

S. L. writes: "I am a boy 15 years and 5 months old. I weigh 130 pounds. My height is 5 feet 8 inches. Will you please be kind enough to tell me my proper weight and height?"

REPLY.

About 134 pounds for your height. The proper height for that age is 4 feet 8 inches to 5 feet 8 inches. The proper weight varies between 80 and 134 pounds.

NEITHER HARM NOR GOOD.

A. K. writes: "Will you kindly tell me if the Epsom salts paste used to reduce would be injurious to use on the bust? Would it lead to anything serious later on? I have a large bust for my size and I would like much to use the paste if it would do no future harm."

REPLY.

It will do you neither harm nor good.

RE-ENLISTMENTS IN THE ARMY.

Camp Grant, Ill., April 4.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—1. Can a soldier who is in the army now get a discharge and reenlist in the regular army for the period of one year?

2. Could you enlist for foreign service?

3. Would you be entitled to a thirty day furlough and $60 bonus?

4. Could you get this discharge immediately if you desired to enlist for overseas service?

We saw in your paper where the nation calls for 50,000 men to volunteer for overseas service; answers to these questions would be greatly appreciated.

HAS FORFEITED NATURALIZATION RIGHTS.

Chicago, April 3.—[To the Friend of the People.]—A young man has asked a relative of mine to become witness for him in securing his second naturalization paper. We have doubts as to whether he would be entitled to them. He was registered in the draft, but when he was about to be called up he joined the Canadian forces. He is a British subject. He served in Canada about a year and was not abroad. He came back to his home in Chicago a few months ago. We do not know if he claimed exemption in the draft. We hardly think so, as he already had his first papers at the time of the draft.

Under these circumstances would he be entitled to make application for final papers?
M. D.

It is the position of the naturalization service that an alien who declared his intention and then enlisted in the armies of his native country thereby forfeited any rights to naturalization that he may have had under such declaration, and that in order to be naturalized such an alien should file a new declaration of intention and wait two years before petitioning for citizenship.

The question whether an alien who enlisted in the armies of his native country thereby lost his residence in the United States is one for judicial determination in each case.

BRING CIVIL SUIT TO RECOVER.

Chicago, April 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A check made payable to me was returned to me marked N. S. F. The party who made it out refuses to pay me. What can I do?

It is a crime to secure money in this way, knowing that one does not have the funds to meet the check. Probably you cannot make such proof, in which case you should employ an attorney to sue civilly.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SHOULD SELL PROPERTY.

Chicago, April 1.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A year and a half ago I bought a lot from a large real estate firm, paying 10 per cent at the time and $10 a month. I have kept up the payments regularly, but every month I find it harder to do so on account of sickness in my family. I am anxious, therefore, to sell. I realize that I have only the contract to sell, which the firm will allow me to assign. About $250 has already been paid in, in addition to 1918 taxes and interest.

Please advise if I have any equity in the amount paid in if I discontinue the installment payments, and what proportion the equity would be? Also what steps I would have to take to recover it.
A. M.

Your only remedy is to sell. You are not entitled to a refund.

RECOGNIZING CRIMINALS.

New York, March 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Information was recently published to the effect that the American peace delegation dispatched Lincoln Steffens and William C. Bullitt to Moscow in order to prepare data for the supreme council of the peace conference, which would enable it to recognize the bolshevist terroristic rule in Russia. The New York Tribune mentions that the ostensible reason for the dispatch of this commission is that "the members of the American peace delegation still profess ignorance on the Russian situation."

Is it possible that the American peace delegation really ignores the horrible and most hopeless nature of the Russian situation? Is it possible that their ignorance has not been dispelled by the testimony of practically all of the allied and neutral representatives who fled from Russia under the menace of the bolshevist bayonets? Do the members of the American delegation read some of the American papers? Have they ever heard anything of the Overman committee? Have they read of what Ambassador Francis, Mr. Simmons, Dr. Huntington, the Rev. Mr. Simons, etc., testified before the Overman committee? What proofs are needed in order to convince these gentlemen that the bolshevik rule is a hell and not a paradise?

Is it not the duty of the American public opinion to raise their voice in defense of the Russian people who are being murdered and plundered by the wholesale by a gang of irresponsible anarchists and criminal cutthroats? Herron's mission failed because of a combined effort on the part of the loyal Russians throughout the world. Now Herron is being substituted by Steffens and Bullitt.

It is up to the loyal, intelligent and great American people to make an immediate choice between crime and treason on the one hand, and loyalty on the other hand; between the bolshevik criminals, international dreamers, international criminals on the one hand, and the Russian people on the other.

LIEUT. BORIS BRASOL,
Vice chairman of the Voluntary Association of the Russian Army and Navy Officers in the United States.

THEY COULD BEAR THE NEWS.

Rock Island, Ill., April 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As a reader of your valuable paper I wish to make a plea to the newspapers to devote a little attention to the boys who were drafted into the regular army. We would like to see them home, as they have done their bit. But people forget about the regulars. They, like all the rest, have feelings and possibly could bear the news they were listed for early return.

AMERICA LAST.

Chicago, April 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Allow me to congratulate THE TRIBUNE on the editorials in connection with the foreign activities of so-called Americans.

It seems to me that the test of Americanism among the hyphenated classes is this: "Are they willing to sacrifice the foreign interests and policies of the United States in favor of the country of which they have also become partisans?"

According to my observation, these persons are willing to plunge the United States into war at any time and on any pretext in favor of their aims in connection with the foreign countries whose interests they have adopted. This has become an obsession, just like any other form of partisanship. The judgment is destroyed by a blind adherence to the one idea and no virtue will be admitted in any opposing forces. This peculiarity seems to be one of our national defects and partisanship runs through the system from baseball to politics. Questions are not decided on evidence or after careful consideration of both sides, but on feelings based on active partisanship. It would not be so bad if the partisanship were one of American interests only, but American interests in the big questions are sacrificed.

A WORD OF APPRECIATION.

Chicago, April 7.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I know that a great many of my friends and also others whom I do not know personally, not only in the legal profession but in other walks of life, put forth every effort within their command in connection with my recent campaign for reëlection as judge of the Superior court. Realizing the impossibility of reaching all of them individually, I take this means to thank them for all they did in my behalf and to assure them of my great appreciation.

BOND "SLICKERS."

Chicago, April 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—That was a fine article with regard to putting Liberty bonds at par. I hope the government acts upon it.

Now, if you will write another one urging the government to prosecute Liberty bond swindlers and make it more difficult to pass the bonds you will do a good task. There are too many crooks getting them through fraud, and the owners have very little or no recourse. The government should have a special department to run down such slickers.

NEW YORK FINDS ITSELF ALMOST WITHOUT A ROOF

Housing Problem Grows Acute with Return of Soldiers.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The housing problem in New York, due to the stoppage of building in 1916, has become acute. It is the same story in all the boroughs and suburbs. The homeseekers have outgrown New York's capacity, and thousands of families are unable to find places in which to live. Bonuses are being offered for flats and apartments. Many landlords have taken advantage of the situation to raise rents materially.

Housing experts agree that resumption of normal building will come soon, that prices for building materials are undergoing stabilization, and that by Oct. 1, the great renting and moving day, the situation will be much better.

There has been scant construction for two years, although the city's population has increased at about the normal rate of 100,000 a year. Soldiers are coming back to civil life, anxious to get into little homes with their families. They find apartments and flats almost impossible to get. Real estate agents are swamped with applications for apartments and they never had fewer vacant places on their lists.

Thousands Live in Lofts.

In some of the old business districts lofts have been rigged up into living quarters and thousands of families have gladly accepted these makeshift quarters.

The pinch is felt most by those of moderate incomes, the great body of clerks and artisans whose means limit rent allowances to $40 or $50 a month.

When the rents began to mount and houses began to be scarce many families sold their homes or rebelled against high rents and moved into hotels. Now they are trying to get back. The hotels and boarding houses are overcrowded and the real estate offices are being besieged.

Expect Early Relief.

Great construction activity in apartment houses is expected to begin soon. New York spends normally $100,000,000 a year in building construction. While rents are not expected to return to pre-war standards for some time, builders are counting on sales or rentals to insure fair profits and declare that the present shortage will disappear this summer, never to return.

Business housing has also become a difficult problem. Every big building in the southern part of Manhattan is reported to be full. Landlords have been offering bonuses to tenants who hold leases at $1.25 a square foot to surrender the leases, as the landlords can now get $2.50 a square foot. Park row firms have been subletting at twice the rent at which the lease was signed.

Janitors in Brooklyn are reaping a harvest from home hunters. One janitor informed an inspector that he advertised a vacancy Saturday afternoon and by the following Tuesday morning he had 123 inquiries by telephone. Cases were found in which applicants had paid janitors from $5 to $20 to engage places on the waiting list. Such lists are common in Brooklyn and Queens.

Ads Show Situation.

The following advertisements show the straits to which homeseekers have been reduced:

"Sold my home; can't rent; will buy; want two story, no basement, one or two family house; about $10,000."

"Will pay $10 to anyone who can get me a five or six room apartment."

"Fifteen dollars' bonus for three or four room satisfactory outside room apartment."

Renting agents from Long Island City to the Rockaways report waiting lists of from 30 to 100 applicants. Visitors with money to invest are bidding for small houses with initial payments of $1,000 or $2,000. Persons living in these houses are forced to move if they are not protected by a lease. Many have been forced to store their goods and the warehouses are filled to the limit.

Queens rentals have advanced from 10 to 20 per cent. A big demand has developed for two family houses. In Jamaica owners have sold at a profit of 40 per cent.

Agents Analyze Situation.

"Lower rents can come only with competition among landlords instead of the present competition among tenants."

The housing committee of the reconstruction commission has begun an investigation to find out if there is any method of finding relief from the present scarcity of building through any of the following sources:

Speculative builders or lenders.

Insurance companies or the other usual sources of large loans.

Limited dividend corporations.

Building and loans associations.

Fuller use of existing buildings, such as the turning of old single family dwellings into multi-family houses or the repair of older tenements which are now practically out of use.

Dealers in building materials through lowering or stabilizing the [illegible]ce of materials.

TWELFTH BRIDGE PLANS.

The city and the sanitary district may agree on a [illegible] for financing the new bridge which will be built in connection with the Twelfth street [illegible]duct. The plan is to have the city fur[illegible] the property and the district to pay one-[illegible] of the cost of constructing the span.

WOMAN HEADS CHICAGO ARTISTS

Two Views of Newly Elected President of Chicago Society of Artists.

Pauline Palmer

Following a dinner given at the Art institute the Chicago Society of Artists last night elected Mrs. Pauline Palmer president, Karl Krafft vice president, and Rudolph Ingerly treasurer.

In the thirty-eight years of the society Mrs. Palmer is its first woman president. She is prominent among America's portrait and landscape painters and last year was winner of the Clyde Carr prize with a picture called "The Blizzard." She has studied in Paris under Raphael Collin and Simone.

With the incoming officers, it was announced that the policy of the society would be changed, the intention being to make the policy a more aggressive one than it has been in the past.

BIG RAIN SAVES 63D ST. BLOCK OF BUILDINGS

Fire in Bakery Spreads Rapidly; Losses May Exceed $100,000.

The block between Greenwood and Ellis avenues on the north side of Sixty-third street might have been wiped out by fire last night if it had not been for the heavy rain.

The flames broke out in the basement of Barker's bakery shop, 1018 East Sixty-third street, and spread rapidly to a flat building in the rear, and to the jewelry store of C. M. Hammond, at 1024 East Sixty-third street. The bakery shop building, a three story brick structure, the two story brick jewelry store, and the two story flat building were destroyed.

The wind was sweeping the flames across the elevated railroad tracks and scattering sparks. The firemen feared the block would be destroyed and possibly the block on the south side of the street.

The blaze lighted up the sky and drew an immense crowd. Several women fainted because of the jam, the police declared. Then came the rain and with it more fire fighting apparatus. The crowds disappeared. The fire was put out.

The damage could not be estimated last night; but firemen said it would amount to more than $100,000.

Mrs. M. Fellows, milliner at 1016 East Sixty-third street, feared her stock of 5,000 hats would be destroyed. She began throwing them, boxed, out on the sidewalk. Scores of volunteers assisted her. Some of the boxes rolled out into the street and were crushed by the wheels of the fire engines, the rain ruined hundreds of them, and some, it is believed, will never be seen again by Mrs. Fellows.

SLATE MAKERS OF COUNCIL ARE UNDER SIEGE

Bombarded with Pleas of Aldermen for Jobs on Committees.

Slatemaking for Chicago's new city council will start in a few days. The committee on committees, which organizes the council, leaves tomorrow night for St. Petersburg, Fla., to begin its annual job.

For the last few days the six aldermen who make up the committee have been besieged with requests for committee assignments. The fact that Mayor Thompson declared against this method of organizing the council and said the officials of the Municipal Voters' league ought to be indicted, seems to have carried so little weight with the aldermen that the committee has more requests for certain assignments this year than it ever had before in a single year.

Ald. John A. Richert, John H. Bauler, and Thomas J. Lynch are the Democrats on the slatemaking committee. Ald. William R. Fetzer, Oliver L. Watson, and Thomas O. Wallace are the Republicans.

Silent on Capitain.

Mayor Thompson stated that he would like to see Ald. H. D. Capitain, chairman of the committee on local transportation, removed. He did not make this request of the slatemakers, but expressed his views in a statement condemning the "M. V. L."

No member of the slatemaking body would consent to be quoted regarding the possible removal of Ald. Capitain or any other alderman. All they would say was that they would make up a slate which would give the important committee places to the men who have the public's interests in mind, no matter what the mayor wants.

Wants Efficiency Committee.

Ald. John H. Lyle proposed to Ald. Richert that there be created a committee on efficiency and economy. Ald. Lyle suggested that the work of this committee deal with general efficiency and economy matters, and not in any way interfere with the staffs of the finance committee or the controller.

Ald. Lyle's idea is to have a committee keep an eye on the spending of appropriations after they are authorized by the city council.

DECIDE STYLES KILLED SELF.

A verdict of suicide while despondent was returned by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the death of John T. Styles, 4125 North Whipple street, yesterday.

WHIP THE HUNS, THEN KEEP PLEDGE MADE TO COURTS

NEW YORK, April 7.—Three Brooklyn youths appeared in the county court today to redeem a pledge made a year and a half ago that they would return to face a charge of grand larceny if they were permitted to sail for France in answer to their country's call to arms. Three of them fulfilled the pledge, but when the name of the fourth was called a gray haired man stood up to explain his son's absence. He explained that the boy had been killed in action.

The three who appeared were Michael McTigert, 25 years old; Joseph Madigan, 22, and Thomas Callow, 23. The missing youth was James McVeigh, 20.

The quartet enlisted in the One Hundred and Sixth infantry early in the war. One night they took out an automobile without the formality of asking the permission of the owner. When arraigned their case was postponed until after the war and today the three survivors pleaded guilty and were dismissed.

Before going home they presented three German helmets to George McCloskey, clerk of the court. They told him that McVeigh, their dead comrade, had sent another.

The helmets were an answer to the clerk's admonition:

"Go over there and give the Huns hell and bring me back a couple of helmets. If you do that you needn't worry about this business."

The youths said McTigert was the hero of their regiment and had rescued wounded comrades under fire more than a score of times.

Approach of July 1 Makes Train Robberies Frequent

The old days of the picturesque train robber who dynamited the safe in the express car after disarming a guard or two and trussing them up have passed into history.

But train robbing still goes on. However, it is not money the new train robber seeks, nor is he picturesque or spectacular. R. H. Aishton, regional director of the United States railroad administration, calls attention to the new type in a bulletin issued to northwestern roads yesterday.

"There has been an unusual number of cases of pilfering of liquor shipments," he said, "and it has come to our attention that in some cases cars are being carded to indicate contents. The placing of placards of any description other than the usual standard 'form cards' provided by the railroads is prohibited.

"Any other cards on cars, especially display cards, should be removed to reduce the possibility of pilfering to a minimum."

ASSEMBLY LEFT IN THE DARK ON CHICAGO'S NEEDS

Springfield, Ill., April 7.—[Special.]—Mayor Thompson and Controller Pike have it within their grasp to develop something worth while in the Illinois legislature to produce the funds that the city needs.

The legislature wants a constructive program direct from Mayor Thompson and from Mr. Pike. The downstate legislators want to be "shown."

Senators and representatives are returning, wondering what the Thompson administration will ask. So far as has been indicated, the city hall will not put forward anything definite.

With the Chicago municipal election resulting as it has, the downstate legislators figure, largely, that a referendum has been had and that the mayor and Controller Pike have the privilege and the opportunity of appearing in Springfield with a statement of what is required in Chicago during the next four years.

The labor forces will be in Springfield tomorrow morning prepared to force the passage of the anti-injunction bill in the house, that is pending on third reading, and to kill the state police bill that is on third reading in the senate. The woman's eight hour bill may not get to consideration in the senate, due to the illness of Senator Barr, in charge of the bill.

Son Sues to Set Aside $100,000 Metzgar Will

Suit to set aside the will of George A. Metzgar, who died Nov. 10 last, was begun in the Circuit court yesterday by a son, Charles M. Metzgar of Evanston, who complains that he was bequeathed only $13,500 out of an estate worth more than $100,000. His two children, Harold and Kathryn, were given $1,000 each in the will, which left all the rest of the property to the testator's widow, Mrs. Augusta C. Metzgar, the second wife.

The Moment of Sale

Just when in a given sale is the actual moment of determination to buy? Even the sale of minor amount may require an unbelievably long period of consideration. Sometimes this is called the period of education.

For example, some years ago an enthusiastic young concessionaire descended on a Western county fair circuit with many novelties in whirling fans and other gimcracks.

As in the drama—"a year elapsed"—and lo and behold, the selfsame farmers bought the neglected novelties of the year before.

Just when in the intervening year had the dread of newness been overcome? Just when was the moment of sale?

When does it occur in your line? Do you have to "educate people" to your commodity or is it standard and accepted?

Most men underestimate the time necessary to sell to a great public.

This increases, of course, the reward of the far-sighted and diligent advertiser.

Are you wearing away your strength?

ARE you wearing away your strength by pounding hard heels on still harder pavements? It is easy to find out.

If your heels wear down fast it is proof that the leather or rubber is hard, for a hard heel instead of "giving" under foot, resists and grinds down a little with every step.

Hard heels jolt and jar your system—tire you out. If your heels wear down fast, you can be pretty sure that you are pounding away your energy with every step you take.

You can eliminate this great source of fatigue. Replace your hard, unyielding heels with O'Sullivan's Heels of live, springy rubber.

To secure the great resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

It is this special process that has, since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

Good-by mysterious rappings, white robes, and tilting tables! Spiritualism has broken into the "big time."

John Slater, billed as the "National Missionary and Test Medium," was the headliner at Orchestra hall last night, where spiritualists gathered in honor of the seventy-first anniversary of the origin of their sect. John, in opening, admitted he is one of the greatest mediums of today, and for an hour had everybody seeing spooks.

The spirits told some family secrets. Individuals in the audience who cared to ask secrets pertaining to their "past, present, or future," wrote their initials and a date or two on slips of paper which were being taken up before the evening's performance started. Slater, while the headliner, was last on the bill.

Avoid Second Hand Lizzie.

"Ah, here's 'A. G., 1919,'" he read, opening one. "Well, what you want to know is whether your husband should buy that automobile or not. No! It's a second hand Ford."

"Ah, you're laughing at me," and he picked out a plain appearing woman in the first row. "Well, your husband is dead. You used to work in the Boston store for $9 a week."

"Ah, now the spirit speaks to me of you," and he pointed to a man in the third row. "Walsh, that's your name. You are in the coal business. No? O, dirt; I see a lot of wagons, anyway. Well, you had some experience in church affairs that turned you against them."

"Well, I was kicked out of the church," Walsh replied.

Divorcee Promised Happiness.

"Now the spirits whisper to me the name of Minnie E. Walker. Where are you, Mrs. Walker? Minnie's father and mother are here. O, yes, Mrs. Walker, do I know you? Do you know me? Well, you gave a watch to a boy who is now on his way back from France. In that watch are the initials 'J. E. W.' Is that right? Sure.

"Now the spirits are telling me [and a colored gentleman who had been opened mouthed in the first row sneaked for a rear exit] Azima. O, down here. You, lady, you divorced him, didn't you? Did I know it? Well, you are all right. You'll have a lot of happiness.

"Ah, here is a slip with 'K. E. G., 1919.' That's you (pointing to a woman in a box). Now, your grandmother was a great singer. Maxwelton braes are bonny" (and John proceeded to sing the first verse of 'Annie Laurie').

Will Find the Will.

"Here we have the initials M. G. 1919. Whose is that?"

A woman in the balcony stood up.

"You want to ask me something about a will. Well, that will your father hid in a book. You've been looking for it a long time. Did I know that? No, of course not. Well, you'll find that will hidden in an encyclopedia that your father owned. It'll be in the book beginning with 'D.' You look there tonight, you'll find it.

"You down there (and he picked on a man in the third row), you are wondering whether or not a certain invention you are working on will be successful. A spirit of one who knew you, Grace Miller, tells me that you are working along the right ideas and that you should continue. You had to hurry to get here tonight, didn't you. Just had time to get home, washed up, and downtown. Is that right? Sure."

And so it went. The "National Missionary" told people all about their boys in France. He told one woman a brother, who she declared was living, is dead and speaking through him.

"Will I be happy?" usually brought the reply of "yes."

A gentleman and his best girl were seated on the main floor. The little gray haired medium pointed to him.

"Your girl, that girl beside you, told you to ask me on the way downtown tonight, what musical instrument you should play. Didn't she? (and the embarrassed couple nodded). Well, take up the violin. More than that, your name is Charles. Your people came from Germany. Didn't they?" And the couple nodded.

The meeting and demonstrations were staged under the auspices of the First Church for Spirit Healing of Chicago as an introductory to the Illinois State Spiritualists' association convention, which opens tomorrow at West Chicago Masonic temple. There will be demonstrations daily.

In short addresses before Medium Slater's work last night, officials of the organization outlined the antagonistic attitude encountered from religious publications and public opinion.

"This is the religion of the future," said Mr. Slater. "The religions of days gone by have been outgrown."

SHORTCAKE LURES LAD FROM HOME; COPS COMB BEACH

What a spring rain means to budding flowers;
What Romeo meant to Juliet;
Well——

That's what strawberry shortcake means to little Arthur Harrison, aged 'zactly 4.

At 11 a. m. yesterday Arthur decided to desert the parental roof at 1301 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, and visit his playmate, Joseph Wemple, across the street at No. 1304.

Joseph was at school. But Mrs. Wemple was home—making shortcake!

At 12 Mrs. Harrison had searched the neighborhod. At 1 p. m. the police had scoured the beaches near the Harrison home. At 2 p. m. they were getting ready to drag for Arthur's body, when——

Out of the Wemple home came Arthur, staggering under an internal load of strawberry shortcake, with the last chunk still grasped in a chubby hand.

SHOTS ARE FIRED; ARREST MANY IN LAWRENCE RIOT

Lawrence, Mass., April 7.—Rioting, marked by promiscuous firing by strike sympathizers and police, opened the tenth week of the textile strike today. The outbreak occurred near the Everett mills, a few hours after the explosion of a bomb in a tenement house in the same neighborhood.

Twenty-three arrests were made. One striker arrested had $1,303 in cash and a $100 Liberty bond in his pockets.

The rioting started when strike sympathizers began to throw stones at mill windows. The crowd grew rapidly and the little squad of officers called for reserves. City Marshal Timothy O'Brien read the riot act. Then the police drew their pistols and their shots were answered by the crowd.

GRAND JURY EMPANELED.

The April Cook county grand jury was empaneled yesterday. The foreman is Joseph P. Griffen, former president of the Board of Trade.

Equal Rights for Women

Every woman has the right to be as healthy, vigorous and efficient as her husband, son, brother, or friend. Nature intended woman to be unhampered and unhandicapped by any sex weakness. But, unfortunately, woman is very predisposed to constipation, not of necessity, but due to faults or bad habits of omission or commission.

Constipation is nothing but a bad habit. Taking purgative, cathartic, or laxative medicines to force the bowels to move is another bad habit—even a worse habit.

But Nujol is particularly suitable for the overcoming of constipation and its resulting evils in women.

Nujol is not a drug—does not act like any drug.

Nujol acts by bringing about a readjustment of the mechanism provided and intended by Nature for the removal of food waste from the body.

Nujol is effective at any age, under any conditions, especially during those periods and conditions in which the use of purgatives, cathartic or laxative medicines is not only harmful, but dangerous. Nujol is safe, pleasant to take, sensible, agreeable in effects, never forms a bad habit.

Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today, and send coupon for free booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

APPEALS COURT THROWS SAND IN DIVORCE MILL

Things have changed. Yesteryear—day before yesterday, in fact—the divorce desiring housewife rushed to her attorney, and he, after writing up a divorce suit, rushed to the courts and immediately sought an injunction restraining the husband from withdrawing his personal funds from the safety deposit vault. All because the attorney and the wife feared the alimony wouldn't be paid if the husband had free access to his money.

Appellate Court Rules.

On Jan. 29, 1919, Mrs. Florence R. Peck, who lives at the Plaza hotel, filed suit against Robert Bowman Peck, poet, art connoisseur, and financier, for separate maintenance. At that time David R. Peck, brother of the defendant, held a block of stock in the Bowman Dairy company, which belonged to Robert B. Peck.

The Circuit court issued an injunction restraining David R. Peck from turning the securities over to his brother until the suit had been heard. Because, it was said, the wife needed the alimony and wanted to be sure of it.

Can't Tie Up Funds.

Attorney Samuel B. King carried the matter to the Appellate court and yesterday that body's ruling reads:

"A husband cannot, for the purpose of paying alimony, be enjoined from disposing or selling his personal property at the institution of a divorce suit."

Attorneys say the decision sets a precedent.

LANDIS ISSUES STAY IN FIGHT ON WIRE RATES

An order temporarily staying the attorney general of Illinois and the public utilities commission from interfering with the enforcement of the new telegraph rates was issued by Judge Landis in the United States district court yesterday. The petition for a temporary injunction was filed by Attorney Henry S. Robbins, representing the postmaster general.

The increased telegraph rates became effective on April 1. The new telephone rates, levied by the postmaster general previously, are held in abeyance by a temporary injunction secured by the attorney general against the Chicago Telephone company and the American Telephone and Telegraph company, in a hearing before Judge Charles M. Foell in the Cook county Superior court. The attorney general will be represented by Attorney George T. Buckingham at the telegraph rate hearing on Monday before Judge Landis.

Says Wire Control Fails.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Representative Aswell of Louisiana, who introduced the bill which led to the government taking over the telegraph and telephone lines, is sorry for what he did and is going to apologize to congress for his action.

"I am the author," Mr. Aswell said today, "of the resolution that was made the basis of existing law taking over the control of the telegraph and telephone wires for the duration of the war. I believed in it heartily and worked for it faithfully, but I am very frank to state that I am greatly disappointed and discouraged to note the increase of 20 per cent ordered on telegraph rates.

"I am not yet ready to admit that any such increase is justifiable or necessary."

Miss Rose Novak

"Dearest Mother: Everything is O. K. with me. Please don't bother looking for me. Will be back home July 1. Am on my way to a different part of the United States. You know why. Account of going to school. You know I wouldn't go.
ROSIE."

Rose Novak changed from a school girl 15 years old to a person with a woman's mind overnight. Sunday evening while her mother, four sisters and brother went to the movies she packed her grip and left. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning she sent the foregoing telegram.

"If you can only find her and tell her she won't have to go back to school," said Mrs. Novak yesterday to a reporter for THE TRIBUNE while tears streamed down her cheeks. "Please tell my Rosie to come back; we all love her so."

Mary, her sister, searched employment bureaus all day yesterday without success. Mary believes that her sister applied to one of the several railroad restaurant companies and was "shipped" west.

Hull House Worker Fails to Win Auto "Exemption"

Dr. Rachelle S. Yarros' plea that she was engaged in giving a lecture for the state during the time her car was parked in La Salle street, failed to save her from a $5 fine by Judge Stelk in the Speeders' court yesterday. Dr. Yarros, who is connected with Hull house, told the court that she should be exempt from a fine.

GODSPEED TO THE LIVING SOLDIER; NEGLECT TO DEAD

Gen. Stuart Says Chicago Is the Only City Failing Military Burials.

"My brother went away with a band playing and people cheering. They gave him food, tobacco, books, and a bunch of flowers. He died from the effects of gas last week and I've been since Thursday trying to get a firing squad to act as pallbearers and have a military funeral."

Mrs. Sophie Figiel, 2946 North Avers avenue, made the statement in the office of Gen. James E. Stuart at the federal building yesterday afternoon, where she was directed after having canvassed Chicago in an effort to arrange a fitting ceremony for the burial of her soldier kin. Although it was the thirtieth pathetic incident of the kind in his office since American casualties began coming back, Gen. Stuart was as deeply moved as on the first occasion. He told the bereaved sister that a detachment of men in uniform from his regiment, the Eleventh infantry, Illinois national guard, would act as escort and fire the volleys at the grave.

Chicago Stands Alone.

"Jim," said Gen. Stuart to his colored orderly, after Mrs. Figiel had departed, "this is the only city in the United States that doesn't provide military funerals for its soldier dead. It's a damned outrage."

Gen. Stuart, commander of the Twenty-first Wisconsin in the civil war, senior major of the Second Illinois in the Spanish war in Cuba and Porto Rico and retired with the rank of general, declared to a reporter that it is Chicago's patriotic duty to provide a bureau where military funerals can be arranged.

"This thing of having heart sick fathers, mothers and sisters go from the city hall to the chief of police, to the Red Cross or Council of Defense, to this place or the other in search of something that Chicago has neglected to provide must be stopped," the veteran army man said. "My regiment has been represented at thirty military funerals, but how many grieving women never found this office I have no idea."

Veteran of Foreign Service.

Mrs. Figiel's brother was Frank Kuyat, 24. He died April 1 at Hampton Roads. He had been gassed at the front in France. The body reached Chicago Saturday and the funeral service will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in St. John Berchan's (Belgian Catholic) church.

Does the operator or the machine do the work?

The 10-Key Dalton

Checks invoices, figures payrolls, estimates, interest and chain discounts, inventories, cost sheets, trial balances. It tabulates, crossfoots and adds two columns at once. The Dalton is an all-round machine, equally adapted to the one-man office or the largest corporation.

Simplicity is the keynote of efficiency. The Dalton has but 10 keys, one for each figure. They are compactly arranged under the fingers of one hand. To list $123.45 you strike the keys 1-2-3-4-5 and the machine automatically puts the figures in their proper columns.

This is Dalton simplicity. It relieves the operator of column selection, of countless hand and eye movements, of brain fag and nerve strain. With a Dalton the machine does the work.

With eyes on her work and fingers on keys the Dalton operator lists and figures with the ease and speed of an expert performer fingering the keys of a piano.

Any one can operate the Dalton, no experience is necessary, and with little practice one can operate it by the Touch Method—without looking at the keys.

The Dalton multiplies as easy as it adds. It combines in one machine the features of both a listing and a calculating machine.

Phone for Demonstration

If a Dalton will speed up your office work, eliminate errors in figuring and make an actual money-saving for you, will it not pay you to investigate it? Let us show you how it saves on your work. A demonstration involves no obligation. Ask for it.

REALTY BOARD GLACKIN BILL STAND ATTACKED

Chairman of Its Committee Calls It Unfair to Taxpayers.

The Chicago real estate board twice within the last three weeks has disapproved the bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Glackin to amend the state law as to public hearngs on supplemental assessments. The Glackin bill's purpose is to validate a supplemental assessment against private property—approximately $2,650,000—to pay part of the increased cost of the Michigan avenue link.

The city failed to hold second public hearings before instituting the supplemental assessment, and a recent decision by Judge Hoover in the County court throws a question over the legality of the city's proceedings. To clear up this doubt and to expedite the link's completion is one purpose of the Glackin bill.

Board Not a Unit.

Now it appears that the Chicago real estate board is not a unit against the Glackin bill, though at two recent meetings it declared against the measure. Chairman Frederick K. Root of the board's legislative committee yesterday came out with reasons why the supplementary assessment for the link should be made. Mr. Root set forth the assessments in the Michigan avenue case as follows:

Original assessment, as confirmed:
Private property [44%]	$3,412,626.26
Public benefits [56%]	4,314,504.74
	$7,727,131.00
Proposed supplemental assessment:
Private property [44%]	$2,649,004.60
Public benefits [56%]	3,371,460.40
	$6,020,465.00

Mr. Root's statement first concedes that the city failed to hold second public hearings before proposing the supplemental assessment. He continues:

"It is claimed by the city and not denied that the cause of the deficiencies is the increase in cost of labor and material due to war conditions.

"No charge is made that the contracts (for the link construction) let were not fairly and honestly made. Judge Hoovers' decision was in a comparatively obscure paving case.

Follows Old Practice.

"The board of local improvements, in failing to hold these second public hearings, has followed the advice of the city law department and has done only what has been the practice for over ten years. Judge Hoover may be right, technically right, and he may be wrong. Attorneys of the city for, and those representing objectors against these public improvements disagree and the Supreme court will pass upon the question.

"If Judge Hoover is right, remedial legislation is necessary to correct the failure of the board of local improvements to hold second public hearings.

"If Judge Hoover is wrong, legislation is unnecessary. However, the legislature will adjourn before the Supreme court passes on the question.

"Hence the necessity for this remedial legislation now, unless the amount of these special benefits is to be shifted from the property specially benefited to the public at large. That is the question.

Would Add to Taxes.

"If Judge Hoover is right and if this bill fails of passage, $3,550,000 will be added to the general tax, either in the form of a bond issue or an increase in taxes amounting to 35c on each $100 of valuation.

"The present city rate is $1.20.

"The proposed city rate is $2.00.

"The city council asks $3.35.

"This would make the rate $2.70.

"The real estate board, having about 300 active members, by a vote of 22 to 13, thirty-five members being present, decides that this $3,500,000 should be added to the already overburdened debt of the city—notwithstanding the fact that every cent of it is a special benefit to the property assessed.

"The issue as presented and argued before the real estate board was not what was the real right in the matter but 'did the board of local improvements violate the law, technically or purposely?'

"The board took the latter view and voted against the bill, entirely overlooking the real issue, to-wit: Should property specially benefited pay its share of the cost?

"It was stated frankly by George A. Mason, attorney for objectors, that the only ones in the Michigan avenue case who could take advantage of Judge Hoover's opinion were the 102 owners of property fronting on Michigan avenue—that their assessment in the supplemental proceeding would be about $500,000, and that was all the city stood to lose. That the 8,000 owners of property outside of direct frontage, assessed in the original proceeding had no chance to object on this ground.

Not Fair to Taxpayers.

"Would it be right that direct fronting property on Michigan avenue from Randolph street to Chicago avenue, where values have increased 100 to 300 per cent on account of this improvement, should escape their proportion of the benefit and 8,000 owners off the line of the improvement from North avenue to Thirty-first street and the river to the lake, should pay $2,150,000, and then charge the $500,000 to the general fund, one-third of which would go to the attorneys who contested the assessment?

"The meat in the cocoanut is this: Failure to pass this bill gives objectors' attorneys a nice big club to use, and puts the general fund in the way of paying $3,550,000 out of its already depleted treasury in payment of special benefits which property owners should pay."

Dr. Newman and Wife Fined on Policeman's Complaint

Dr. Adolph Newman and his wife, Frances, 4914 North Spaulding avenue, were fined $1 each by Judge John F. Haas in the Desplaines street court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. The trouble originated in front of the Arsonia café, Paulina and West Madison streets, Sunday night,

JOHN CARR JR.

Father Drops Dead on Way to His Son's Wedding

"Next to the day when I married his mother," said Emil A. R. Groth, "Monday will be the happiest in my life. Freds girl is one of the best in the world." And thereupon—it was Saturday—he left his residence at 5044 West Erie street to attend the wedding of his son and Miss Winifred Yates of North Chicago. The ceremony was to have been performed at the Yates home yesterday afternoon. But instead his son started back to Chicago with his father's body. Mr. Groth had succumbed at 54 to heart failure Sunday morning.

BABY MOTHER GAVE LIFE TO PROTECT DIES

Doctors Discover Brain Hemorrhage Too Late to Save Child.

Mrs. Nora Carr sacrificed her life for her baby son in vain; a double sorrow has come to her husband, an invalid.

The baby died last night in the Lake View hospital. He was 7 months old. His mother was crossing Sheridan road Sunday night, carrying him in her arms, when she was struck and killed by an automobile. She fell with her arms around him, trying to shield him.

It appeared Sunday she had succeeded. There were only a few scratches on the little body. But the doctors didn't know the baby had suffered a hemorrhage of the brain. The symptoms didn't develop until yesterday morning, they declared; and it was too late to save him.

Invalid Waits in Vain.

John Carr Sr., husband and father, sat in his invalid's chair all night Sunday in his home, 739 North La Salle street, waiting. He read the story of the accident in THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning. He knew the woman was his wife, but he could do nothing. He couldn't get out of the chair without help. He had to wait until a friend came in. He sent him to the undertaker's. The identification was made. Carr was unable to talk when his friend told him.

But there was one consolation—the baby was still alive. Yet how could an invalid care for it?

"No One to Blame."

Mrs. Carr was taking the baby for an airing when death pounced upon her. The automobile was driven by Willard Colvin, 18 years old, 5940 Sheridan road, whose father is vice president of the W. F. Hall Printing company.

He rushed mother and son to the hospital. The police say he was not to blame for the accident. The coroner's jury decided there was no cause for criminal prosecution.

The Reason Why You Probably Have "Acid-Mouth"

Because—according to the belief of dental authorities—95 in every 100 persons have "Acid-Mouth," and it is the chief cause of tooth decay.

Pebeco Tooth Paste counteracts "Acid-Mouth" because it stimulates the healthy flow of alkaline saliva, which is the most natural tooth-wash and neutralizer of dangerous mouth acids.

A Full Day's Work

THAT'S what we all want, without any more doubts and uncertainties. During the war everyone—employer or employe—was on the anxious seat. We all wondered what the next day would bring. If it wasn't a fresh casuality list, it was some new business uncertainty.

When the armistice was signed we heaved a sigh of relief. No more slaughter—no more waste of man-power and wealth. Every business engineer answered to the signal of "full speed ahead" and "business as usual."

There's just one more big problem ahead of the business man, and the men and the women he employs.

LIBERTY V LOAN
The Subscriber's Honor Badge

"Government finance" is the big wheel in the machinery of business readjustment into which every cog is geared. Your government owes some billions of current war debts. These debts must be funded or they become a menace.

The banks can't carry the load unaided and have sufficient ready funds to lend to individuals, firms and corporations at low enough interest rates for business to hold its own, much less push ahead into bright, new fields of foreign commerce. Stagnant business means idle labor, perhaps failure.

The last of the popular loans—the Victory Liberty Loan—must be fully subscribed if we are all to have a full day's work. The campaign begins April 21st.

The chairmen of the numerous volunteer committees are recruiting the army of more than 30,000 salesmen to win the battle of Chicago. Each one of them knows where his position will be at the "zero hour."

Your duty is to boost this loan by your personal zeal and effort and by your early subscription.

STATES TERMS FOR PAYMENT OF WAR CONTRACTS

Baker's Assistant Sends Memorandum to Secretary Glass.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Conditions proposed by the war department for the settlement of war contracts are set forth in a memorandum sent by Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war and director of munitions, to Secretary of the Treasury Glass.

Mr. Crowell states that contractors may obtain their money promptly provided they are willing to settle on the terms described in the memorandum. Contractors may obtain the money due them in partial payments if they follow the course laid down by the department.

Conditions That Are Offered.

The conditions are stated by Mr. Crowell as follows:

"If the contractor has agreed to terminate production to the extent requested by the war department and will waive all claims to prospective profits which he might have made had the uncompleted portion of his contract been performed he will be paid:

"(A) For raw materials, component parts, and work in process on hand in an amount not to exceed the requirements of the uncompleted portion of the contract, the cost thereof plus inward handling charges, plus overhead directly applicable. If this full payment is made, title and possession of the materials, parts, and work in process shall be transferred to the United States. If by agreement the contractor retains title to any of this material, parts, or work in process the agreed value thereof shall be deducted from the amount otherwise payable.

As to Borrowed Capital.

"(B) A remuneration or reward naturally fixed at (1) interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum on money invested in raw materials and component parts, or, if the money was borrowed, then interest actually paid, and (2) 10 per cent profit on work in process.

"(C) An amount equal to all money which the contractor is compelled to expend to terminate and discharge unperformed subcontracts or commitments properly made for the purpose of performing the uncompleted portion of the contract.

"(D) Such amounts as are necessarily spent in connection with the care and custody of property involved from the date that the contractor has suspended production down to the time of settlement.

Especial Machinery.

"(E) On account of facilities, machinery, and equipment acquired for the purpose of performing the contract and the cost of which would have been recouped had the contract been performed—an amount which shall be computed as follows: From the cost deduct the present value, and of the balance take the same proportion that the uncompleted part of the contract bears to the whole.

"(F) Any other special item of expenditure which in the opinion of the secretary of war or any duly authorized officer, is proper."

"Strike" Called Off, but Nurses Continue Suit

The strike may be "all off" at the Oak Park hospital, but Miss Inez Sims and Miss Anna Hayes, two of the striking nurses who have filed a petition in the Circuit court to have the hospital prosecuted for alleged violations of the law and to force the hospital authorities to obey the ten hour law, are not going back and are not going to drop the court proceedings. The hospital comittee which has been investigating the charges made by the nurses when they walked out March 3 have bettered the food and housing conditions and sent invitations to the nurses to return to work. Miss Flora Wahodrak and Miss Harriet Caskey are the only ones who have accepted.

COAL OPERATORS DISPUTE HINES' PROFIT CHARGES

Meet in Pittsburgh to Frame Reply to Rail Director.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Bituminous coal operators take direct issue with Walker D. Hines, director general of railroads, as to the truth of accusations made by him in his statement of Saturday. Officers of the National Coal association were in Pittsburgh today, where they were said to be preparing a formal reply of a bristling nature.

Roiled by Hines' Charges.

Mr. Hines' assertion that the coal operators are seeking to maintain high prices, "which will keep up the cost of living and continue to produce in the aggregate abnormal profits," caused the fur to fly.

Just what Mr. Hines knows about abnormal profits of coal operators is a matter of speculation. There have been rumors that the railroad administration has had access to income tax figures relating to profits of coal operators and also steel producers. If these rumors are correct the coal operators would like to know by what authority any government department was permitted to delve into the secret treasury records.

Prices Fixed by U. S.

The coal operators point out that the coal prices were fixed during the war by the fuel administration. While the prices were purposely made high enough to stimulate production, it was charged that some high cost producers were being forced out of business. Admittedly some low cost producers have made money, but the National Coal association probably will undertake to prove the charge that any "abnormal profits" were made is untrue.

Another point in Mr. Hines' statement which the coal operators dispute is the charge that the National Coal association is seeking to have a governmental agency name a uniform price for coal in each district, "such uniform price to be high enough to take care of the high cost producers and thus produce an excessive profit for the low cost producers."

GEORGE RULES! PROLETARIAT OF OAK PARK HAPPY

Our Modern Lady Balzac Tells of Overthrow of "Imperialists."

BY MAUDE MARTIN EVERS.

THE NEW KING

George W. Pyott, Who Overthrew the Oak Park "Imperialists."

Oak Park was so busy electing a new president for their village that they didn't bother about our little mayoral contest.

No, and some of 'em may not know yet that Mr. Hoyne is not residing in the city hall, and what's more, they don't give a care.

For many years, 'tis said, Oak Park politics has been run by a "machine." And there has been only one party, can you beat that?

"What We Might Call Imperialists."

About five or six manly citizens attended the same church on Sunday, and during the week met, when convenient, at a downtown club and decided the management of thei: village—again, I say—so 'tis said. Then when the meeting was held the five or six politicians let the citizens in on their secrets and the citizens found they had nothing to say at all! Now go on:

These five or six Trotzkys were of the richer classes. The, what we might call, imperialists. Well, at the late primaries a short while ago, when the time came to start up the "machine" again to carry in their selection of president, as was their wont, a Mr. George W. Pyott started to climb into the machine uninvited by the imperialist or nonpartisan party.

"Honest, Hard Working Gent."

Well, my dears, the imps.—or N. P. P.—just stepped on the starter and ironed that resolute man of the people, Mr. Pyott, out flat. Was it plain to you that Mr. Pyott was of the people?

Yes, an honest, hard working gent. He was not one of they who had rode in the "machine" heretofore.

The primaries ruined him. Thereupon he rose, dusted off his hat, and started for the machine at election time as a new party—the Independent.

O, there was a considerable time all right—no wonder the Oak Parkers didn't hear William Hale Thompson climbing back into office.

"Oust the Idle Rich."

The citizens of that model town, Oak Park, Ill., rose with one acclaim and ousted the idle rich from politics. Mister Calvin H. Hill represented imps or N. P. P. Mr. Hill beat George Pyott in the silk stocking deestrict by 57 votes. But Mister Pyott just wiped Mister Hill off the map in every other precinct.

The first victory of the peepul—in O. P.

At noon on election day H. R. Hamilton, manager of campaign for Mr. Calvin H. Hill, called up the new Independent party's manager.

"Mr. Hill concedes the election for president to Mr. Pyott," graciously spake the retiring manager, "and Mr. Hill left town this morning."

For a "Public Platform."

The Imps. or N. N. P.'s candidate retired while the retiring was good. He climbed out of the "machine" and left it waiting for President Pyott.

President Pyott says he is going to "kick it all to pieces."

President Pyott believes in a public platform. "As public as a sidewalk."

President Pyott—he has not been crowned yet—Thursday will climb into regal splendor and receive the title formally.

Call Him Plain George.

Anyhow he requests that we leave off titles and extras and call him George, plain George.

Well, Georgie says further, "all purchases will be made by open bid."

"No secrets cooked up in downtown clubs."

Furthermore:

"If any one in Oak Park ever should get drunk and disorderly no friend of a friend can snake him outten the brig. Absolutely!"

Going to Be More Model.

And, you idle richers, "there will be no political favors."

Oak Park may have been a model village, the largest of its size known to man, but it is going to be more model under the hand of Plain George.

In closing George adds:

"I will have regular hours a day to hear the peepul's plaints—perhaps from 4 till 5. I thank you."

BUILDING COSTS INQUIRY TO BE COMPLETED SOON

Speeding up in the senate committee's investigation of the cost of building materials will result in a report of the committee in about two weeks, according to Senator John Dailey, chairman of the committee which has been in session in Chicago. Members of the committee returned to Springfield yesterday and will return here Friday. Senator Dailey wants to hold sessions here all next week in the hope of finishing the investigation.

"If prices are too high or if present prices are reasonable and stable the public is entitled to know it and the builders should be advised," said Chairman Dailey. "We expect to take up the cement situation and possibly touch on lumber. If we can get figures of factory cost we can easily figure up freight and increase in wages and other things and find out whether the present retail market price is too high."

Senator Dailey is inclined to think, from the evidence taken, that the market price of common building brick, $12 a thousand, is a bit high and that the brick men have long had an organization in one form or another which fixes prices. He is not taking snap judgment on this, however, and will not recommend lower prices or present prices until all the figures are in and the committee has ended its deliberations. The brick men declare that they cannot make a profit under $12.00.

Richards Freed on Girl's Charge of $30 Robbery

Franklin Richards, 5500 Prairie avenue, was discharged yesterday by Judge Hugh Stewart in the South Clark street court on a charge of robbery. Richards was arrested Sunday on complaint of Miss Edith Hodous, a chorus girl, living at 1230 South Crawford avenue, who asserted that Richards, after taking her for an automobile ride, took $30, her week's pay, from her purse.

OAK PARK'S LOAN DRIVE TO HAVE THREE LEADERS

George W. Pyott, newly elected president of the Oak Park village board, volunteered at a meeting of citizens last night to appoint a committee of three to conduct the Victory loan campaign. After some debate his suggestion was accepted.

Other persons who were present and who had participated in other drives told of workers under them who had asked to be left out of the coming campaigns.

Mr. Pyott made his suggestion after George T. Leach, supervisor of ten towns, including Oak Park and River Forest, threatened to turn the business over to a woman. George Turner of River Forest volunteered to take charge of the campaign in his community.

"It would be rather embarrassing," Mr. Leach said, "to turn the affair over to a woman at this time."

A Good Way to Save

"In times like these when economy is so essential, I know of no better way to save than to have the entire family shod with Neolin Soles," writes B. F. Williams, Rochester, N. Y.

In his letter Mr. Williams tells of a pair of Neolin-soled shoes which he has worn constantly for four months. "The soles still look like new," he says.

You, too, will think there is no better way to save, when once you have tried shoes with these long-wearing, comfortable, and waterproof soles. They come in many styles for every member of the family. And good repair shops carry Neolin Soles for re-soling. How I Sent Around the World to Find a Nut

Listen, Chicago!

I GOT back from France—I brought home the real French way to make chocolate.

I made some bars. They tasted pretty good, but—I said to myself:

"Duane, this almond bar business is all chipped up among people who are making 'good enough' bars.

"You've got the best chocolate. Now get the best almonds.

"With your automatic chocolate mixer, thermo, moulder and cooler, all-in-one, you can put at least 50% more almonds into Touraine Bars than the-fellow-who-counts-every-almond-he-drops-into-his."

Finding the best almonds is not as simple as you might think.

I sent to every country in the world where almonds grow!

I found the finest in Italy and Spain.

Well, sir, as soon as I found those almonds, I felt pretty sure I had it at last.

Chocolate made the real French way—chock-full of big, sweet, mellow almonds from Italy and Spain!

I gave those bars to friends and strangers to taste.

One of my friends said: "Duane, if that bar doesn't give you the biggest slice of the almond bar business, it's because the American public are not particular about their almond bars."

Perhaps it isn't quite fair to put it as strongly up to you as that, but "The proof of the pudding is in the eating."

GREAT LAKES OFFICER "LOST" 2 WEEKS; HUNTED

Fear Lieut. Com. Atkinson Is Victim of Amnesia or Violence.

Lieutenant Commander Frank H. Atkinson, head of the commissary department at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, walked out of his residence in Waukegan two weeks ago last Saturday night and vanished.

"I'm going to Chicago," he said; "I'll return directly." But he did not; nor has the navy intelligence bureau been able to trace him. Lieutenant Commander Chester S. Roberts, the station's executive officer, declared yesterday the naval authorities had no solution of the mystery to offer. He added:

"We are working, however, on several theories; first, that Mr. Atkinson is ill and unable to communicate with us; second, that he is a victim of amnesia or another kind of mental lapse; third it may be possible that he has met death in some singular manner, which has prevented his identity from becoming known; or he may have encountered violence.

Had No Enemies.

"The first two theories appear by far the most probable. So far as we can learn, Mr. Atkinson had no enemies; he was one of the most popular officers on the station. No scandal has ever touched his name; his record is faultless.

"The afternoon before his disappearance, he and I sat talking in my office. We were discussing the routine business of the station, where he had general charge of the distribution and preparation of food, and he appeared entirely normal.

"Another aspect of the mystery, which makes it even more unusual, is that he expected shortly to be released to inactive duty. Had he any personal business of a pressing nature, he might have obtained leave to attend to it; or, in a few days at the most, he would have been entirely free to do as he chose."

Affairs in Perfect Order.

Mr. Atkinson's duties, Mr. Roberts said, did not require him to handle any of the station's funds, and the affairs of his department were in perfect order. He was unmarried and boarded in Waukegan. So far as the naval authorities have been able to ascertain, he had no relatives in this part of the country.

When war was declared by the United States he had been retired from active service, and was making his home in Missouri. He tendered his services to the government, however, which was followed by his assignment to the station here—a post which he occupied throughout the war.

In common with many other officers who reside near Great Lakes, he was permitted to leave the naval reservation each evening after 4:30 o'clock, and was not required to report until the following morning. On the Saturday of his disappearance intelligence officers traced his movements as far as his home, where he had dinner and then announced his purpose to come to Chicago. Whether he ever reached Chicago is undetermined.

Not Classed as Deserter.

Mr. Roberts denied that Mr. Atkinson was a deserter.

"When he reappears, or is found," the executive officer said, "he will be asked for an explanation. If he is able to furnish none or none is supplied by his physical condition, then, as is customary in such cases, a court martial will be convened. We believe, however, that Mr. Atkinson will be able fully to account for his absence."

The missing officer is about 40 years old. Mr. Roberts stated that he was not involved in the food graft scandal at Great Lakes a number of months ago.

Flirtation Brings Arrest of "Walking Arsenal"

A flirtation witnessed by two detectives last night led to the accidental discovery of a "walking arsenal" in the person of Charles Levin, a street car conductor living at 837 North Oakley avenue.

Detective Sergeants Trant and Redlich had seen Levin accost a woman who gave her name as Mrs. Helen Martin of 4311 Indiana avenue, near the Chicago Automobile club, and overtook the pair at Clark and Van Buren streets. Levin showed fight and, upon being searched, two automatic pistols and a blackjack were found upon him. He was held on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The woman was allowed to go.

Next Time He'll Obey the "Unwritten Law"

There is an unwritten law among pickpockets not to practice their art upon policemen and newspaper reporters—in the first case because it is dangerous and in the second case because it is useless.

Charles Smith, 3331 South State street, colored, didn't abide by it. Detective Sergeant David R. Twine of the Wabash avenue station on a street car Sunday afternoon grabbed a hand which was in his pocket and found he had nabbed Mr. Smith.

"Held to the grand jury," said Judge Dennis Sullivan in the Hyde Park court yesterday.

BOYS WANT OFFICIAL "JOB DAY." A delegation of the "Northwest City" members of the Boys Brotherhood Republic, called at the mayor's office yesterday to ask that the proclamation for "boys' job day" of last year be reissued this year, and that it include sailors, soldiers, and marines as well as boys. The mayor did not come to his office, so the delegation will call again.

"Dusie—Dusie! This is the last time we'll have to separate. I'll come and give you the thousands of kisses now waiting on my wanting lips. . . ."

So wrote the very affectionate John Twisthouse to Susie May Jacobson. Susie, according to the evidence, thought it was fine—but Albert Jacobson, 220 Florimond street, had another and wholly different opinion.

That's why he went into the Circuit court yesterday with "Affectionate John's" letters and after presenting them to the court won a divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson were married June 13, 1904, and separated Jan. 25, 1919.

"This fellow came to our home and sat on the divan with my wife," testified Jacobson. "She held his hands and put her arms around his neck. One night I came home and found them in the shady porch swing."

The Letters.

Then Jacobson offered the letters:

"My Dear Little Sweetheart: There is very little to write about except my love for you. I can never find the proper words to express my love and the torture it was to leave you. Dusie—Dusie—I certainly hope that this is the last time I'll ever have to leave you and I am coming back quick to give you the hundreds of thousands of kisses that are on my wanting lips for yqu." That's one letter.

"Dearest: You don't know how I am hoping and praying to see my little doll again. The days seem like years. I know that you are undergoing a strain now, but we'll be together soon and then you'll be happy. There will be a nice little car for us, too. I just returned from a show and had a miserable time. I never feel quite right when my little lovin' girl is not with me.

"If I can't have you—if I can't marry you they'll have to take my name off the book. There will be no more pleasure in life for me. You are the only one I, love—trust me." Another little love note.

Cites Ten Years' Love.

"When I confronted my wife with these letters she said that she had loved him for ten years," said Jacobson. Then he introduced a picture of Twisthouse and Mrs. Jacobson. Twisthouse was in a uniform.

ROBBERS 'GENTLE WITH THE LADIES' BUT NOT ON CASH

Take $3,100 in 2 Raids; Seek Warm Spot to Lock Up Girls.

Four colored men staged two holdups yesterday afternoon and escaped with about $3,100 in cash. They traveled in a battered black automobile and all were armed.

They made their first appearance at 1:20 o'clock at the offices of the Western Cold Storage company, 22 West Sixteenth street. Five employés were in the offices when the robbers entered. O. W. Roach, the manager, was ordered to open the safe. There was $200 in this. A. C. Mortinson, a clerk, was compelled to give up $28.

The five men were herded into a small closet. The robbers cut the telephone wires and locked the door on the prisoners, blocking the way with a large table. Then they strolled out on the street, piled into the auto, and started west.

Look for New "Prospect."

While the police were on their way to the storage house, having been notified a few minutes later by a driver who released the five prisoners, the four robbers were looking around the west side for another easy place to rob. They parked the auto on Sangamon street, just north of Fulton, and walked on the south side of Fulton east to Peoria, then back on the north side, looking into the store and shop windows. They were not in a hurry. They strolled along, laughing and chatting.

They came to the office of the Mutual Produce company, 922 Fulton street, looked it over, and decided to do another job.

A dozen clerks were in the office downstairs when the four men entered. All carried revolvers, which they presented at the door in the faces of the astonished clerks.

"Gentle With the Ladies."

"Now, gentlemen, hands up," said the leader.

Michael Malter and his brother, L. E. Malter, managers, obeyed the order with their clerks and stenographers.

One man guarded them while the others went to the mezzanine floor office. There were three girls here, working with an auditor, D. Luby.

"Don't be afraid. We are gentle with ladies," said the robber as he ordered Anna Charak, Beatrice Ruttenberg, and Anna Hayes to put their hands up.

The girls obeyed.

"We are after money and if we don't get it we kill," said the leader. "We have just pulled off one job and the police are after us.

"The quicker we get this through the better."

Then the leader went to the safe and took $3,000. He looked at $1,500 worth of checks but tossed them on the table.

"We don't want paper," he said.

Luby was forced to give up $1.50 and L. D. Malter $37.50.

The men looked at the women and grinned.

"We don't rob ladies," said the leader as they all backed down the stairs.

"Too Cold for the Ladies."

They marched the two managers and the auditor and thirteen clerks and stenographers to the rear to hunt for a place to lock them up.

"Too cold here for the ladies," said the leader as he examined a refrigerator room.

They found a rear room on the second floor which was picked out as a nice dry place, and the sixteen were forced in here and locked in.

The four men put up their revolvers and strolled out on the street, got into the auto, and went south.

The alarm was given a few minutes later, and detectives from Desplaines street and the central bureau went out on the hunt for the bandits.

Rob Bowes Bank.

Four white bandits traveling in a small automobile held up the real estate office and private bank of Jerome P. Bowes, 5908 South Ashland avenue, shortly before noon.

This is the second time that Bowes has been the victim of holdup men. He has just recovered from a bullet wound which he received during a struggle a few week ago in his office. This time he was more careful. He made no resistance. His wife, Mrs. Frances Bowes; George Woodward and Charles Stoltzner, real estate salesmen, and Miss Margaret Goeppner, stenographer, were in the office.

Miss Goeppner was forced to open the safe, while the others were lined against the wall. The robbers found $1,600 in cash and $2,000 in Liberty bonds, which they took.

Take Customer's Watch.

Turning to Bowes, one of the men searched him and took his watch. Thomas McManus, a customer, came in at this time and was forced to give up his watch. Then the men left.

Eight men, said to be members of a gang of automobiles thieves, were arrested yesterday morning by police of the Grand Crossing station in the flat of George Vaulman, 6935 Vincennes avenue.

Four of the men, including Vaulman, were identified as the men who held up the Kee & Chapell Dairy company offices last Saturday, escaping with $450 in cash and Liberty bonds.

EX-POLICEMAN HELD TO JURY. Bartholome Riordan, 5039 North Clark street, who traveled a beat out of the Rogers Park police station until February, when he was discharged by the police trial board on charges of intoxication, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $5,000 on a charge of attempted robbery.

CROOKS NOT IN "STATUS QUO"

Meanwhile Inquiry Shows That Is Condition of All Remedial Plans.

RECORDS at the detective bureau for the forty-eight hours ending at 8 o'clock yesterday morning show the following:

Burglaries	32	Since April 1	102
Robberies	26	Since April 1	59
Larcenies	34	Since April 1	108

There have been two murders since April 1 and four assaults with attempt to kill. Yesterday's crimes, which are detailed elsewhere, add to this list.

"What about crime?" Ald. Byrnes of the city council crime committee was asked yesterday afternoon.

"O, that is in statu quo. Give us a chance to turn around," he said. For the aldermen of the crime committee may find themselves somewhere else when the Florida slatemaker's get through.

"What about crime?" Henry Barrett Chamberlin of the Chicago crime commission was asked.

"Nothing doing today," he said. "We are pushing our bill to get a bureau of records. May have some maps Thursday."

"What about the crime situation?" was asked in the office of the chief of police.

"Nothing to announce today. May have some police orders the last of the week," said Secretary Luthardt.

"What about crime today?" was asked in the office of the chief of detectives.

Just then the phone rang. Sergt. Mullen answered.

And a squad of reserve detectives piled into the police auto and went clanging down the street.

By the time the detectives got to the cold storage plant on East Sixteenth street another bandit alarm came from Fulton street.

With warm weather "crime waves" usually disappear, but Chicago appears to be inflicted with an unusual visitation.

There does not appear to be any move toward heroic action from any agency. The police are overworked.

They are coping with the situation strenuously. They are pulling in suspects and vagrants. But crime increases.

STOLEN TRUNK SPOILS WEDDING PLANS; 2 JAILED

Clayton Daniels and Miss Ruth Buckley, who rooms at 1811 Prairie avenue, were to be married on Sunday, but two detectives stepped in and the ceremony had to be postponed.

The prospective bride and groom are being held at the detective bureau, all on account of a trunk belonging to A. Giavanno, 320 West Madison street, which contains deeds, leases, mortgages, and other negotiable papers and which disappeared from the Polk street depot April 2.

Detectives Birmingham and McGinnis learned that a brother of Daniels, who had been working for an express company, left off work April 2 and had not reappeared. Clayton admitted the trunk had been taken to his room by his brother. He said his brother had left with the trunk.

Daniels and the girl, who formerly lived in Denver and who was an actress but is now a manicurist, are charged with receiving stolen property.

EVANSTON GOB FIGHTS 12 FOOT SNAKE FOR LIFE

A story of a fight for life with a twelve foot snake in the wilds of Brazil was told in a letter from Merrill McGowan, a sailor, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGowan of 611 Custer street, Evanston, received yesterday. McGowan, attached to cruiser now at Santos, Brazil, told of going on a hunting party 130 miles inland from Pernambuco. He described the shooting of a panther, a wild cat, and several tropical birds.

While making a short cut through the dense undergrowth with a companion, he stepped on the snake, his letter recites.

"It wound its tail around my leg and lifted its head to a level with mine," he wrote. "I can see its glittering eyes now. I dropped my gun in fright, but luckily I still had my knife. I drew it quickly and made a healthy swing for its neck, fortunately landing the blow just behind the creature's head. The knife pierced its neck completely."

His companion, who ran when the snake showed itself, returned, he declared, and helped to cut the snake's tail from his leg. He had to walk on crutches for several weeks.

"NAT" ROYSTER SUED BY WIFE AS OF HASTY TEMPER

William Nathaniel Royster, man about town and manager of the La Salle theater, was called "cruel" and accused of spending the tiny hours of the morning with "other women" by Mrs. Ava Marie Royster, who filed a suit for a divorce in the Circuit court yesterday. The bill was filed by Attorney Otto G. Ryden.

Mr. and Mrs. Royster were married Feb. 25, 1911, in Salt Lake City, and lived together until last Sunday. There are four children, Ava Marie, 6; Margaret Elizabeth, 5; William Nathaniel Jr., 3, and Rita, 7 months old.

According to the bill Royster is "given to fits of anger."

"In the summer of 1914, while in Portland, Me., the defendant in a fit of anger struck your oratrix and caused her great pain by pinching, biting, striking, kicking, choking, and otherwise injuring her," the bill recites. At that time the wedded life came to a temporary end, but the bill asserts that Royster made ardent appeals and sincere promises so they were reconciled.

Royster is said to receive a salary of $125 a week from Eliot, Comstock & Gest.

"WHAT CHANCE HAS AN HONEST BURGLAR WITH SUCH THIEVES?"

"MY husband is a model man," said Mrs. Walter Rang, wife of the man who robbed 100 homes on the northwest side. "He has no bad habits. He doesn't drink or smoke or chew tobacco, or even play cards—yes, I guess he did steal that vacuum cleaner—you may take it."

She was talking to the police who had come to her home, 3832 North Harding avenue, on the hunt for more of the loot taken by her husband.

Rang, who was arrested Saturday night after an exciting time in the home where seven women screamed at him, accompanied the police to various flats he had entered during the last year, and to a number of pawnshops where he had disposed of booty.

"It doesn't pay, this burglar business," he said. "You have to sell your stuff for ridiculous prices. I got $15 for a $100 diamond ring, $10 for a valuable necklace. Say, they cheat you right and left. What chance has an honest burglar with such thieves?"

Rang said he sold a $50 Liberty bond to A. C. Tisdelle & Co., brokers, 118 North La Salle street, and received a check for $44.40. The brokers told the police they had no record of the transaction, but would investigate.

The Shakespeare avenue station had hundreds of visitors yesterday, victims of burglars, who came to identify some of the $5,000 worth of stolen articles recovered.

"BOUNCERS" GONE, $1,500 MISSING

There were many suspicious things about the robbery of Frank Michau's safe in his saloon at 9190 South Chicago avenue last Friday when $1,500 was taken.

But when Frank Quinn, a "bouncer" in the saloon, insisted on paying him $10 he had owed for two years the saloonkeeper's suspicions were fully aroused.

He learned Quinn and another "bouncer," Jake Curran, had been entertaining royally since Friday night.

He remembered he had given Quinn the money to put in the safe and had seen him place it therein, but he recalled he didn't notice Quinn turn the combination. So he swore out warrants yesterday for his bouncers.

GAS CHIEFS, NOT GAS, BLAMED BY STATE ENGINEER

Scores Methods, Service at Hearing That May Bring Rate Cut.

A. S. B. Little, gas engineer for the state public utilities commission, delivered a scathing denunciation of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company yesterday. He attacked its methods, policies, and service. He declared the company's officials had failed to live up to promises made to the commission to make corrections which would lessen the number of complaints by consumers.

Mr. Little's argument was made at the first session of the commission's reopening of its hearings, in which it granted the gas company a 27½ per cent increase in rates. The commission may revoke the increase, according to reports.

The gas company's attorneys strenuously objected to portions of Mr. Little's statement. They said some of his evidence ought to be more specific, as the gas company was unfairly given a "black eye" with the public.

Better—in One Respect.

Mr. Little pointed out that the gas company was to be excused from complaints made that it pumped air through the mains instead of gas. There have been charges like this. Mr. Little said the company kept up a uniform pressure on its mains and that in this respect the service was better than in any other large city.

Mr. Little criticized most of the company's officials on other points. He also reflected on some of the work done by the city department of public service. He said this would have to be done over again by the commission before it would be of any value.

The engineer pointed out that the company has failed to provide books for meter readers, which would make it impossible for meters to be "estimated." Most of the complaints against the company orginated from it allowing readers to "estimate" meters.

Insull Buys Fifty Books.

"I took this matter up with Mr. Monroe, Mr. Purcell, Mr. Davies, Mr. McDonald and other representatives of the company," Mr. Little said. "They were unable to get anywhere on the question of having books for the readers which would not permit of 'estimating.' I finally appealed to Mr. Insull. He ordered the new books used. I checked up last Thursday and found that only fifty of the books had been installed. I was astonished."

Another matter complained of by Mr. Little was the fact that the company sent out letters without the signature of the writer. He said this made it impossible to trace the letters to the writers.

The company has little system about handling adjusted complaints, Mr. Little said. Mr. Little said the records were in such poor shape that it was impossible to get accurate information.

Liable to 177,012 Fines.

Mr. Little declared the company had deliberately violated the agreement that the company would not adjust complaints without the commission's representatives reviewing them.

An employé of the company threw a bunch of bills for occupants of an apartment building into a basement engine room, Mr. Little said.

The company is liable to fines for 177,012 violations of a commission rule, Mr. Little said. This was on the rule requiring the testing of all meters every five years. The company's lawyers objected to this. They said the order, interpreted as Mr. Little had, would mean that the company must test 20 per cent of its equipment every year. They said this meant testing 14,751 meters per month.

Calls Wages Too Low.

Carelessness in collecting bills was another charge Mr. Little made against the company. He also declared that the company did not pay wages high enough to get good employés, in some instances.

"I was told that the employés I speak of," said Mr. Little, "were not paid what was promised them."

Mr. Little then went into the matter of the company shutting off gas in places where bills were disputed. He said there was an alarmingly large number of such instances.

Mr. Little was the only witness yesterday. He will conclude his testimony today and will be cross-examined by the company's lawyers.

Gas Up to Standard.

The only point Mr. Little would concede to the gas company was in the complaints regarding poor quality of gas. He said that the gas supplied was up to standard, and that if it gave unsatisfactory results it was because of defective or improperly adjusted appliances.

The commissioners refused to discuss the possibility of changing the existing rates. It was learned, however, that there may be a revision downward. The commission, if it sets a new rate, will do so after a complete investigation. The present rate is an emergency one.

They Are 17 and 20, but Think They Should Be Wed

Leona Ferguson is only 17, and Clarence Lowe is but 20, but they hold the conviction that they are old enough to marry. Leona was missed yesterday afternoon at her home, 13049 Brandon avenue. Subsequently it was learned that Clarence had left his home, 13158 Brandon avenue. Leona's father jumped to the conclusion they were going to Fort Wayne, Ind., to be married. He called the police, and asked them to catch the elopers. He called again as Detective Dooley was about to start. He said his daughter had called up from Hammond, Ind. She didn't say whether she had married or not, but he believes she married Lowe in Crown Point. He's waiting to give his blessing.

THE CAST.

Drina Hilliard................Alice Brady
Colonel Lambert..............Frank Losee
Blair Carson..................Leslie Austen
Marian Hilliard....Mrs. Gertrude Hillman
Adelaide................Josephine Whittell
Zelie.........................Gladys Valerie

By Mae Tinée.

From that strenuous lady "The Indestructible Wife" to Drina, the gentle, honest, and lonely daughter of a fashionable milliner, is a long leap. Miss Brady, however, accomplishes the feat and is most appealing in her present rôle. (Don't you get sick of that word "appealing"? I do. Why on earth doesn't somebody get busy and coin some more language!)

In "The Indestructible Wife" Miss Brady was the last word in fitness. She oozed energy. Muscles rippled under her silky skin. She was all the cranks on outdoors and exercise rolled into one. And she got away with it, too.

She left you frayed, limp, and exhausted, filled with fearful admiration such as might be inspired by a cyclone or the color scheme of the Grand cañon—or something else remarkable and beyond your comprehension. You hoped she'd get another part like it. She didn't. Instead she comes as a little doe eyed innocent—from the ranch where her mother has kept her immured — trustingly into the heart of New York.

From a distance Drina's mother has preached a gospel of faith in and honesty toward one's fellow men. Thus she has successfully inculcated ideas of righteous living in her daughter's mind, while at the same time coaxing the almighty dollar into her own cash register by foul means when fair do not work fast enough. Unexpectedly Drina swoops down on the situation. She's tired of the ranch and wants to be a milliner like mamma.

One look at Drina and, as is so often told in the pictures, Drina "knocks 'em dead." The young man she met on the train coming out by means of the tamest of holdups finds a rival when the city is reached in that gay roué, Col. Lambert. He who had been happily gamboling in the expensive wake of Zelie of the theater bats his merry old eye in Drina's direction and starts off for pastures new.

Mamma Marie favors Lambert, for bankruptcy threatens and business has removed much of the oil from mamma's disposition. But everything comes right in the end for Drina, the milliner's daughter, which means that mamma sees the light; Drina becomes engaged to the only man she ever loved, the colonel returns to his Zelie, who, after all, was a lot too good for him, and—curtain!

You won't be particularly struck with Mr. Leslie Austen, but you will like all the others in the cast, I'm sure —especialy Miss Brady—and you'll think "Marie, Ltd.," a pretty good picture—if you like that class of pictures.

NOTES OF SCREENDOM

Dorothy Dalton will change trains here tomorrow morning for New York, where she is to make some new pictures.

They are advertising the "Cannibals of the South Seas" in most interesting fashion on the various theater screens. We are told the pictures are "audaciously startling, conventional, and original" and requested to watch the cannibals "bury their dead alive."

Mrs. Sidney Drew is collecting hatpins for the convalescent soldiers at the United States army base hospital, Camp Dix, N. J. For why? So the boys can make bead necklaces of them and thus secure pin money while watiing for pay day. How do they do it? O, with colored paper and shellac, I'm told.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

SECOND: THIS EXERCISE IS what you want to pratice for the reduction of the upper part of your figure: Raise arms to horizontal. Stretch the arms straight above the head, fingers interlocked, arms touching ears. Then with fingers still interlocked describe a complete circle about 24 inches in diameter, the body bending only at the waist. Do this five times in one direction. Then repeat five times in opposite direction. Gradually increase to twenty or thirty morning and night.

META: THE RIGHT STANDING posture is maintained by holding the body as tall as possible without actually rising on the toes. In this way the trung (your body) is given its greatest length, there is the largest space available for the organs, the muscles of the front, back, and sides are in perfect balance, and none is strained. The head is erect and so poised that none of the muscles is overworked.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Eat More Lamb.

If the wool growers want their propaganda to reach more people than it does perhaps it would be a good plan for them to send around accomplished food experts and cooks as the department of agriculture and the bureau of fisheries do.

Boys' and girls' clubs of the states nearest the Pacific have built up large flocks of sheep by rescuing the loitering and feeble lambs of moving flocks from the coyotes. The world shortage of wool sent hundreds of people to growing sheep, but not so much has been done to teach us to eat lamb and mutton.

Scotland and England for centuries have considered mutton a favorite "joint." They have deviled and made into curries the leftovers of this meat and made broths of the bone. They raised this meat, but had to import beef. A large part of their population would not have had meat but for the mutton.

A large number of people in England today would have no meat but for the rabbits they raise by their own doors, but with us lamb and mutton are increasingly abundant. Geographically, according to some information received from the wool growers, "more than half of the lambs produced in the United States find a market in the section of the country east of Pittsburgh and north of Washington, containing slightly over one-fourth of our population. The west raises the lambs and the east and New England consume them."

One of these "pointed paragraphs on lamb" says: "If the 'fell' or tough, thin membrane stuck to the pelt instead of the carcass the chances are that there would be more American people eating lamb today than ever. This tin, papery 'skin' carries with it the woolly flavor and failure to remove it before cooking has turned many a housewife away from this meat."

The recipe for pot roast of lamb shoulder has been given many times in this column. Skinned and roasted gently on a bed of vegetables, with the least bit of water, it is delicious. But watch the butcher when you buy it. Most people have the bones broken and use the piece for stew, and he may forget to ask you if you want it so. You cannot carve it well then.

The shoulder has higher flavor or is sweeter than the leg and may be cooked as tender with care. This is the season when lamb used to be scarcest and highest and we unreasonably wanted it most. Note prices today. They ought to be reasonable in almost all sections.

REAL LOVE STORIES

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to literary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscripts returned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

A Long Distance Cousin.

A few weeks ago I received a letter from a friend, who lives in a small town, telling me of a romance that started in her home.

About two months prior to the time she wrote to me she received a letter from a man claiming to be a distant relative. He went into detail, explaining the relationship, but, although my friend, Mary Johnston, could not recollect any relatives by the name he gave, she thought it probable he was in some way related to her through her mother's side of the family. She accepted him as a long distance cousin and wrote to him stating that he might call on her when he was in town, as that was the quest of his letter, and he expected to be in town soon.

One afternoon about a week after Mary had answered this letter a man called at her home while she was away and was admitted by the colored maid, who, after learning that he had called in answer to a letter from her mistress, asked him to wait until Mary returned.

This man was handsome, according to the maid's point of view, and as he was of her dusky hue, she could not resist the temptation to make him feel at home until her mistress returned. She accordingly took it upon herself to tell him about the weather and northern climate, and to entertain him, for she thought it quite possible that he had called in regard to a position as chauffeur—she knew he would make a wonderful chauffeur, and was it not policy to be on good terms with the chauffeur?

It was not more than fifteen minutes, however, until Mary came home, much to the disappointment of the maid and the man, for they had by that time progressed to subjects beyond the weather.

It took some time to explain matters satisfactorily to my friend when she beheld this "distant relative," and it was not until they had searched the neighborhood for a city directory and had found in it the name of another Mary Johnston (colored), living in another part of the town, that the problem was solved. The letter which Mary had received had no street address and was delivered to her in error.

In her letter to me Mary stated that in less than three weeks after this little incident she was obliged to get another maid, as the other one had become the wife of her caller.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Show Him the Way Out.

"Dear Miss Blake: There is a certain young man that interests me very much and whom I like very well, too. He is one year my senior and is very handsome, too. Often times he has told me that he loves me, but there are some times that he likes to insult me, which I do not take up to be wrong. Would you please advise me as to how and what I should do as to whether going with him, or not?

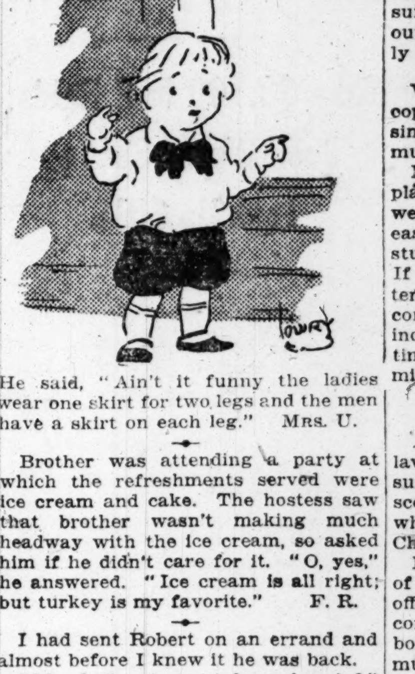
"M."

If a man liked to insult you, surely, child, you have enough self-respect to show him the door and never open it up for him again. Why should you let a man insult you a second time?

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

Paul was sitting at the window one day and seemed to be interested in something outside when I asked him what there was to be so quiet about.



He said, "Ain't it funny the ladies wear one skirt for two legs and the men have a skirt on each leg." MRS. U.

Brother was attending a party at which the refreshments served were ice cream and cake. The hostess saw that brother wasn't making much headway with the ice cream, so asked him if he didn't care for it. "O, yes," he answered. "Ice cream is all right; but turkey is my favorite." F. R.

I had sent Robert on an errand and almost before I knew it he was back.

"My, but you must have hurried," I said.

"Yes," he answered; "don't you think I'm thrifting on time?" M. C. R.

NO. 27.

"HARDENING OFF" WINDOW BOX SEEDLINGS.

The principle is identical with that of the hotbed plant hardening, the window here being considered as the hotbed sash there.

The pane of coated glass or the sheet of dampened muslin (whichever was used) is entirely removed at the first sign of the young seedlings at the surface. The window is then raised progressively during a period of nine or ten days for the day and a similar period for the night, just as the sash of hotbeds were raised in yesterday's article, the same temperatures and wind restrictions governing. On balmy, sunny days, the entire box is placed outdoors, in sunny exposure, and finally left out at night.

Watering, sparingly at first and more copiously at greater intervals later, is similar to that of hotbeds. All weeds must be kept pulled in both cases.

Nothing is gained by undue haste in planting out before settled warm weather. In fact, the seedlings may easily be injured and permanently stunted by late, raw, chilly weather. If they outgrow their cramped quarters they may be transplanted to other containers so as to space them two inches apart, both ways, until proper time for outdoor planting after the middle of April.

"DANDELION GREENS."

A precious thing is the well kept lawn; neglect it and it soon thins out sufficiently to acord a footing for the scores of annual and perennial weeds which strive to "jump the claim." Chief among these is the dandelion.

For years we have tried every means of interesting householders and park officials in its eradication; but the "unconventional" dandelion still stands in bold effrontery, even gaining ground in mute testimony of the public's indifference.

Since 1917 we have advocated its destruction by gathering its roots for winter forcing by gathering the tops for culinary use, by gathering the flowers to make wreaths and garlands for school room decoration, by soil injection of herbicides, and by ceaseless grubbing, but—the dandelion still flourishes, especially in the commons of our parks, to scatter its winged seeds for miles about, infesting and reinfesting the grounds even of the well kept home.

Our limited space does not admit of repeating the same subject matter year after year, even to forestall "scoops," but a TRIBUNE editorial of last Friday heartens us to try again. Dig them out entirely, cut them persistently an inch or two below the surface to keep the foliage from rising for air, eat them, stomp them, boil them in oil or burn them with brimstone, but at least prevent them from going to seed to nullify the efforts of those who try to keep their lawns clean.

LIGHTS—THE HOME GODS

The old Greeks called them Lares and Penates. We call them household gods. But they are the lamps, the soft lights that make home—my home—different from anybody else's home. One is the generous reading lamp around which my children gather to do their lessons at night. One is the big, graceful chandelier that gives a distinguished glow to my parties. One is the soft little side lights that we turn on in the quiet hours when we are talking and thinking and feeling full of feels. Anywhere—anywhere in the world—with those same lights shedding the same soft rays we would know that it was home.

Take yourself by the hand tonight and look hard at your lamps and fixtures. I hope that they are not terribly ugly. But maybe they are. Maybe they are a menace to the taste of your family and to their eyesight. Oh, do get yourself beautiful ones now, while you are still young. You can have any sort you like, awfully cheap, if you will call on the Edison Company. They will let you have them, too, for one-twelfth down and the rest payable, month by month for twelve months, with your lighting bill. Isn't that a mighty fair offer? Only do hurry up because decorating time is here. Your landlord will surely let you put up your own fixtures and, if you move, you can take them with you.

'Hamlet' Is Coming; Bill at the Palace; News of the Stage

Walter Hampden, an actor of considable eminence and more ability, will play "Hamlet" at the Princess for an indefinite time beginning on Easter Monday evening. The engagement is the result of certain dilletante afternoon performances given recently in New York City at which the attendance was important and approving. Two of Mr. Hampden's appearances in Chicago were in "The Servant in the House" and "Good Gracious, Annabelle!"

Marguerite Farrell—A young singer of much self-possession and a wide wardrobe, changing her dress after each number and showing herself in the process via the cinema. One of her ballads, "After the Country Goes Dry," contains this plaintive inquiry:

What will men do with wild women
When they can't put liquor in 'em
After the country goes dry?

'Tis a pretty thing.

"The Sirens"—Frank Dobson, the handsome actor, with a dozen accomplices, in a pretentious sketch which has words but no language, sounds but no music, and movement but no action. Nothing to brag about.

Joe Laurie and Aleen Bronson—They give you twenty minutes of the quickest fun in vaudeville. Mr. Laurie is a wit of the curbstone kind, Miss Bronson a sly humorist, and both have pronounced individuality. Their nonsense is never commonplace and it is often keen.

"Dream Fantasies"—A dance spectacle costing $10,000.

Others—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wilde and their daughter, Connie, in shadowgraphs; Miss Grace Nelson, the American-made prima donna; Tom Smith and Ralph Ausin in "All Fun," and Marie and Ann Clark in "In What?"

"Let's Beat It," a soldier show by former members of the A. E. F., is having "tough sledding" at the Century theater in New York, according to "Variety," although the performance is for the benefit of the Twenty-seventh division, which paraded recently in that city, arousing great enthusiasm. Bowman and Shea, a vaudeville "team" just returned from service with the American tanks in France, were forced to withdraw from the stage of the Yonge Street theater in Toronto, Canada, last week because of the hostile attitude of the audience. The players were in the uniform of the U. S. A. Julian Eltinge's Revue will succeed "Atta Boy," the entertainment of the overseas veterans at the Olympic, after next week.

Miss Grace George announces this morning that next season she will make another attempt to establish a stock company in New York similar in character and operation to those made famous by Augustin Daly, A. M. Palmer and Lester Wallack. She plans to be sailing soon for Europe in the hope of obtaining foreign plays to add to her two new American comedies—"Ruined Lady," by Miss Frances Nordstrom, and "She Would and She Did," by Mark Reed, who learned to be a dramatist from Prof. Baker at Harvard.

Sidney Drew Is Ill.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Sidney Drew, famous in the "movies" and on the stage, is seriously ill at his home, 876 Park avenue. He is suffering from a complication of diseases following a complete physical collapse in Detroit, Mich., last Friday, where he had been playing with Mrs. Drew in "Keep Her Smiling."

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Announcement has been made by Mrs. J. Todhunter Thompson of 10 East Seventy-eighth street of the engagement of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, and the Rev. Gilbert Darlington, son of Bishop Darlington and Mrs. James H. Darlington of Harrisburg, Pa. Miss Thompson made her debut two winters ago and is a granddaughter of the late William Remsen. During the war the Rev. Mr. Darlington served as a chaplain in the United States naval forces. No date has been set for the wedding.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. George B. Post of 3 East Fifty-first street of the breaking of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Harriet A. Post, and Capt. Leopoldo Belloni of the Italian flying corps. The engagement of Miss Post and Capt. Belloni was announced last December. Miss Post is a sister of George B. Post Jr., who married Miss Irene Langhorne Gibson, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson.

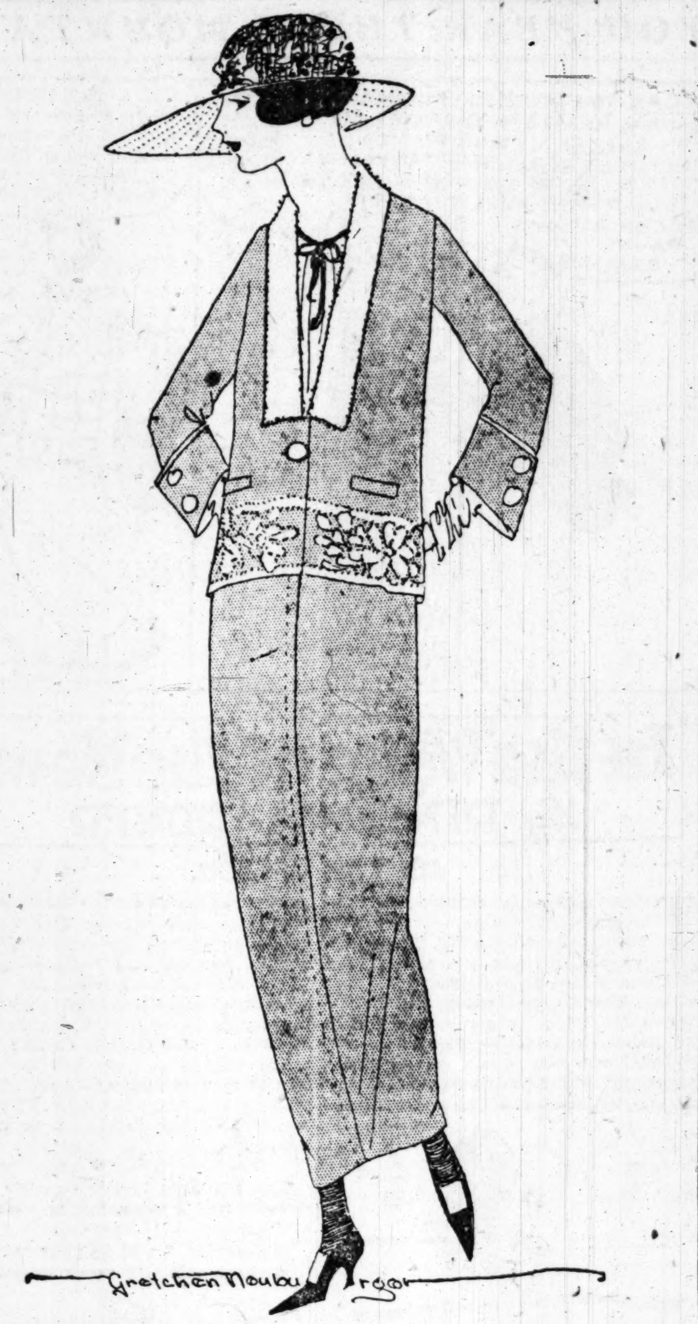
FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.



BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—At the spring showing of a certain importer the bove showing of a tle suit caused a ripple of universal gratitude. As the little mannikin walked out in it we said to each other, "Ah, how nice! Why, you can wear that!" We found out afterward that this broadcloth of French blue was an American design. Then we understood.

The collar is white angora and the trimming is white angora embroidery. Big pearl buttons set off the sleeves and fasten the coat, and the long, narrow skirt closes down the front with a seam. The hat worn with this is a poke with crown of rough straw about which are clustered bunches of grapes, and the georgette brim is bound in straw.

Chicago Girl Is Cheering Soldiers Despite Brest Mud

A Chicago girl is doing notable work in relieving serious conditions at Brest, the army debarkation camp which has been threatened with congressional inquiry, dispatches announce. She is Miss Anne Watson, the regional director of the Y. M. C. A. women's canteen division. Miss Watson's territory includes Pontanezen barracks and the Brest distrct as a whole. She believes the only way to solace grumpy man is via his stomach, and she has consistently applied the theory and has found it absolutely certain.

"Our Y. M. C. A. girls find that hot chocolate, doughnuts, and good coffee will chase the blues away from the most disgruntled doughboy," remarked Miss Watson a few days ago. "You know, it rains all the time at Brest, and the mud—why, there's oodles of it and it is always there.

"Rain doesn't interfere with our cooking and serving. Indeed, it's kind of jolly to be insde and cooking doughnuts while it's pouring outside. We did a big job of cooking not long ago and served 6,000 cups of chocolate at Pontanezen one Sunday.

"We have as a rule about 70,000 soldiers at Pontanezen to cheer up, but the Y. M. C. A. women can do the job."

Blames Peace Delay for Suffering of Poor in France

Mme. Eugene Guerin, delegated by the Fraternal League of the Children of France to present the story of 700,000 French children suffering from the devastation of war, will speak at the Fourth Presbyterian church, 126 East Chestnut street, tonight at 8 o'clock.

"What do you consider the effect of Americans in France will be on your country?" she was asked.

"It will revolutionize the country in many ways, but chiefly it will inspire France to do things in a big way," was the reply.

Then she told of her recent visit to France and of the needs of the children.

"The French never will forget what has been done already," she said, "but America must not forget that their needs are growing greater. They must have food and clothing."

Workingman's Theater for N. Y.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—In a few months when the united labor education committee has realized its dreams of a theater in Broadway for the worker, the tired glovemaker or longshoreman can, for 50 cents, ease back in a red plush chair and devote himself to an evening's entertainment of the hilarious delights of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt." And if, perchance, he should be old fashioned enough to voice a preference for a sight of Viola Vodka, flickering her virtue away in five reels of "Her Only Chance," it will become the duty of the united labor education committee to educate him up to a point where he will be able to appreciate "Hedda Gabler," "Ghosts," and the other mirth provoking masterpieces of the late Henrik.

IN MEMORIAM.

CORDELL—Russell Cordell. In loving memory of our darling boy, who passed away 10 years ago today, on his fifth birthday.

There was a choir of angels,
It was not quite complete;
God took our darling boy
To fill the vacant seat.

PAPA, MAMMA, AND SISTERS.

MENDELSOHN—Jacob J. Mendelsohn. In sad, loving memory of our dear brother, who departed this life three years ago, April 8, 1916. Gone but not forgotten.

A sad month of the year,
When we laid to rest our brother dear,
honest, and true.
May his soul rest in peace.

SCHULTZ—Ida Schultz, nee Krueger. In loving memory of my dear daughter, who died April 8, 1918, a year ago today.

We saw her suffer and heard her sigh.
But with aching hearts and weeping eyes
We saw her sinking hour by hour,
We could not save her from death's power,
But now she calmly sleeps at last.
All pains, all aches, all suffering past.
The moon is shining on her grave.
Beneath lies the one we love but whom we could not save.

Worthy of respect are you
From those you left behind;
A better husband there could not be,
A father more true and kind.
Silently the shades of evening
Hover o'er our lonely door,
But the footsteps that we long for Sound in our home no more.
All is dark and lonely
Without you father, dear.

For our father, who loved us,
Has forever passed away.

JOYFUL MUSIC OF CUBS' SWATS NOT MELODY TO SUNMAIDS

FRESNO BEATEN AS PENT UP HITS GET RELEASE, 6-2

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Fresno, Cal., April 7.—[Special.]—Getting away from the Pacific Coast league clubs, Chicago's Cubs were able to win a practice game in impressive style today, beating the Fresno Sunmaids, 6 to 2, before another big crowd of enthusiastic fans. Big crowds seem the most impressive thing on this tour. There were over 3,500 today who for some reason or other came out to see the game.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about the fracas for the home fans was the way the Cubs hit the ball. They accumulated a dozen base hits, so it was the best exhibition of swatting they have staged this spring. The fact that the swats were made against Lefty Krause, former star of the American league, makes it worth mentioning. This Krause ten years ago this summer won eleven straight for Connie Mack.

Barber Demon with Stick.

Barber and Tommy Daly were the bombing heroes, each getting three singles in five attempts. This Barber person swatted three out of five yesterday morning and two out of four in the afternoon. He's hitting better than any man on the Cub squad and running the bases and fielding as well as any of them, so one should not be surprised if he's stationed at some place in the outfield on opening day at the north side April 23.

Young Harry Weaver went the entire nine innings for Chicago and had a curve ball breaking almost true to the rules. He held the enemy to six hits and kept them well scattered. Weaver is one pitcher on the Cub staff who seems to be ready to do his best if his best is worth anything. He and Speed Martin and Phil Douglas might get by in the National league for a week while Vaughn, Tyler, Hendrix and the rest of them are working the soreness out of the arms.

"Soft" for Sunmaids.

The Sunmaids, representing the Raisin Growers' association of this city, is composed of professional ball players out here after sunshine, clean air and money and they seem to be getting three in one. The game conflicted with the visit of a one armed circus which bumped into us at Pasadena and Los Angeles, but the game drew the larger crowd in spite of the street parade.

Bill McCabe, Cub utility man and captain of the upper berth squad, rode in the leading auto of the circus parade and directed the crowd. Bill is well worth all they pay him.

No Kick by Mitchell.

Manager Mitchell stated this morning that he was well satisfied with his team despite the showing it made against San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland, and Vernon of the coast league. If the president and manager is satisfied it seems there's no use in the fans of Chicago getting worried. Score:

SOX UNLIMBER AND MAUL TEXAS VARSITY, 9 TO 1

Austin, Tex., April 7.—[Special.]—With the sun blazing down in midseason form, the White Sox steam roller easily flattened the University of Texas longhorns in nine rounds of free for all swatting at Clark field this afternoon. Score, 9 to 1.

Shellenback graced the slab for six innings, surrendering the lone collegian tally when a pass, single by Falk, and Barry's double came together in the fourth.

Hap Felsch was missing from the scene, owing to a sore foot. The slugging center fielder underwent an operation at Houston yesterday for the removal of a corn and, after parting with the pet, played nine innings with the ailing dog. He expects to resume active duty at Houston Wednesday.

COACHER AT THIRD

When He May and When He May Not Touch the Baserunner.

BY BILLY EVANS.

ONCE the coacher at third could do about anything to stop a base runner from trying to score when he believed the runner was sure to be retired. Every now and then a coacher would make a flying tackle to intercept a runner, so that for a minute would make you think you were at a football game.

Several years ago a rule was formulated to do away with abuses as practiced by coachers at third. No longer can he wait to figure out the chances of the runner, but he must make up his mind quickly and by word of mouth or some sign known to the runner tell him whether he should pull up at third or try for home.

Usually the runner's back is to the play, so he must be guided by the judgment of the coacher.

Now, if a coacher holds or touches a runner at third or rounding third base for the plate, the runner is automatically retired by the action of the coacher.

The two major leagues have agreed on an interpretation of this rule. That is a wise policy. On a ball hit over the fence, or when the ball is infield, and there is no further chance for a play, any act on the part of the coacher, as slapping the runner on the back or assisting him in dusting off his uniform, is overlooked.

To get credit for making a home run, the most necessary thing, after hitting the ball, is to touch the bases in the proper order. In all home runs where the ball is batted out of the inclosure it is necessary for the umpire to constantly watch the ball until it disappears from his view.

If a ball was twenty feet fair when it passed outside of the park or into the stand, either of which must be not less than 235 feet from the home plate, and then passed into foul territory before it disappeared from the view of the umpire, it would have to be called a foul ball. That seems like an unjust situation, but the rules so cover it.

MORE ABOUT POLLUTION.

THE first problem in restocking any stream is the elimination of pollution. No amount of planting of fry or fingerlings will make good fishing if the water is unsuitable for the healthy growth of young fishes or if the spawning beds are polluted with filth or chemicals.

New York state is going after the pollution problem in the right way. All last summer they had Dr. Ward of the University of Illinois biological department investigating the pollution of their streams. In a report on his findings read before the American Fisheries society he covers the subject in a thorough way, bringing up several points that are usually overlooked.

Chief of these is the fact that the presence of fish in a stream is not an indication that the stream is not being polluted and that adult fish need not be killed outright to demonstrate that pollution is taking place. He directs attention to the fact that pollution may gradually kill off the minute organisms, plankton, on which all young fishes depend for growth and nourishment, and that when this occurs the planting of fry is pouring money down a rat hole.

Almost every state has laws against pollution of public waters, but they are seldom enforced. The tendency always has been to give those who pollute our waters the benefit of the doubt.

Even where it cannot be demonstrated that the waste matter thrown into our waters is harmful it should not be permitted. Says Dr. Ward: "A stream which has been visited with an acid bath or scoured with a strong alkali takes many months, if not years, for its recovery. A famous biologist who has studied carefully the waters of western Pennsylvania says that those streams where washings of coal have passed down them are real deserts, barren of all kinds of life, and is inclined to the view that it will take centuries for their repopulation."

All our streams would be in the same condition but for the fact that no one discovered a way to save money by dumping refuse into them. We are a wasteful, untidy people.

'BIG TEN' HEADS ARE RE-ELECTED

At a meeting of graduate managers of the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association at the University club yesterday Avery Brundage, former Illinois athlete, who is national all around champion, was reëlected president. Warren D. Howe of Indiana was reëlected secretary-treasurer.

The committee by unanimous vote decided to drop the grenade throw as a conference event. This contest was added to the program for the first time last year.

SIDE TRIP OF GOOFS LIKELY TO DETERMINE PLACES ON SOX TEAM

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Dallas, Tex., April 7.—[Special.]—The White Sox Goofs lost a day out of their training calendar today and were glad of it. They were to have had the use of the Marine park in the morning, but rain during the night converted it into a submarine lot temporarily, and in the afternoon the Dallas team tackled the Cincinnati Reds.

So there was nothing to do but learn baseball by observation, which the Goofs proceeded to do by invitation of Manager Moran and Business Manager Bancroft.

As the No. 2 team did not land here from its Waco trip until after midnight, the men were glad to get the day off before starting their interurban schedule tomorrow.

Shano in Charge of Rookies.

Goof Manager John Collins has considerable responsibility on his shoulders this spring, for he has to keep tab on several promising prospects and report to Manager Gleason next Saturday when the two squads get together here once more. On the showing of the youngsters in the games to be played this week depends something of the makeup of the two teams that will go north by separate ways next Sunday night.

In the infield Shano has Henry and Runge fighting for the job of subbing for Chick Gandil at first base, in case the veteran's wobbly knee gets out of kilter during the coming season. Both are exquisite fielders, although Runge is inclined to forget he has two hands, a habit easily broken. It depends on which can hit best.

Many Good Infielders.

Then there is McClellan, who looks to be a classy third baseman and has a good chance for the utility infield berth. In fact, the Sox are so well supplied with infield talent that Gleason is trying to make an outfielder of Mostil, and John Collins has him to watch as well as Bruno Haas, another candidate for the gardener's task, who is being taught to bat ambidextrously like Weaver.

With a pitching staff in need of replenishment, much depends on how Jack Sullivan and Ed Corey shape up in these games with the Goofs. Doc White, owner of the Waco club, gave Sullivan some instruction in dealing out a slow ball the first day in Waco, and the youngster practiced it with some success the following day, although he did not work in the game.

Sullivan is fairly sure of a job if any of the veteran left-handers—Williams, Danforth, or Russell—cannot deliver this year. The battle for the extra right-hander's berth is being fought by Corey, Roberson, and Hansen, two of whom are on John Collins' roster.

Three Amateur Leagues Meet in Joint Session

THE United States Golf association has accepted an invitation from the Canadian Golf association for an international match. The dominion golfers have suggested that it be played following the Canadian open championship at Hamilton in August, and it is hoped several U. S. players will compete in the dominion title tournament. Teams will consist of ten on each side. William C. Fownes Jr. of Pittsburgh has been appointed captain of the United States team. The last match with Canada was played at Quebec in 1909.

Professional Alec Duncan reports that the fairways and greens at the Chicago Golf club will be as good as ever this year. They are in charge of Al Heibner, who has a number of returned soldiers in his force. The club is planning to enlarge its social activities.

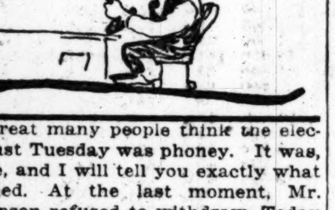
ME FOR MAYOR.

THIS, people, is election day for dissatisfied voters. Those who didn't care to see Mr. Thompson elected, or who bet against his election, have here a chance to get even. The election today will be between Mr. Carm, who ran as a Socialist Labor candidate or something, and myself, who ran as a dependent partisan and might have been elected but for my withdrawal at the last moment.



A great many people think the election last Tuesday was phoney. It was, people, and I will tell you exactly what hapened. At the last moment, Mr. Thompson refused to withdraw. Today Mr. Thompson's name is not on the ballot.

The ballot that will be presented to you is as follows:

FOR MAYOR:

Lardner vote yes. O

Carm vote no. O

Let your protest be heard by congress. O

As outlined in this column last week, the polls will be open today from 6 A. M. until noon and instead of trying to find the polling place in your precinct, your vote may be cast by looking in the telephone directory for THE TRIBUNE and then calling up Central 100 and asking for me and registering your vote. All telephonic votes for me will be counted and those registered for Mr. Carm, my opponent, will be thrown to one side. Here is your chance to win a bet on the election and my tip to you is to vote against Carm. No one who voted for Mr. Thompson or wagered on him is eligible to vote today.

* *

The platform of the people's candidate is well known, but in case some are ignorant of it, here it is:

If defeated, I will be your mayor.
If elected, I will move elsewhere.

As evidence of the esteem in which the people's favorite is held despite the result of last Tuesday's election, here is a verse received today from the campaign manager I had two weeks ago, Q. A. Ryan, but fired for lack of idears:

I wisht I was a little coot,
The smallest thing-em-bob in town,
To slide inside the postal chute
And beat the elevator down.

NAME MRS. LETTS TO HELP U. S. G. A. IN TITLE EVENT

BY JOE DAVIS.

Administering the affairs of the United States Golf association is not an easy task, as it includes running the women's national championship. For twenty-two years it has been in charge of men, but now, after an interval of two years caused by war conditions, they have called for assistance from the women.

Secretary Howard F. Whitney recently asked Miss Edith E. Packard, president of the Women's Western Golf association, to appoint a representative from this section to act on a committee of four or five which will assist the U. S. G. A. officials in conducting the tournament and also have a voice in the selection of the course each year.

Mrs. Letts Appointed.

Mrs. F. C. Letts Jr. of the Indian Hill club, former western champion, was nominated, and has consented to act. Miss Fanny C. Osgood of Boston is chairman.

At the monthly meeting of the W. W. G. A. yesterday at Mandel's arrangements were made for a series of inter club matches. There will be south, north, and west sections, the latter including some of the clubs in the northwest. Each team probably will consist of a minimum of five players, with three reserves, although the number may be increased.

Title Play in September.

Each section can arrange as many matches as it sees fit, and the three winning teams of each section will play off in September for the city team championship, using the Nassau system.

The city individual championship will be held at Skokie, July 28 to 31. A four day tournament will be held at Midlothian the second or third week in June, and a similar event at Beverly the second week in July. Windsor and Olympia Fields each will stage two day tournaments.

ORGANIZATION of a national body to be known probably as the federal highway council will be effected at the Congress hotel today at a gathering of some 400 representatives of various organizations having to do in one way or another with the road building affairs of the United States.

The specific object of this new get together movement (they've been coming thick and fast of late among the good roads clans) is to provide a sort of clearing house for forthcoming campaigns in behalf of a national highway system to be built and maintained by the federal government. In particular the boosters propose to get behind a bill introduced in the last session of congress by Senator Townsend of Michigan.

This would provide $425,000,000 for constructing a network of highways "to comprise not less than two main line roads in each state" and to form, when completed, a system of through routes covering the entire continent. It is estimated that the job would keep 25,000 men busy for five years.

The delegates come from virtually every state in the union and include officials of highway associations, automobile clubs, building material organizations, and the like.

A questionnaire sent out by the Chicago Automobile Trade association shows that a majority of the dealers here are not in favor of holding this spring the used car show which has been an annual event for the last two years. The general opinion seems to be that the exhibit is a good thing "when conditions warrant it," but that this year they can sell all the used cars they can get hold of at their own salesrooms. So it seems probable that the show will not be held.

GENGLER OUTROLLS REILLY.

STRETCH FIGHT RULE; LIGINGER TO INSPECT RACINE BOXERS HERE

"Tribune" Decisions

At Canton, O.—Jack Britton and Bryan Downey fought draw [12].

BY RAY PEARSON.

Since "Mahomet couldn't go to the mountains, the mountains are coming to Mahomet," which applied in the present instance means that the Wisconsin state boxing commission has amended one of its most stringent rules.

This rule is that boxers engaged for bouts within the confines of the Badger state must appear on the battleground at least three days before the time for entering the ring. Appearance in advance of a contest is demanded that the commission may have ample opportunity to learn if the boxers are in proper condition to fulfill their contracts.

No Appropriate Gym.

The show to be staged in John Wagner's arena in Racine, Wis., Thursday night, in which the windup will be furnished by Pal Moore and "Pekin Pete" Herman, bantamweights, has caused the change in the rule. It was found that due to a wartime lull in boxing in Racine, one thing sadly missed is a boxing gymnasium. Therefore there is no place where Moore, Herman, and other boxers to appear Thursday could finish their training work.

The chairman of the commission, Walter Liginer of Milwaukee, was informed of this and immediately solved the problem by declaring the three day rule null and void for this show.

Will Inspect Boxers Here.

In order that the commission may be satisfied the performers are in proper condition Chairman Liginger will come to Chicago today to take a peek at the boys in their training work. He will watch Moore, Herman, and Walter Jacobson, who boxes Clint Flynn in the ten round semi-windup, also others billed on the card. It looks as if this show would prove about the best Wagner ever has put on, and the advance ticket sale locally indicates a capacity house.

Jack Wolfe, Cleveland bantam, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Peoria, where tonight he unlimbers against Earl Puryear in a ten rounder. Wolfe will be remembered as the kid who put Pal Moore out of business for many months a couple of years ago. Wolfe got one of his elbows in the way of one of Moore's right swings, and the result was a fractured wrist for Pal, which finished the bout. Wolfe may be engaged to meet the winner of the [illegible] "Pekin Kid" mixup if he gets a [illegible] with Puryear.

Downey and Britton Draw Despite Spill for Latter

SULLIVAN-KILRAIN REFEREE PASSES AWAY

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 7.—John Fitzpatrick, who refereed the Mississippi City fight in which John L. Sullivan won the world's championship from Paddy Ryan in 1882, and the seventy-five round fight between Sullivan and Jake Kilrain at Richburg, Miss., in 1889, died at his home here today, 75 years old.

At the time of his death Fitzpatrick was state tax collector. He was for many years a Democratic leader and was delegate to several national conventions. He was mayor of New Orleans from 1892 to 1896.

PREP TRACK MEET AT LAKE FOREST

Lake Forest college will hold its annual interscholastic track and field meet for prep schools May 10. Under a recent ruling the Illinois High school Athletic association no academies will be allowed to compete. Between twenty and thirty schools will be represented. A cup for the relay and medals for the other events will be awarded.

On May 24, at Naperville, will be held the little five conference track and field meet.

Line Drive Removes Teeth from De Paul Prep Player

The first local prep school baseball accident occured at the De Paul academy field during practice yesterday. "Lefty" Mawicke, while pitching against the regulars, was hit in the mouth by a line drive off Pendergast's bat. "Lefty" lost several teeth, and four stitches were put in his lip. He will report for practice again in a few days.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

An attack of grippe kept Charley Morin from meeting Augie Kieckhefer in their Chicago league match at Bensinger's Monroe street room. Tonight Mannassau will meet Le Gros at the Casino room.

In the opening game of the pocket billiard handicap tournament at Burdick's Madison street room, Pettifer [100] defeated Kelly [90], 100 to 48, getting high run of 15. Tonight Maj. White [100] will meet Cole [100].

Engel defeated Roy, 35 to 24, in the pocket tournament at Braun's. Krulewich defeated Hubbell, 35 to 18.

CHICAGO LEAGUE.

Warm weather brought out an unusually big crowd to the meeting of the Chicago league, held at 128 West Randolph street. Bob Figg, as a representative of the Amateur Managers' league, extended an invitation to the members of the Chicago league to participate in the Sweitzer cup games at the end of the season, which was accepted. Games for Sunday: Rogers Parks at American Giants park, Joliet at Gunther park, Romeos at Normal park.

COLISEUM MEET A FIGHT BETWEEN C. A. A. AND I. A. C.

Big Teams to Scrap for 2ds, 3ds, and 4ths in A. A. U. Events.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

With announcement of the last batch of entries for the Central A. A. U. indoor junior and senior track and field championships, conducted by the Franklin Skating and A. C. at the Coliseum Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, the fight for the championship in both divisions seems to rest between the teams representing the Chicago Athletic association and Illinois Athletic club.

University of Chicago and Northwestern university have entered teams in both sets of games, but neither is well enough balanced to be given a chance to beat the well molded aggregations of the two Michigan avenue clubs. Coaches Delaney and Coyne of the C. A. A. and I. A. C., respectively, have entered every athlete of their colors, so enough points will be won by second, third, and fourth places to outdistance the college teams.

HINES EXPECTED TO CUT COST OF RAIL OPERATION

Reduced Expenditures in Every Department Are Predicted.

Eastern banking and railroad interpretation of the attitude of Director General Hines in refusing to make purchases under the steel prices recently fixed, is that his refusal is a part of a general plan to reduce operating expenses of the railroads.

The relation of income and outgo is so strongly adverse that the director general, in the expectation that he will be held to account for the showing of the properties, is seeking to lower the costs of operation and to do so will be obliged consistently to make reduced expenditures in every department.

For the first two months of the current calendar year the railroad administration's income was $122,000,000 below the amount of compensation agreed upon by the government to return to the roads. It is $74,000,000 behind the average of the same roads under private management for the corresponding two months in the past years. To fall behind in net earnings at the rate of $61,000,000 a month, in the face of largely increased gross revenues, leaves the director general in a position to work for lower operating charges, instead of continuing to pile up the deficit.

Traffic Falling Off.

At the same time there is a falling off in traffic, compared with high totals, and it is believed to be the director general's wish not to add more to freight and passenger rates but to cut the costs. If he insists on lower prices in every department he will be able consistently to refuse to grant further wage increases in the face of operating losses. With reference to wage scales, it is distinctly understood that reductions are not contemplated at this time but no further increases are to be sanctioned.

If the volume of freight traffic can be increased it will suggest improved underlying business conditions. To bring this about and, at the same time, protect the treasuries of the companies is understood to be the large general purpose which the director general is working out.

Rawson Discusses Outlook.

F. H. Rawson, president of the Union Trust company, returned yesterday from the east. Speaking of sentiment there, he said:

"I found eastern bankers more hopeful over the general outlook than two months ago. They had less apprehension over the labor situation. The change followed the efforts of large corporations to reach a better understanding with employés by, in one way and another, giving the men an interest in the direction of the business and in some sharing of profits. This policy is fundamental in producing better relations.

"It is thought that money rates will rule rather firm around the present level for some months. The government requirements are responsible for this feeling. But there is no suggestion of undue closeness and commercial rates are expected to run between 5½@6 per cent.

"In New England the leather interests have experienced an unexpected demand from abroad, especially from Great Britain, and it looks like leather products will not show any material decline in price for some time.

"All the banks are looking forward to peace as the first essential in the creation of general public confidence and trade activity. I believe that the best opinion is that the coming autumn will find all business on an excellent basis."

Foreman Bros. Increase Surplus.

Directors of Foreman Bros. Banking company have voted to increase the bank's surplus from $500,000 to $1,500,000, a rather notable addition, which will give the institution a capital and surplus of $2,000,000. The deposits are now more than $23,000,000, and a statement compiled by one of the banks, setting forth the percentage of increases by all the local institutions having $10,000,000 or more deposits, shows that Foreman Bros. have increased 177.3 in nine years. The Union Trust company shows an increase in the same period of 163.8 per cent. Both banks have made these increases without mergers or consolidations.

CHICAGO STOCK TRANSACTIONS

Union Carbide and Carbon led the local market in activity and the gain in price was 1 point. The buying amounted to more than 10,000 shares and was credited to good sources.

The packing house issues were active, but did not establish new records, although the closing quotations were generally above those of the previous session. A small feature was an advance of 1½ points in Wilson & Co. The stock was moderately traded in on the New York exchange.

Lindsay Light was quite active, but sold off 1 point. Booth Fisheries common was fractionally lower and fairly active. Sears-Roebuck made a fractional advance.

In the bond department the feature was shown by Chicago Railways issues. First mortgage 5s on one transaction dropped 3½ points from the previous sale at 77. The A bonds were off 2 points at 74. Traction bonds are gradually recording lower levels. Some of them are getting around receivership prices.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Cotton goods markets were much stronger with print cloths active and higher. Yarns were steadier and inquiries increasing. Dress goods were sold more freely. Raw silk was steady with China grades firmer. Jobbers reported a moderate business.

How to Obtain the Maximum Safe Income

PRUDENT investors generally find that they must content themselves with a reasonable interest rate, about 6%, if they wish to obtain securities which are genuine first mortgages and conform to the strictest standards of investment safety.

First mortgage bonds, safeguarded under the Straus Plan, afford the highest safety, on the one hand, and the highest really safe interest rate—6%—on the other.

You should read and study our "Questionnaire for Investors," which tells how to test the safety of any investment, and explains the definite system of safeguards known as the Straus Plan. Call at our office or write for this Questionnaire, the most valuable and instructive piece of investment literature we ever have published, and for our current offerings of sound 6% bonds. Ask for

NEWS OF PEACE SENDS UP PRICES OF INDUSTRIALS

Day's Turnover of Stocks Well Above Million Mark.

The New York Times.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Traders in stocks took full advantage today of the news from Paris, which forecast the early completion of the peace treaty, and bid the industrial stocks upward with considerable vim.

The railroad group was far less active, but among them good sized fractional increases were reported and the difference between the director general and the industrial board appeared to be ignored, for the time being at least.

Neither did the deadlock over steel prices have any effect upon the steel stocks, unless reference should be made to the deliberate advance of these issues while a number of the specialties were climbing rapidly.

The day's turnover was far enough above the million share mark to emphasize a substantial increased interest in dealings among the professional element and the impression prevailed in some quarters that public participation of the speculative order has been renewed.

While the immediate cause for buoyant feelings was the reported situation of the peace delegates and the apparent betterment of political conditions in southwestern Europe, the more influential and representative factors were probably expectations of business improvement to come later.

Expect Active Competition.

The course of industrial stocks brought more into evidence than before the volatile sentiments of speculators. The drift of opinion in regard to the steel market was furthered toward the expectation that active competition among producers might begin shortly.

This was aided by comment coming from Washington, and also heard in local circles, about the director general's attitude toward his purchases for the carriers. Less hope was expressed than at the end of last week that the matter would be compromised and the stand of the industrial board against any effort to reduce prices further presented possibilities of a difficult situation growing worse.

That is, worse from the point of view of those economists who believe that a period of stabilized prices would supply a successful medium for transferring consumers from a passive to an active state.

It is to be said that many practical students of the markets are not and never have been in favor of seeking to squelch the normal law of supply and demand, and they would prefer to have the present controversy develop into a complete abandonment of all effort to control commodity prices.

The average trader in stocks has not been greatly disturbed by a hitch in the steel program and periods of doubt over the result of a return to an open market have quickly been converted into belief that the situation would work itself out to the ultimate good of producers.

Sterling Exchange Lower.

Sterling and franc exchange lost a little ground without bringing forward any new developments in these markets. In banking circles considerable interest was expressed in London, rumors of gold shipments to this side coming from the South African fields.

In general the bankers felt that such an inflow would not be likely to begin soon owing to possible opposition by the financial authorities of this country. With a gold stock of around $3,000,000,000 on hand, an increase of more than [illegible] per cent since the war began, it is realized that a further increase might be more of a detriment than of value because of the danger of increasing inflation at a time when it is desirable to deflate credit and commodity prices. Also it was thought that Great Britain would desire to build up her gold reserves and allow the exchange market, only recently free of support, to be corrected later.

LIBERTY BOND TRADING NEAR RECORD OF YEAR

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Trading in Liberty bonds today continued on the same scale as last week, transactions for the week just closed amounting to over $75,000,000, compared with $60,000,000 for the week ended March 29, $62,000,000 for the week ended March 22, and only $55,000,000 for the week ended March 15. In brief, last week's trading in bonds was the largest since early in the year, and $25,460,000 of the total week's transactions was made up of one issue alone, the fourth 4¼s. The price change for the week was an advance of .08 of 1 point. Today's opening prices for the Liberty issues were lower.

Liberty third 4¼s were next on the list from the viewpoint of activity, $18,000,000 of these bonds changing hands at a net gain for the week of .52 of a point. These two issues alone made up over 50 per cent of last week's total transactions in the bond market.

In the matter of price changes Interborough-Metropolitan 4½s headed the list with a net gain for the week of over 6 points. Southern Pacific convertible 5s were next with a gain of nearly 3 points. Trading in these two issues together, however, amounted to less than $3,000,000.

While the Liberty issues sold lower today, there were no changes in the prices of foreign bonds. In the general market the tone was stronger. Pierce Oil 6s, American Agriculture debenture 5s, and United States Rubber 5s were in good demand.

AVERAGE PRICE OF HOGS NEARS MARKET RECORD

TOP PRICES COMPARED LIVE STOCK.

Top price for native beef cattle, hogs, sheep, and aged lambs at Chicago follow:

	Cattle.	Hogs.	Sheep.	Lambs.
Mon., Apr 7..	$20.00	$20.50	$16.00	$20.00
Week ago....	19.75	19.90	16.75	20.10
1918	15.80	17.75	16.75	21.00
1917	1.335	16.30	12.75	15.80
1916	9.95	9.70	9.00	11.70

With more than a third fewer hogs than corresponding Monday a year ago the expected happened, prices opening 10@15c higher with best as high as $20.50. The market weakened late in the forenoon and 13,000 of the 44,000 received remained in the pens, largely in possession of speculators. Armour houses were practically out of the trade. Most of the advance was lost before the finish.

Average price of hogs at $20.29 was 10c higher than Saturday and 60c above previous Monday, standing only 11c lower than the record day last September, $3.00 higher than a year ago, $4.29 above two years ago, and $12.97 higher than corresponding Monday of 1915, when the average was down to $7.32.

Receipts of hogs this week promise to fall decidedly short of a year ago, when Chicago's arrivals at 208,538 were largest on record for April and largest for any week from March to November of that year. Notwithstanding the large supply a year ago, prices advanced 10@15c, best selling up to $18.00.

Day's combined receipts of hogs at eleven markets opening day of this week totaled 138,000, against 137,000 a week ago and 159,000 a year ago. For the year to date eleven points received 10,361,000, against 10,072,000 a year ago and 8,974,000 two years ago.

Notwithstanding the fact that receipts of cattle opening day of this week at 16,000 were 9,000 smaller than a year ago, the market was largely 15@25c lower than last week's close, with cows and heifers as much as 50c lower for poorer kinds. Best beeves sold at $20.00. A year ago this week steers advanced 50@90c, best selling up to $16.40, or $3.60 below yesterday's top.

The first real warm weather of the season worked against the cattle trade. Stock took on big fills of water, which caused buyers to work slow at the start, and in many cases, where prices were quoted at a decline, killers figured they would show little price change on the killing sheets because of the shrink from first weights.

Lambs formed bulk of arrivals in the sheep house and prices declined 25@50c, wooled grades showing large end of decline. Aged and yearling grades were comparatively scarce and, because of a fair demand for this grade, prices were held on a steady basis. Top wooled lambs sold at $20.00 and best shorn at $16.75.

Estimated receipts for today, 13,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 13,863 cattle, 27,377 hogs, and 12,565 sheep corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Talk at Washington of radical price readjustments is reported to be having a depressing effect on both export and domestic buying. Large inquiries for export, which seemed likely to become orders in the near future, are being held back, it is said. Foreign inquiries for rails are especially heavy, in view of the limited supply and high prices in other producing countries, and substantial orders are looked for as soon as prices are settled.

Copper authorities made the assertion yesterday that before the end of the year the present big surplus stock would cease to exist. It is also asserted that purchases for central Europe will be heavy as soon as credits can be arranged. The first of the expected buying movements is likely to take care of half of the world's surplus. The forecast has been made that by the end of the year producers in the United States will again be working close to capacity.

Railroad officials in New York said yesterday that they believe Southern Pacific is getting into a position where there is likely to be a substantial extra distribution made to stockholders. The suggestion was made that oil properties may be referred to in this connection, but such development could happen only if ownership were confirmed by the courts in the litigation with the government.

Henry L. Doherty & Co. announces that the monthly distribution on Cities Service Bankers shares, payable May 1 to shares of record April 15, will be 41.1c on each share. This compares with a monthly disbursement of 39.6c on April 1, and is equivalent to an income return of approximately 13⅓ per cent annually on Bankers' shares at their present market price.

Birmingham Railway, Light, Power.

M. K.—The Birmingham Railway, Light and Power company formerly earned its interest charges with a margin of 75 per cent or more, but rising costs were already affecting it severely when an increase of wages was ordered last summer on most of the traction lines of the country. It applied for a 6 cents fare, but this was defeated by the voters. Last January it was put in a receiver's hands, on application of the American Cities company, which controls it. The immediate cause of this action seems to have been $1,200,000 two year notes, maturing on April 1, which could not be met. These notes are junior to $14,300,000 of mortgage bonds. The company will have to be reorganized. How the notes will go through the crisis can not be predicted.

Republic Match.

W. B. M.—The prospectus of the Republic Match company promises net profits of over 300 per cent a year. It is offering $60,000 of preferred stock and has also $40,000 of common. The only match company that publishes complete reports is the Diamond. It is the largest and is reputed to have efficient and capable management. This company is able to make gross profits equal to about 20 per cent a year on its capital, leaving 15 per cent after deduction for depreciation, taxes, etc. The stock of the Diamond company is not watered. As the Republic company will start under the handicap of high initial costs, we see no reason to believe it can earn so high a rate as the Diamond.

Corn Belt Packing.

I. W. S., Davenport, Ia.—The Corn Belt Packing company has changed a large brewery to an abattoir and is nearly ready to begin operations. The stock represents participation in a new business venture and is not, of course, a conservative investment. The margin of profit in the packing business is narrow and small plants are at a disadvantage, as compared with large ones, because they cannot do so much with by-products.

Brief Answers.

L. M., Buffalo, N. Y.—The companies on your list are all paying dividends. Some of them have reduced the rate recently. Most of them have been reviewed. Send stamped envelope for copies, if you wish them.

V. S. M.—Union Carbide and Carbon furnishes no information about its earnings or condition. Most exchanges do not permit trading in such stocks.

Liberty Bonds Higher in Frisco than New York

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Wide discrepancies in Liberty bond quotations in the New York and San Francisco exchanges today caused considerable comment in financial circles. First 3½s were quoted 5.17 points higher. In the past the New York quotations have been higher than the Pacific coast figures because of a better market there.

Following is a comparison of the quotations:

	New York.	San Francisco
First 3½s	99.02	104.19
Second 4s	93.74	98.31
Third 4¼s	95.64	98.72
Fourth 4¼s	93.75	95.02

How Large an Estate Warrants Trust Company Service?

A large estate needs trust company facilities because of the variety and magnitude of its interests. So many kinds of expert service can be found only in a well-equipped Trust Department.

The small estate needs trust company service because losses are more seriously felt and expert individual attention is more difficult to obtain at a price which the estate can afford.

Small estates are accepted by this Company. When their assets are not too involved, they can be managed for a small annual fee. There is no reason why a $50,000 estate, for instance, should not enjoy the full protection afforded by a trust company.

PRICE OF CORN MOVES RAPIDLY; CLOSE AT GAINS

Local Element Short on Breaks and Long on Bulges.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Breaks brought supporting orders while bulges developed selling for profits yesterday. Lowest prices were made soon after the opening and while closing sales were at intermediate figures there were net gains of ¼ to ⅝c on corn, with September leading in strength. Oats gained ⅜c to ¾c, the near futures having the most strength in Chicago.

Southwestern corn markets finished with prices unchanged to 1½c higher, the latter May in St. Louis. Oats were ⅜@⅝c up in St. Louis, ½@1c in Kansas City, ⅝c in Minneapolis, and ¾c in Winnipeg, where ninety cars arrived.

Corn Market Very Nervous.

Corn prices moved rapidly within a range of 3@3⅝c. The local element got short on the breaks and long on the bulges, making for erratic movements, with the close at a fair reaction from the top. May finished at $1.56½, July at $1.49, and September at $1.48⅝.

Commission houses were good buyers of the deferred deliveries, especially the September, which showed more strength than the nearby months. Cash houses sold May, and there was also pressure on that future from interior dealers who had bought cash grain from farmers on the basis of $1.50 and had not been able to dispose of it to arrive at a satisfactory figure.

Country offerings were again large, but purchases to arrive only moderate, as local handlers were slow to take hold, as were those in outside markets. Some No. 4 yellow was bought on the basis of [illegible] May. The greater part of the offerings were held above buyers' views. Domestic shipping call light, with sales of 1,000 bu.

Bad weather may delay the movement somewhat, although the soaked condition of the fields will tend to delay farm work, and producers may make every effort to market the grain. Sample values were about unchanged, with receipts 159 cars. An increase of 64,000 bu in the visible supply was the first gain in some weeks and attracted attention.

Oats Show Fair Strength.

Oats showed more strength than corn. Wet weather is expected to delay seeding, and practically all the reports received of late indicate that the acreage will be cut down to some extent. This, with the talk of export business at New York, and a fair domestic demand made a higher average and the close showed moderate net gains, with May at 67¾c, July at 66⅛c, and September at 63⅛c.

There was a little grain sold to arrive from the country in small lots. Domestic sales were 70,000 bu, with sample values ½c higher. Receipts, ninety-four cars. A decrease of 1,395,000 bu in the visible failed to attract much attention.

Canadian Barley for Export.

alizing sales in barley futures had a ressing effect, and the close was at bottom, with net losses of 1¼c. This some effect on the cash, as did the of 200,000 bu Canadian barley for rt. Sample values were easier, with at $1.05@1.15. Maltsters were fair s, and large export orders for malt said to have been received. Re- , 142 cars. WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Government crop report for April, the first since last December, giving the condition of winter wheat, is due in Chicago at 10 o'clock today. It is expected to show the highest condition for winter wheat and rye in years. Estimates are for 897,000,000 to 930,000,000 bu, based on allowance for deterioration to the end of the season, and 797,000,000 to 825,000,000 bu on the government's method of allowing for depreciation. Harvest last year was 558,000,000 bu. Private figures on condition are 95.8 to 98.6, and close to the latter is mostly looked for. Last December it was 98.6. In April last year condition 78.6 and crop 560,000,000 bu. The ten year average condition is 82.3. Rye last December was 89 and last April 85.8, and crop 89,103,000 bu.

It is the belief of those who have watched the corn market closely for two months that the future course of values will depend largely upon that of hogs. Should the latter remain around $20 and above it will require heavy and continuous hedging pressure to depress and hold corn values down. In case of a bad break in hogs and good arrivals of corn, with a liberal selling pressure, a lower level for corn would seem reasonable.

Monday's corn market was a great disappointment to those who expected the early break to hold, as country offerings were said to be liberal and hedging sales against them necessary, as there was no demand for corn from shippers or elevator interests except for a few cars. No. 4 grade were bought to arrive at May price for white and yellow and 1c under for mixed. The east wants little corn at present, and cancellations of No. 3 yellow were reported at equal to $1.56½. St. Louis carried over 50 cars and Kansas City 75 cars unsold.

July corn has been above $1.50 and down to $1.49 seven times of late. To the minds of those who consider such fluctuations it means that any time the price gets above or below these levels today it is likely to continue to move more rapidly.

Oats are gaining friends and showed independent strength yesterday. Local shorts who have been active in selling on all bulges of late were among the best buyers. May acted tighter and responded to buying better than of late. Stocks here are under last year's and the visible of 21,487,000 bu compares with 19,037,000 bu last year. Buffalo stocks are disappearing. Contract stocks here are only 607,000 bu.

Winnipeg is bearish on oats. Their stocks are 4,000,000 bu, and the west is selling more. Operators there predict larger accumulations and receding values.

At a joint meeting of the grain and rules committee of the Chicago Board of Trade and the grain trade yesterday, it was decided to suggest to the board of directors tentative grades of oats as regular for delivery on future contracts. It was proposed that No. 2 white be the contract grade under the new federal inspection which becomes effective on June 16, with No. 1 white at ½c premium, and No. 3 white at 1½c discount. The proposed change depends on whether the Illinois state utilities commission accepts the new federal grades. If they do, and the board adopts the change, which will have to be posted for ballot, it will necessitate trading in new and old style July and September contracts.

Flour stocks on April 1 at the principal distributing points east of the Rockies, outside of Minneapolis, aggregated 392,000 brls, or 81,000 brls less than the previous month, and compared with 293,000 brls last year.

One of the reasons for interior dealers trying to sell cash corn they hold is that the germination period is at hand, and the grain will require careful handling to prevent getting out of condition.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Northern spring wheat at Chicago sold at 23½@24c over the basic figures. Offerings were small in all markets, but prices at Omaha were quoted as somewhat lower. Local receipts, 22 cars.

Shipping demand for cash corn was slow, but with futures firm prices in the sample market showed little change. There was some buying by elevator interests to make contract grades. St. Louis reported 50 cars and Kansas City 75 cars carried over at the last. St. Louis and Milwaukee prices were unchanged, Kansas City unchanged to 3c higher on white, unchanged on yellow, and unchanged to 1c lower on mixed, Peoria unchanged to 1c higher, and Omaha 1c higher to 2c lower.

Cash oats were in light supply and sold fairly, with standards ½@1c over May and No. 3 whites ¼c over to ½c under May. Sales showed ½@1c advance from Saturday. St. Louis was unchanged, Kansas City unchanged to ½c higher, Omaha ½c higher, Peoria ¼c higher, and Milwaukee 1c higher. Cash grain prices in leading markets follow:

Modern Woodmen Arrange Referendum on the Rate Increase.

BY THOMAS R. WEDDELL.

The recent increase in rates voted by the head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America cannot go into effect until it has been submitted to a referendum of the entire membership, a law to that effect having been passed by the Illinois legislature several years ago. The details of this referendum have been promulgated to the membership. Each local camp is to vote on the subject at its last meeting in May, after the clerk of the camp has read a statement of the changes. The vote shall be by roll call and a certified copy of the result to be sent to the head clerk not later than June 10. The canvassing board to pass on the returns is made up of the head consul, the head clerk and the chairman of the board of directors, the result to be reported to the executive council.

The referendum law provides that any advance in rates stands, unless a majority of the entire membership of the order votes against it. As the the large majority of the membership usually does not vote either way on such propositions, the approval is regarded as assured. The present rates and the patriotic assessment to pay war death claims will be collected until July 1, and when the new rates take effect the collection of the patriotic fund assessment will be discontinued.

WESTERN UNION MEETING.

The semi-annual meeting of the Western Union will begin on Wednesday at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia, preceded by a meeting of the governing committee today. Most of the Chicago and western managers left for Philadelphia last night.

INSURANCE LUNCHEONS.

The Chicago automobile insurance superintendents will hold their monthly luncheon today at the Grand Pacific hotel. W. J. Faymonville of the Fireman's Fund will be chairman.

The April meeting of the Surety Underwriters' association of Chicago will be held at luncheon today at the City club. There will be an open discussion on the underwriting of contract bonds.

The Chicago Board of Underwriters will hold its quarterly luncheon on Wednesday at the Fort Dearborn hotel, preliminary to the quarterly meeting of the board on Thursday. Pilot Everett Buckley of the Lafayette Escadrille will speak.

FARM LOAN INSURANCE.

The request of the Federal Farm Loan board that it be authorized to issue fire insurance on the farm property on which it made loans was disregarded by congress. The General Agencies, Inc., has been organized in Baltimore to meet the requirements of the Federal Farm Loan board as regards insurance. It will not only issue insurance on the property, but will guarantee the title to the property, which is insisted upon by the farm loan board. Several of the federal land banks have already adopted the plan.

INSURANCE NOTES.

The Associated Industries Fire of Chicago has increased its capital stock from $200,000 to $400,000, increasing its surplus at the same time, and the change has been verified by an examination by the Illinois insurance department. The company will now apply for a license in New York and proposes to materially broaden its operations.

Henry B. Overesch of Lafayette, Ind., vice president of the North American Life of Chicago, died last week after a long illness from hear trouble. Mr. Overesch was a leading agency director for the New York Life before joining the organization of the North American.

E. G. Richards, who retires this month as head of the North British and Mercantile interests in the United States, has been presented with a large hall clock from the staff, department heads, and field men, and a Tiffany lamp by the employés of the New York office.

Lieut. Thomas J. Prindiville, formerly in the navy, has retired from the Chicago agency of Johnson & Higgins, in which he was a partner, and will go into business for himself.

Food Control to Continue; Dealer's License Revoked

The food adminstration has revoked the license of P. L. & W. C. Williams of Colmar, Ill., covering their warehouse and elevator for wheat and other grains, effective April 7, 1919, until further notice, for taking unreasonable profits in buying wheat from farmers.

This was the case in which a preliminary injunction against the license revocation was granted by the United States District court at Chicago on ex parte application. Counsel for the Messrs. Williams voluntarily withdrew this suit upon being advised as to the points to be raised in defense.

Food administrtaion control, which has already, so far as possible, been abandoned, is continued in connection with flour mills, grain dealers, and elevators largely because of the obligation resulting from the guaranty to farmers of the price of wheat of this season's crop.

The continuance of such control, in connection with the guaranty of the next crop, will doubtless be necessary and is provided for by the recent act of congress for effectuating that guaranty. But the designation of the agency of control over the new crop has not yet been made by the president.

BOOTH FISHERIES FAILS TO EARN DIVIDEND RATE

Federal Price Fixing Blamed for Decrease in Profits.

Net profits of the Booth Fisheries company for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1918, were equal to $1.90 a share on common stock compared with $6.50 a share in 1917. The $2 a share dividend rate on the common was not quite earned, and the difference was taken from the surplus.

But the profits from operation for the year at $2,217,677 were, according to the annual report, larger than any previous year, except 1917, which was the best in the company's history. The decrease in profits was attributed to the attitude of the government.

Statement of President.

K. L. Ames, president of the company, said in the annual report:

"The fixing of prices by the food administration before the runs of fish or costs were known, in the early part of the 1918 salmon and sardine packing season, was an exact reversal of the policy under which our business had been conducted in the past, upon which our bank loans were made for the season—indeed, of the policy which the nature of the business requires."

Fine Tricotine Makes This Miss's Suit—$50

A Little Tailored Tie of the Tricotine adds to its charm, while the tricolette vestee—of a lovely soft French blue—brings this Suit into the very height of the mode. There are other Suits at this price. Attractive serge styles, $37.50.
